San Rafael Council Stands Pat On Parallel Parking

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Two hours of public hearing and debate last night failed to change the 3-2 lineup of the San Rafael City Council in favor of converting Fourth Street to parallel parking.

When it became evident the vote remained intact, Mayor C. Paul Bettini directed City Engineer Ely Caillouette to get started on the changeover.

Lothar Salin, owner of a print shop at Second and C streets, led off with a presentation on behalf of the Merchants Against Parallel Parking.

He presented petitions which he said carried "1,840-odd" signatures against the change from diagonal parking. The names were all collected in downtown stores, he said.

A woman in the audience, however, asked how many of the signers were children, saying she had seen "masses of youngsters" signing the petition in a doughnut shop.

Salin said a front-page advertisement in the Independent-Journal, asking votes for or against parallel parking, produced 102 against to 48 in favor.

"Roughly one in 10 added a note saying that if it is changed to parallel, they'll shop elsewhere," he said. "This is where the rub lies . . . I'm sure we're all aware that the main revenues of our city come from the sales tax."

Fourth Street should not be converted to a through traffic street, said Salin: "It's a shopping street."

He admitted parallel parking would mean faster traffic movement, but contended that is not what is needed, pointing out that several studies of the downtown have proposed that Fourth Street be made a pedestrian mall.

The only two off-street parking lots that have room for overflow are those at Fifth Avenue and C Street and at Third Street and Lootens Place, and these are too far from merchants who would lose parking spaces by the change-over, Salin contended.

He stressed that at least 89 parking spaces would be lost, and claimed there is no place to put those cars.

Irving Chapman, proprietor of Chapman's Shoes at 1236 Fourth Street, made the presentation for merchants favoring parallel parking. He presented the council with several letters favoring the change, but no petition.

Chapman insisted that "we must make it easier for people to get into San Rafael," and that "Fourth Street traffic is unbearably congested."

He said the lost curb spaces which were variously estimated at 86 and 89) would be replaced by spaces made available "in the area we are standing in or sitting in right now" when the old city hall is torn down, and on the new city hall site.

He said a chamber of commerce survey showed 60 of 61 member merchants downtown in favor of the change, and a poll of all chamber members showed about 2-to-1 in favor.

Chapman then presented Kenneth E. Hultgren, field representative for the National Safety Council, and Royal S. Neilson, assistant managing director of the California Traffic Safety Foundation, to back up his arguments.

Hultgren said there are three to four times as many traffic accidents with angle parking, and parallel parking can move

GAVIN SAYS VIET AREA NOT FOR GLOBAL WAR

Says If China Forces Conflict Right Place Would Be Manchuria

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retired Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin said today if Red China forces global war, Southeast Asia would be the wrong place for the United States to fight.

He told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee the right place would be the Manchurian area, which he termed the center of Red Chinese military-industrial strength.

"To be very objective in the military sense," Gavin said, "I would say if China brings upon herself a global war the place to fight her is not in Southeast Asia."

Gavin, testifying in the committee inquiry into the war in Viet Nam, also raised the possibility of blockading the North Viet Nam port of Haiphong.

He talked of that alternative when Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., asked his advice on U.S. bombing of Haiphong, thus far spared in American raids.

But minutes later, he told Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., a blockade would pose grave problems for the United States, not only with the Soviet Union and other Communist nations but with American allies.

'SERIOUS TROUBLE'

"I think we'd be in very serious trouble with our allies," Gavin said after Morse questioned whether even Great Britain would honor a blockade.

Gavin is former chief of Army research and planning.

As he began testifying, chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., quoted President Johnson in support of the committee's inquiry into Asian policy.

Fulbright commented at the outset of today's hearing that the nation is confronted by "some momentuous decisions in the near future" as to where escalation of the war in Viet Nam might lead.

ASIAN POLICY

Then he cited Johnson's words as one of the precedents for the committee's decision to make a public examination of Asian policy.

He did not mention the President by name, but said the then Senate leader, discussing what the U.S. role should be just before the French surrender of Indochina at Dien Phen Phu, said that "we will insist upon a clear explanation of policies in which we are asked to cooperate."

Fulbright cited a statement by Johnson, then Senate Democratic majority leader, on May 6, 1954, in support of what he called the committee's search for "enlightment."

Gavin told the committee the United States "must do the best it can with the forces we have in Viet Nam."

He said "we had better look hard at our Viet Nam commitments" which he described as largely out of bounds.

He said last week he is in favor of "staying where we are" by holding "areas where we have an air base, a seaport and troops." He said he thinks bombing of North Viet Nam "had to be resumed" but he wants the United States to "slow down, back up and see where we are."

Humphrey Due Asia Mission

COMBINED AP & UPI

HONOLULU — President Johnson in a dramatic new plan involving the war in Southeast Asia early today summoned Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey to fly back to Saigon with leaders of the South Viet Nam government.

This development came as Johnson wound up his peace-and-war conferences with Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, chief of state of South Viet Nam, and Premier Nguyen Cao Ky. The principals planned to issue a communique later today.

Johnson planned to take off for the mainland at 2 p.m. PST and fly first to Los Angeles where he will meet Humphrey. The President and the vice president will confer for about an hour and a half at Los Angeles International Airport. The President then will continue on to Washington, arriving there early tomorrow.

Moyers said Humphrey, after seeing Johnson in Los Angeles, would fly on to Honolulu tonight. The South Vietnamese leaders will remain here overnight and then the entire party will leave for the Far East tomorrow.

After Saigon, according to the White House, Humphrey will visit six other countries in Southeast Asia and the subcontinent as a continuation of the efforts begun here between Johnson, Thieu and Ky.

Agriculture secretary Orville L. Freeman and a small group of American technical experts also will fly back to Saigon with Thieu, Ky and Humphrey.

Their mission is to implement broad plans made here to facilitate the internal improvement of South Viet Nam through a variety of programs involving agriculture, education, health and economics.

U.S. Soldiers Storm Reds' Strongholds

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. paratroopers under heavy fire assaulted well-fortified Communist positions 230 miles northeast of Saigon and killed an estimated 108 Viet Cong in bitter hand-to-hand fighting, a U.S. military spokesman reported today.

The Communists were killed by the 101st Airborne Division troops in two battles yesterday along the coastal plain southwest of Tuy Hoa. The Americans sustained "moderate" to "light" casualties, the spokesman said.

PLANES LOST

Two American planes were lost today in the air war. A Navy A-4 Skyhawk was shot down on a raid over Communist North Viet Nam. The pilot parachuted on the coast about 30 miles south of Vinh but was not picked up. He was listed officially as missing but pilots said he was seen on the ground surrounded by people.

The pilot of a U.S. Air Force O1-F light observation plane escaped injury when it plunged 30 feet to earth on take-off today from the Cac Lanh air strip, 75 miles southwest of Pleiku in the central highlands.

Troops of the American 1st Air Cavalry Division and Vietnamese paratroopers meanwhile took control of the An Lao Valley 300 miles northeast of Saigon where they tried but failed to trap a major Communist force.

RED BASTION

The Allies made little contact today with the enemy in the region which had served as a district headquarters for Communist forces since the end of World War II. The valley also was the site of a major South Vietnamese defeat in 1964 when government troops tried to gain control of the longtime Communist bastion.

The Navy plane lost today was the seventh American aircraft shot down over the North in the nine days since the end of the 37-day bombing lull.

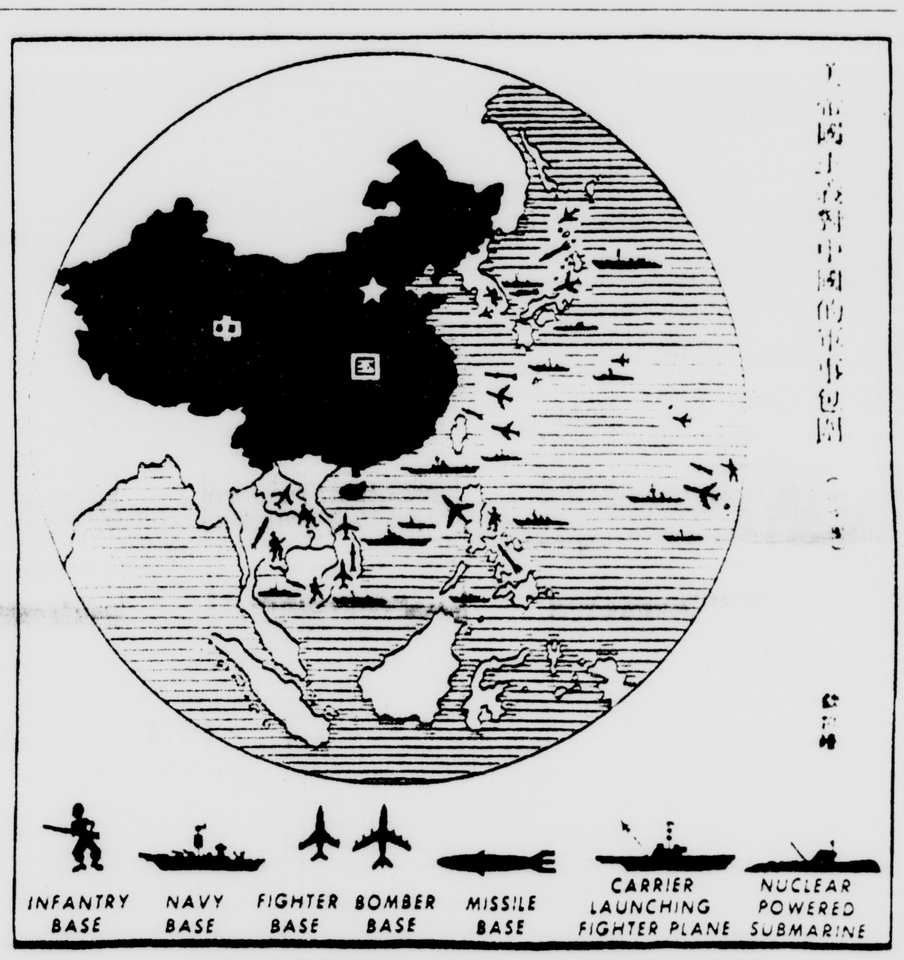
Police Find Marijuana Ring In Operation At Drake High



ASIAN REDS' COLD WAR VIEW

The Hong Kong communist newspaper Ta Kung Pao printed this map on its front page last week, with the caption at right reading "American Imperialist military bases surround China," and charged that the British are letting United States use Hong Kong as a base for Viet Nam activities, "an act of hostility against the people of China . . . and Viet Nam." Symbols at bottom, labeled in Chinese in the original publication, identify the types of locations of military might the communists claim the U. S. has poised against them. (AP Wirephoto via radio)

Sister And Brother Linked To Source

By STEPHEN COOK

San Anselmo police and the State Bureau of Narcotics have uncovered a ring of high school students who have sold and smoked marijuana on and near the Sir Francis Drake High School campus in San Anselmo.

A brother and sister, aged 17 and 16, both juniors at the high school and presumably the source of the Marin marijuana, have been cited to juvenile authorities for possession and sale of the drug.

Another 11 students, all juniors at the high school, have been implicated as users and sellers of marijuana. The statement of one 16-year-old San Anselmo girl indicates, and police acknowledge, "there could be more involved."

These facts were revealed today by San Anselmo Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani, who said a report of his department's investigation of case has been sent to county probation authorities.

Buchignani said the investigation began Jan. 24, when an agitated father called agent Vincent Chasten of the state bureau of narcotics and said his daughter, a junior at the high school, "knows of marijuana sales and possession at the school."

The girl named a 16-year-old Lagunitas student, the girl cited to juvenile authorities, as the source of the drug. The informant named three other 16-year-old girls she claimed were using the drug.

OTHER SOURCES

The police investigation, Buchignani said, led to hints of other sources of the drug, including two mysterious young men: one who waited after school on a fire trail behind Marin City, and another "who had the name of a bird or a fish" and sold his wares to students at Samuel P. Taylor Park during the summer.

Buchignani said the investigation did not disclose where the girl or her brother got their marijuana. He said their father, who said he would make a statement to the juvenile authorities, once told Francis P. Shafer, high school vice principal, that he "was worried because he and his wife had smoked the drug in front of their children."

LITTLE BOXES

Students questioned by police said the drug was sold, sometimes on campus, in little, red, white and blue matchboxes at $5 a box. "This is the correct price on the illegal market," Chief Buchignani said.

Legislature Gets Preview Of Budget

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown, calling "for new ways of meeting the challenges of the future," told the legislature today he will offer a record $4,606,838,000 budget, costing Californians $140 million in higher taxes.

He also asked lawmakers to help the residents of Los Angeles' Negro districts, scene of rioting last summer, and to relieve the property tax plight of impoverished, elderly homeowners.

For Education, Brown proposed $540 million in bond issues on the 1966 ballots. And he called for a stepped-up war on crime, with action against "efforts to impose mob rule, whether on the campus at Berkeley, in the streets of San Francisco or anywhere else in California."

Brown spelled out his fiscal plans a day before he formally submits his fiscal 1966-67 budget.

Never before has Brown given the legislature an advance preview of the budget, but he said "I . . . want to begin today with a break with the past."

Brown said there was a deficit of some $240 million in his program, but added that he had found ways to balance the books.

The governor proposed to make up part of the deficit by boosting the state income tax.

County Sets Hearing On West Court

Marin County supervisors today set a hearing for 8 p.m., April 20 at West Marin School on the proposal to close the West Marin Just Court, having cases from that area handled by the municipal courts in San Rafael.

A committee of the Marin County Grand Jury recommended that move and said it could save $6,965 a year.

County Administrator Alan Bruce recommended that a hearing be held and Supervisor Thomas T. Storer insisted on it, saying there was "a great deal of concern among the people in the area."

If the court should be closed, Judge David R. Baty, who sits on the justice court bench, would be eligible for appointment to the next vacancy on the municipal court within two years after closure.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr said that this political facet should not be considered by the board. At issue, he said is the saving to the county balanced against loss in convenience to West Marin residents.

Judge Baty was not present at today's brief discussion.

Belvedere Citizens Gripe About Slides

By ROBERT M. COPPOCK

Parts of Belvedere last month slid down hill, while others filled with silt; some homes had floors covered with rainwater, and others with backed-up sewage.

The Belvedere City Council last night was asked by about 20 annoyed citizens to do something about the problems, and quickly. City Atty. William H. MacKay commented that probably in all cases the property owners involved were at least partly responsible.

Most irritated were residents of homes on San Rafael Avenue into which sewage backed up on Jan. 5, during the year's worst storm.

City Mgr. William L. Cavalli said electric power to three lift stations on the sewer line failed during the night. Auxiliary gasoline engines started automatically, he said, but they ran out of gas after about two and one-half hours.

No one knew they were on, he explained, adding that state law limits the amount of fuel that can be stored aboveground for such motors.

In the future, Cavalli said, lights will be placed outside the lift stations which will go on when auxiliary power is used.

But stoppages still may occur in the line in low areas, he warned, and homeowners should all install valves to stop sewage from backing up.

The council rejected several claims for sewage damage including one for $2,000, referring them to the city's insurance carrier.

Cavalli added that there is a pipeline which could carry sewer overflow directly to Richardson Bay, but the line was disconnected some years ago, to stop pollution of the bay.

He agreed with residents it would be better, in an emergen-

Senators Won't Nip Filibuster; Pro-Labor Leader Keeps Trying

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate refused today to invoke cloture and shut off the filibuster against the bill to end the right of states to outlaw the union shop.

The result was a defeat for President Johnson, who urged Congress both last year and in the new session to pass the bill repealing Section 14-B of the Taft-Hartley law. The section allows states to forbid labor contracts requiring all workers to join a union or at least pay dues.

It also was a blow to the AFL-CIO, which had placed the repealer at the top of its legislative agenda and had believed it stood an excellent chance to get the bill passed in the 89th Congress.

An hour before the vote, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana told newsmen the measure will be dead for this session if he fails twice this week in his attempt to choke off the filibuster against it.

Mansfield reiterated that in case of failure today, he would file a second cloture petition to force a second attempt Thursday. And he made it clear he did not expect to win today.

Bruce Contradicts Storer Claim On Douglas Hiring

County Supervisor Thomas T. Storer said today that the man hired as county director of economic development was once told by the county personel department that he was not eligible for the job.

Storer told fellow supervisors that a letter was sent to John Martin Douglas to this effect last Nov. 5.

County Administrator Alan Bruce denied this later in the morning, saying that Douglas was told in the letter that he was in a "marginal" group of candidates who would be called for interview only if others ahead of him dropped out.

Martin Nelson, personnel analyst, told the Independent-Journal that Douglas was included among 13 interviewed after three candidates ahead of him dropped out.

Douglas was sixth on the list recommended by an oral review board. He was hired by supervisors Dec. 21. The grand jury is still investigating the hiring proceedure.

Storer brought up the Douglas matter after Bruce asked further explanation on Storer's comments on the Radio KTIM

Publishing Heir Held In Death

NEW YORK (AP)—Robert Friede, an heir to the Annenberg publishing empire, has been charged with homicide in the death of a young woman whose body was found in the trunk of his car.

Friede

Police discovered the body yesterday after Friede was arrested on a narcotics charge.

The girl, Celeste Crenshaw, 19, died two weeks ago of "acute and chronic intravenous narcotism," according to a medical examiner. Police said Friede had given her the injection in his East Side apartment.

Friede, 25, also was charged with failing to report a death, illegal transportation of a body, and possession of narcotics. A musician, Dudley Watson, 37, was arrested later and charged with illegal transportation of a body and possession of narcotics.

Celeste

Miss Crenshaw, a pretty strawberry blonde, was the product of a well-to-do but broken home. She and Friede had been arrested on a narcotics charge in August 1964 and had been placed on probation, police said.

Flu Still Rages

INDIO (AP)—A week-long influenza epidemic is still causing high absenteeism in five Coachella Valley school districts, and at least one district has ordered its schools closed. More than 2,200 students and teachers—stricken by the virus—were out of classes yesterday.

Narcotics Death

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The coroner's office has ruled that a man found dead and dressed in women's clothes died from an overdose of narcotics. The victim, David Thomas Evans, who police said often impersonated women, was found lying face down Thursday in the carport of a North Beach apartment building.

International Gun Running Plot Charged

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI) — U.S. custom agents arrested five men, three of them prominent El Paso businessmen last night in what federal officers said was the breakup of a national ring that arranged shipments of submarines, tanks and guns to Latin American revolutionaries.

Tom Rogers, 25; Eugene Michals, 35; Peyton Dean, 45; Larry Grubb, 22, and Johnny Acuna, 22, were arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Fred Morton on charges of conspiracy to violate the federal Neutrality Act and the Export Control Act.

FREE ON BOND

Rogers, son of a former FBI agent and city alderman, was released on $1,000 bond. Michals, owner of a plush downtown restaurant was freed on $2,500 bond. Grubb and Acuna were released on $1,000 each. Dean was held without bond.

Customs agents said the five were part of a nation-wide gunrunning ring under investigation since July.

WEAPONS LIST

They said the contraband weapons the group took orders for included submarines, tanks, airplanes, guided missiles and late model automatic weapons and thousands of rounds of ammunition.

Federal officials had no comment as to what Latin American nations were involved but sources said Panama was mentioned.

Boy Fears Gang, Takes Own Life

DALY CITY (UPI) — A 14-year-old boy who refused to "go along" with the gang on various hoodlum activities apparently killed himself yesterday rather than face their taunts.

Gerald Kurkjian, found dead in the basement of his home with a .22-caliber rifle bullet in his brain, had been under intense pressure to go along with boys in his class at Benjamin Franklin Junior High School, Joseph McPheters, deputy San Mateo county coroner, said.

Gerald called his mother at work yesterday and told her he wasn't going to school. When Mrs. Henry Kurkjian returned home to drive him to school, she discovered her son dying from the self-inflicted bullet.

U.S. Picks Up Photos Of Moon

WASHINGTON AP) — An American space official disclosed today the United States has picked up photographs transmitted from the moon by the Soviet spacecraft Luna 9.

The disclosure by Dr. Edward C. Welsh, executive director of the National Aeronautics and Space Council, was the first official word that American technicians as well as those of Great Britain and the Soviet Union have been obtaining the first radio data ever transmitted from the moon.

Welsh told a reporter no decision had been reached on whether the U.S. pictures will be made public. He said he did not know whether they showed the same landscapes as those published by the British and Russians. The photos picked up by the U.S. receiving equipment are being analyzed and evaluated, he added.

"I think it is fairly important for the public to know," Welsh said, "that we don't have to rely completely on Russian statements or British pronouncements in order to find out something about what is going on."

Welsh's disclosure indicates that U.S. space monitoring capabilities are more extensive than generally believed. And the fact that American officials kept the information quiet despite the Soviet and British releases also sheds new light on the secrecy guarding those capabilities.

Sir Bernard Lovell, director of Britain's Jodrell Bank Observatory, told a news conference that he belives something went wrong with Luna 9's power supply.

"We feel confident that it landed on the moon to continue working for a long time," he said. "One is now forced to the conclusion that something is not quite right. It is only possible to speculate, and the most reasonable explanation is that there was some failure of the power supply."

Lovell said the next step in the Soviet program to land a man on the moon might come with the next full moon March 7. He predicted the Soviets would try soft landings on other parts of the moon, possibly send up a tracked vehicle to move over the planet's surface, attempt to bring a rocket back to earth after a landing and might put a man into orbit around the moon without landing, this year or next.

Autopsy Seeks New Clues In Child's Mystery Death

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Wisps of mystery still clung today to the bizarre disappearance and death of a 3-year-old boy whose body was found floating in the family swimming pool three weeks after he vanished.

But pending the results of a detailed autopsy, the death of chubby, blue-eyed, David Dixon has been classified as "probable accidental death."

The child became the object of a 30-square-mile search when he disappeared Jan. 17 from in front of his home in suburban Sylmar.

The search, one of the largest in Southern California history, yielded no clues and police regarded the case as a probably kidnaping.

But early last Sunday the father, William Dixon, 34, found the body floating face down in a pool that had been searched repeatedly.

The body was clad in the same clothes David wore the day he vanished, there were no severe bruises, no signs of mutilation, officials said.

Police at first theorized that the boy's body may have been placed in the pool.

But yesterday county coroner Theodore Curphey said the child probably was alive when he entered the pool, and although there was no water in the lungs, may have died of so-called spasmodic drowning, in which the victim swallows his tongue and suffocates.

Author Facing Second Warrant

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Novelist Ken Kesey did not appear for arraignment on a narcotics charge yesterday and a Superior Court judge issued a warrant for his arrest.

Kesey's garishly painted bus, the Intrepid Traveler, was impounded by Humboldt County here it was found abandoned about 40 miles north of Eureka. The bus had been there more than five days, the California Highay Patrol said.

$36 Million Trading Stamps Lawsuit Filed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Operators of 22 independent gasoline stations in the San Francisco East Bay area have filed suit against Blue Chip Stamp Co. charging Sherman Antitrust Act violations and asking $36 million treble damages.

The operators of stations in Richmond, San Pablo, El Cerrito and El Sobrante contend in the suit filed yesterday that the company charges them $8.20 per pad of 5,000 stamps but sells stamps to stations owned by major gasoline companies at $7.50 a pad.

Stamps are passed on to customers at the rate of one for each 10 cents worth of gasoline purchased, exclusive of taxes.

The independent operators said giving company-owned stations a lower rate on purchase of stamps lessened competition in sale of gasoline and violated Sherman act regulations.

The independents' suit charged that the stamp company, with headquarters in Los Angeles, and 100 John Does named as coconspirators entered into unlawful combination in 1955 in restraint of trade.

Convict Says Powers Admitted Killing Uncle

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A convict with a long prison record testified today that Melvin Lane Powers confessed to him in a Houston jail that he killed his multimillionaire uncle, Jacques Mossler.

"He said he stabbed him," declared the witness, Billy Frank Mulvey.

Mulvey said the incident occurred after Powers' arrest in 1962 when the two men were lodged in the Harris County jail in Houston, where Mulvey was serving a five-year sentence for which he still is detained.

The state of Florida has promised to prove that Mrs. Candace Mossler and her nephew as illicit lovers designed the murder of her husband, Mossler. Now the prosecution is promising to make good its pledge.

"He asked about someone to make a hit . . . bump someone off . . . it was worth $10,000," said one witness about Powers. A second added, "Mr. Mossler knew about him and Mrs. Mossler."

First on the witness stand yesterday was Freddie Duhart, 40. He said he was working at a Houston service station when he first met Powers about four weeks before the Mossler slaying.

"He asked about someone to make a hit . . . bump someone off . . ." continued Duhart, who admitted two unspecified convictions. "I was offered $3,500 to make a hit."

With his testimony on the record, the state then called Edward Diehl an ex-convict.

Diehl is a carnival worker who found himself in the early summer of 1962 serving with his wife as caretaker of Mossler's Galveston, Tex., ranch. The witness said he met Powers.

"He asked at the time what I thought of him and Mrs. Mossler coming down there and all. He asked me not to tell Mr. Mossler. He asked if I knew anybody I could get to kill Mr. Mossler or if I would do it myself. He said Mr. Mossler knew about him and Mrs. Mossler. . .

McCarthy Again Minority Leader

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Republican state senators caucused in the state Capitol yesterday afternoon and re-elected Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, as Senate minority leader.

"The vote was unanimous," said the Marin senator. He has held the post of Senate minority leader for six years.

McCarthy was also appointed to the Senate committee on finance by the rules committee.

When you've set your sights on a home or a piece of income property, you don't want the purchase delayed by slow title service. Even more important, you want an accurate title insurance policy that assures you the fullest protection possible. For a title examination that omits or overlooks even one key fact relating to your property title may jeopardize your investment, should anyone make a claim against your ownership rights.

The best way to be sure of both speed and accuracy is to specify TI. Fast, accurate title service takes experience, expert personnel, complete property records. No other title company can match our 72 years experience. Or our staff of title specialists—the largest, best-trained in the industry. Or our complete up-to-date land records, available in 41 California counties.

Buying property is one of the biggest steps most of us ever take. Why not play it safe? Just specify TI—the number one brand of title insurance—and be sure of your ground.

LAWMAKERS COY ABOUT HERO ROLE

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—For a brief moment yesterday, mail clerks in the state capitol wondered whether the Bat Man had invaded the Assembly chambers.

A letter addressed to "Assemblyman Battman" arrived in the mail from Long Beach, and it wound up on the desk of Assemblyman William T. Bagley of San Rafael.

Bagley arose on the Assembly floor to announce he was not the Bat Man, and gravely turned the letter over to Assembly Robert E. Badham, R-Newport Beach, to the amusement of legislators and spectators alike.

Committees Questioned By Trustee

Kinks in the Marin County Board of Education's committee system of operation were aired by board members last night.

Mrs. Adele J. Alpers said she was concerned that members of the audience wouldn't know what is going on because the "board moves so rapidly without discussion" at meetings.

Board President James A. Carroll said that anyone can ask a question and the board "will stop at that item."

Under the system, "routine matters" are referred to committes which discuss them and then make recommendations to the board. Mrs. Alpers contended people in the audience would like to know the reasons behind board decisions.

"I wonder about putting on a show for the audience," Carroll said. "If they come out with a question, we'll answer it."

He pointed out that committee meetings save time at board meetings.

Board Member Lee C. Richardson Jr. asked if committee sessions could be held the same day as board meetings. Richardson, who lives in Inverness, said he finds it difficult to get to committee meetings.

Carroll suggested considering having committee meetings only when there is some matter pending that calls for board action.

Incidentally, state law requires that all such committee meetings be public meetings, with proper advance notice.

Hollis Defends Library Move Despite Jury

Transfer of the supplemental text library of the county schools office from the Civic Center to the former McGraw-Hill Book Co. building in Corte Madera was defended yesterday by County Supt. of Schools Virgil S. Hollis.

The Corte Madera site "appears logical and practical" as a central location for the teachers it serves, Hollis said in response to the report of the 1965 Marin County Grand Jury.

TB Cases Reach High For Five Years At 53

A five-year high of 53 cases of tuberculosis was reported in Marin County last year, the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Assn. reported today.

Nine county residents were hit with the disease last month, compared with five cases during January of 1965. One of the recent victims was a 3-year-old girl, according to Mrs. Helane Anderson of the association.

County School Teachers Win Salary Boosts

The Marin County Board of Education last night unanimously approved pay increases for teachers and administrators in the county schools system amounting roughly to five per cent.

Specifically, the board approved a two per cent cost-of-living raise for teachers and administrators, plus a $250-a-year hike for teachers and a $500-a-year hike for administrators.

The raises are part of the $352,911 county school service fund budget for the next school year, financed mainly by the state.

COST COMPUTED

George H. Renworth, of the salaries committee of the county schools office chapter of the California Teachers Assn., estimated the increases will cost $31,500. They will average about $450 a year for 50 teachers and about $800 a year for 11 administrators, Renworth estimated.

The salary boost was recommended by the board's administrative services committee by 2-1 vote, with committee chairman Patrick W. Pollock dissenting.

Pollock, who later voted along with other board members for the raises, said he felt that "the present salary schedule with a modest increase" would keep the county schools office competitive.

Board member Adele J. Alpers warned that with the raise, the board "will demand that teachers produce commensurate with the salary."

OTHER RAISES

County Supt. Virgil S. Hollis said five per cent pay raises for other employees such as bus drivers, secretaries and custodians has been included in the county schools budget, which has to be approved by the county supervisors.

There was no breakdown presented on individual salaries, but calculations show that an assistant superintendent, now at $16,500 would be boosted to $17,380. Hollis receives $17,517, a salary which is set by the state.

The Marin County Board of Education also:

1. Approved the procedure for screening and recommending of a candidate for the job of coordinator of vocational education.

2. Approved hiring Jerry Martinson as detention teacher at Loma Alta School at $6,616 a year; Ward Williams as teacher at the Family Rehabilitation Center at $9,627; Bruce Wilson as a part-time custodian at Loma Alta School and 27 Meadow Drive at $2.19 an hour, and Barbara Bailard, as intermediate stenographer at $362 a month.

3. Accepted the resignation of Jacqueline Booth, teacher at the child care center in Sausalito, who is leaving to teach in the Dixie School District.

4. Granted Clarence Purdy, a teacher at Bayview School, a leave of absence for the 1966-67 school year, to continue studies toward a doctorate.

5. Accepted as gifts, $275 from the Welcome Wagon toward purchase of a one-way mirror for the mentally retarded kindergarten class at 71 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia; a Polaroid camera for the Gallinas annex from Herbert Schmidt, 441 Manzanita Avenue, Corte Madera; $50 toward the one-way mirror at the mentally retarded kindergarten from Beta Sigma Phi sorority; and $20 for purchase of dolls for special education classes at Marindale School from the George Lawrence family, 36 Millstone Terrace, Marinwood.

San Rafael Councilmen Set Parallel Parking

up to 50 per cent more traffic.

Neilson said, "If you don't do it now, you'll do it sooner or later or your businesses will dry up." Later, when some speakers in the audience urged delay, he put in: "One thing is sure: the longer you wait to do it, the fewer off-street parking spaces you're going to need."

City Clerk W. C. Cornwell read a letter signed by seven members of the Jacob and Albert family opposing parallel parking. There were several speakers on both sides, some growing quite warm in their protestations.

William Costello, manager of Macy's, said he had been in favor of parallel parking until he conducted a check at the main Fourth Street door of the store and found 46 per cent of those entering had parked their cars on Fourth Street. "How could I be for giving up 39 spaces on Fourth Street in the face of that?" he asked.

But George T. Lawrence, manager of Lachman Brothers, declared: "We've got to get people into town" and Fourth Street congestion keeps them away. "Ten years ago wouldn't have been too soon," he asserted.

Albert F. Schmitz, manager of Moore's Stationery at 1147 Fourth Street, suggested the city go farther — take all parking off Fourth Street and provide shuttle bus service from parking lots at both ends. "I am sure the greater portion of the cost could be carried by the merchants," he said.

Councilman Fred E. Jensen said that had been suggested before, but when the council proposed that the merchants subsidize the buses, "they thew up their hands and said no."

"Maybe now is the time," said Schmitz.

Sgt. Raymond Bleasdale, head of the police traffic detail, reported that last year there were 60 accidents on Fifth Avenue (parallel parking) between Lincoln Avenue and E Street, 72 on the same stretch of Third Street (parallel) and 188 on Fourth Street. Mid-block accidents — those not at intersections, numbered 18 on Fifth, 9 on Third, and 86 on Fourth, he said.

Councilman Harry A. Barbier reported the fire chief and majority of the fire commission "are in favor of parallel parking 100 per cent."

Barbier then said he had heard nothing to make him change his vote for conversion to parallel.

Councilman Louis H. Baar declared: "As long as I've been on the council, I've heard nothing but 'we need parking.' . . . Now we're losing 86 to 89 spaces." He said he was still oppposed.

Councilman Charles W. Aby, sticking to his vote in favor of the change, said he has long been convinced that traffic congestion is bad for business. "In city after city that has taken angle parking off their main street, business has improved in every instance," said Dr. Aby.

Councilman Jensen, quipping that "in 11 years, this is the first time I've agreed with the doc," said he also saw no reason to change his vote for parallel parking. And Mayor C. Paul Bettini said he found no reason to change his vote against it:

So parking will soon be parallel all along Fourth Street.

Moore Hopes To Keep Belvedere Council Job

Moore, 46, of 32 Golden Gate Avenue, has been a resident of Belvedere for 19 years. He is an investment broker in San Francisco and a graduate of Kansas State University.

Moore said he is running for re-election because "contrary to popular belief it is interesting to work on the city budget and to attempt to provide adequate city services. I'd say the biggest dividend for me has been getting to know and work with the residents of Belvedere."

Moore is treasurer of the San Francisco Yacht Club and belongs to St. Stephen's Episcopal Church. He was a Navy commander during World War II and served with Navy amphibious forces in the Korean war.

Moore and his wife, Margaret, have three daughters, Kathleen, 18; Nancy, 15, and Robin, 12.

Incumbent Sally G. Mathews had already taken out papers. Her term and that of Moore expire in April.

Sleepy Driver Suffers Injury

Ronald J. Ray, 27, of 112 Francisco Boulevard, San Anselmo, was treated last night for minor injury at Marin General Hospital following an auto accident on H Street near Fifth Avenue in San Rafael.

Ray told police he fell asleep at the wheel just after turning south on H Street from Fifth Avenue. His car mounted the curb and struck a tree. Rey was cited for not having a driver's license in his possession.

"Marin Sounding Board" last Thursday in which both he and Storer took part.

Bruce asked specific instances and whether other board members shared the view.

The discussion resulted in a strong endorsement for Bruce and the administrative form of government, but Storer argued that no plan is perfect and the present set up was not beyond review and study.

Supervisor Ernest Kettenhofen grew more and more upset by the discussion. After backing the administration he wondered if "we are not stirring up fire for the sake of having fire, not for getting things accomplished."

Before Bruce questioned Storer, the board agreed to set up a session with the personnel commission to study commission policy and means of getting more experts as members.

This was at Bruce's suggestion. He said it was agreed at the "Sounding Board" discussion Thursday that the commission should be "reconstituted and reshaped."

"You mean you want voluntary resignations?" Kettenhofen asked.

"Not necessarily," Bruce said.

girl, who admitted she has been smoking "pot" on an average of once a week since last spring, said the Lagunitas girl "One afternoon last spring, wrote me a note in class asking if I would like to try it (marijuana)."

The same girl said she sometimes smoked, along with the brother and sister and one other girl, during the school lunch hour near the high school. Other times, she said, she smoked while walking the streets near her home. She said the brother and sister gave her the drug without charge.

Another junior girl from San Anselmo said she once bought a match box of marijuana from the brother and had to wait several weeks for its delivery. She said when she finally received it, she did not want the drug and sold it to a junior boy in the high school little theater.

She said that same night, she observed the sister and another girl "high" on the drug in the little theater.

The girl who said she was offered her first taste of the drug through a note passed in class made the lengthiest statement to police. She said she has heard there are five different groups at the high school smoking marijuana. Their sources, she said, are in Mill Valley, Sausalito and San Francisco.

She said she has seen one of her female classmates under the influence of the "dream drug" LSD. She also reported "lots of talk about various pills being taken among the students."

Of the 13 students police have connected to the smoking and sales of the drug, only four are boys. Seven are from San Anselmo, one from San Rafael, one from Fairfax and four from Lagunitas.

Chief Buchignani said his department will leave the juvenile authorities the decision of what to do with these or other students implicated. Probation, school and police authorities were scheduled to discuss the case after school today.

Buchignani and vice principal Shafer both said they had received tips, in the form of rumors and anonymous letters, about the marijuana at school since early December.

"We had not started any investigation, because we never really had anything, any names to go on," Shafer said today. "We informed the police when we heard something and they informed us."

Both Shafer and principal Harold Allison said they still lacked a great deal of information on the case and were not sure it directly involved the school.

"We cannot take action on something which occurred off campus," Allison said.

He and other school officials will consult with the parents of all students implicated in the case.

"This is serious and we are concerned for the welfare of the students . . . discipline will depend on individual circumstances," said Allison.

Neither Allison nor Shafer expressed surprise at the report that students were involved with drugs. Both laid the blame on "Juvenile curiosity" and recent stories about marijuana. Allison said:

"I have read stories which say marijuana is better than liquor, that it is less harmful. Some have even claimed it is beneficial. I would say it was almost inevitable, with the attention given to this drug and the apparent ease with which it can be purchased, that some students were going to try it. It hurts me to admit this, but I am not shocked. I never would have said 'it can't happen here'."

Shafer expressed sorrow that such a case involved Drake High students, but added: "I think it's good that there were enough students and adults concerned that this came to light and could be brought to a halt. I just hope it leads to the ones who furnish the drug."

Reed Trustees Due Auditors' Report

The Reed School District Board, meeting at 8 p.m. today at Del Mar School, will review the district's audit, prepared by the San Rafael auditing firm of Dalton, Graupner and Barber.

The board will also review the district's discipline policy and receive a briefing in the grouping practices at Del Mar School.

Convict Says He Told Lie To Aid Buddy

Robert Gene Glover, charged with assaulting a fellow inmate at San Quentin Prison, took the witness stand himself yesterday afternoon and today to testify that he lied in his earlier trial.

He told a Marin Superior Court jury he lied when he said he carried a brass rod into the prison and stabbed Henry L. Wolfenden, 28. He did it, he said, so he would not involve another inmate, Thomas T. Gregory, 26.

Gregory testified last Thursday that he, not Glover, committed the assault on Sept. 18, 1963. The statute of limitations for charging Gregory with the attack expired Friday.

Glover, convicted by the first jury but granted a retrial by an appellate court, said he gave his fabricated version to protect Gregory and because he gained possession of the weapon following the attack.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Leonard Shaw, prosecuting, asked Glover yesterday if he once belatedly confessed to having assaulted San Quentin inmate Abel A. Nevarez after a friend, Robert B. Dorado, 27, had already been convicted of the attack.

Glover's attorney, W. O. Weissich, objected to the question. He accused Shaw of misconduct because the presiding judge, Joseph G. Wilson, had ordered such information not be revealed to the jury.

Shaw maintained that form of question had not been discussed. Judge Wilson sustained Weissich's objection.

Closing arguments in the case were expected to start this afternoon.

SLIDE

cy. to have sewage in Richardson Bay than in homes.

Turning to homeowners from Cove Road, whose houses flooded with rainwater the same day, the council agreed to start discussions with Tiburon on flood control for the entire area.

Cavalli said he felt the Belvedere Lagoon Property Owners Assn. should help pay the bill for the study.

Allan Steinau, speaking for the association, disagreed. He insisted that any plan should divert water that now flows into the lagoon to somewhere else, either Richardson Bay or Belvedere Cove.

Councilman John R. Moore said flood control for the area had been discussed officially at least 11 times that he could remember, and always projects had been dropped before construction started. Whenever any one group of people is opposed, the plan dies, he said.

"Then you better come up with a plan that pleases us," retorted Steinau. He added that the main objection was not the water entering the lagoon, but the silt it carries.

Since the last storms, he said, an island has formed in the lagoon, and the city should remove it. MacKay said silting has always been taken care of by the association members and was definitely not a city responsibility.

Finally, the council considered the slide, which occurred near 260 Beach Road. Cavalli reported a large section of rock wall had given way, and the slide had blocked the street last week.

He said he was almost certain the wall was on city right of way, but MacKay said the wall still might have belonged to the adjacent property owner, who would then have to pay for its replacement, and soon.

Cavalli said the wall was probably built so long ago it would be difficult to determine who was responsible. He said if the city replaced the wall, it would not be with the original rocks, but with a more modern retaining structure.

Panels Smashed

All the glass, including instrument panels, was broken during the weekend on five construction vehicles belonging to Linscott and Co. while parked in the construction area of the Gallinas extension in San Rafael's Terra Linda area, police reported. Damage was estimated at about $500.

OBITUARIES

Natalie Greene Dies At 80

Natalie Coffin Greene, a member of a family long associated with Ross, died in a local hospital yesterday after a short illness. She was 80.

Mrs. Greene, wife of A. Crawford Greene, long-time San Francisco attorney, was born at the Jonathan Kittle residence in Ross, now the site of the Marin Art and Garden Center.

Her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. James Coffin, resided in the house directly behind Mrs. Greene's home at 1 Shady Lane, Ross, where she and her husband lived since 1917.

Her mother gave the property on which now stands St. John's Church, of which Mrs. Greene was a life-long member. She and her husband were married there in August, 1912. They celebrated their golden wedding with a garden party in 1962.

She was the mother of Mrs. John G. Lewis, a member of Ross Town Council.

Mrs. Greene was former president of the Protestant Episcopal Old Ladies Home in San Francisco, president of the Visiting Nurses Assn., and a member of the board of the San Francisco Young Women's Christian Assn.

She is survived by her husband; two sons, James Coffin Greene of Pasadena and A. Crawford Greene Jr. of Ross; three daughters, Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Oliver C. Stine and Mrs. Sheila G. Peck, all of Ross; 17 grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be at St. John's Church, tomorrow at 1:30 p.m., directed by Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

The family prefers that tributes be memorial gifts to the Protestant Episcopal Old Ladies Home or to St. John's Church.

Contractors Decry County Staff Trims

A proposal to cut the Marin County building inspection staff by one man ran into protests from contractors and the trades before county supervisors today.

Public Works Director Donald R. Frost told the board that there were 7,700 permits issued by the department two years ago, but the volume will drop to 5,500 this fiscal year. He recommended cutting the department from 12 to 11, deleting one of three electrical inspectors. John Martens, with the county two years, would probably be the man dropped.

Richard Wood of the Building Trades Council told the board the slack time of inspectors could well be used on cracking down on builders who operate without permits. He also suggested that building inspectors could be used as fire safety inspectors. He said inspection fees during the past 10 years have given a $88,280 profit to the county.

Sam de Lisle of the Plumbing Contractors Assn. and Ray White of the heating and ventilating contractors also protested the move.

Supervisors agreed to take the proposal up again in three weeks.

Gates To Vanish At Parking Lot

The one-way gates that let automobiles in and out of the San Rafael municipal all-day parking lot at Second Street and Lincoln Avenue are to be eliminated.

At the close of last night's city council meeting, near midnight, the council voted unanimously for a motion by Councilman Charles W. Aby that tickets be used at the lot and the gates removed.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen said today the same quarter-in-the-slot mechanism will remain, but the parker will get a ticket from the machine, which he is to place in the front seat of the car, visible through the windows. The gates, Andersen said, have been a recurring source of complaint.

The quarter-ticket procedure is already being used on the all-day lot at Second and Lindaro streets.

Storer Denies Attack On Club

County Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress, said today he did not tell a Democratic caucus at Ukiah that the Sierra Club's proposal for a redwoods national park was ridiculous, as reported in the Independent-Journal yesterday.

Storer said he termed a 200,000-acre park, as advocated by some, "unreasonable or ridiculous," but made no attack on the Sierra Club proposal. He said also he did not suggest that his support of a redwoods national park would be conditioned on approval by the lumber industry.

Storer said most of his talk to the caucus, which made no endorsement, was on Viet Nam. He advocated holding "what we now have" in Viet Nam pending full discussion by the United Nations, but not extending the war.

Low, High

NEW YORK (UPI) — The lowest temperature reported this morning to the U.S. Weather Bureau, excluding Alaska and Hawaii was at 15 below zero at Lebanon, N.H. The highest temperature reported yesterday was 82 at Presidio, Tex.

MRS. JONES

Elizabeth A. Jones, a former resident of San Rafael for many years, died yesterday after a long illness in an Oakland convalescent home. She was 79.

She was the widow of Richard C. Jones, San Francisco lumber broker, who died in 1951.

The former Elizabeth Anderson, she was born in Sweden, coming to the United States as a young girl with her parents and settling in Seattle, where she received her training as a registered nurse.

She met her future husband at a San Francisco hospital where he was one of her patients. They moved to San Rafael in the early '30s and made their home at 9 Clyde Avenue, where she continued to live until two years ago.

Mrs. Jones is survived by two sisters, Ada C. and Naomi Anderson of San Francisco and a brother, John Anderson of Los Angeles.

Friends may call at Harry M. Williams Mortuary, Third and E streets, San Rafael after 3 p.m. tomorrow. Funeral will be at the mortuary at 3:30 p.m. Thursday.

DAVID S., MARGARET LEE

Requiem Mass for David S. Lee Jr., 24, and his wife, Margaret Taylor Lee, 21, of 383 Bayview Avenue, San Rafael, will be offered at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at St. Raphael's Church, San Anselmo.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee died as the result of an automobile crash Saturday on Highway 50 at Strawberry, El Dorado County. Mrs. Lee was killed instantly; her husband died a few hours later in a Reno hospital. Their 6-month-old daughter, Denise, was orphaned.

Burial will be in Golden National Cemetery, San Bruno. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

G. O. SCHMIDT

G. Otto M. Schmidt of 205 Laurel Place, San Rafael, former manager of the Westwood Country Club in St. Louis, died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness. He was 81 years old.

A natime of Budapest, Hungary, he came to the United States in 1908 and to California nine years ago, working in San Francisco as maitre d'hotel at the Whitcomb Hotel and later at the San Francisco Stock Exchange Club.

Schmidt is survived by his wife, Anne R. Schmidt of San Rafael; two daughters, Mrs. Walter J. Kubon of San Rafael and Mrs. Isabelle Preece of Colma, and five grandchildren.

He was a member of the Delta Lodge 425, Free and Accepted Masons, of Tulsa, Okla.; St. Louis Consistory Scottish Rite Bodies of St. Louis, Mo.; Club Managers Assn. of America, and International Geneva Assn.

Funeral will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael, conducted by Marin Lodge 191 of the Masons. Burial will be at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

J. SOLDAVINI

Joseph Soldavini, 84, of 5 Morningside Drive, San Anselmo, died in a local hospital yesterday after a brief illness.

A native of Italy, Soldavini came to this country 65 years ago, settling immediately in Marin County. He was a landscape gardener for 50 years, retiring about 12 years ago.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Virginia Soldavini of San Anselmo; two sons, Charles P. and Joseph Soldavini Jr., of San Anselmo; four daughters, Mrs. Alice Saporetti of San Anselmo, Mrs. Mary Neecke and Mrs. Elizabeth Merla of San Rafael, and Mrs. Edith Squelatti of El Sobrante, Contra Costa County; 13 grandchildren, and 11 great-grandchildren.

Private funeral was held today at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

W. J. RUECK

William J. Rueck, 75, former groundskeeper for the Indian Valley Golf Club, died yesterday at his home at 9 Boulevard Court, Novato, apparently of a heart attack.

He had been supervisor of the Big Oaks Country Club in Chicago, his native city, for more than 20 years prior to coming to California in 1955. He had worked in Monterey and was groundskeeper for the Petaluma Country Club until he joined the Indian Valley Golf Club six years ago. He retired five years ago because of failing health.

Rueck was a veteran of army service in World War I.

He was a member of the Golf Course Superintendent's Assn.

He is survived by his wife, Martha; two step-daughters, Mrs. Edward Rosswalter of Oakland and Mrs. Harry Daughtery of Phoenix, Ariz.; a step-son, John L. Klonder of Chicago, and a sister, Miss Mary Rueck of Chicago.

Funeral service will be at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Redwood Chapel Funeral Home in Novato. Burial will be in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno. Memorial contributions to the heart fund would be appreciated by the family.

G. W. BROOKS

George W. Brooks, mayor of Ross from 1920 to 1924, died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness. He was 92.

A native of San Francisco, he was part owner of the Rainier Brewing Co. there, but retired from business in 1918, with the passage of the prohibition amendment to the United States Constitution. He moved to Ross in 1913 and lived there ever since, at 47 Lagunitas Road.

He was a member of the Marin Art and Garden Center, the Marin County Humane Society, the Marin Conservation League, and the San Francisco Commercial Club.

Brookis is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Joseph W. Crawford of Ross; a sister, Mrs. Elfrieda Hole of Santa Barbara; four grandchildren, and one great-grandchild.

Funeral will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at St. John's Episcopal Church, Ross. Burial will be private. Friends may call today at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael, until 9 p.m.

State Rules Block Street Work Bids

Corte Madera Town Council last night rejected all bids on an interim project the channelize Tamalpais Drive at Madera Boulevard and Lakeside Drive after Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher told them their plan for improvement of Tamalpais Drive did not meet state standards for gasoline tax funds.

Instead, councilmen approved in principle a plan to widen the drive to meet those standards, and instructed the city staff to immediately design an interim project which would provide two westbound lanes between Madera Boulevard and Sausalito Street.

The eventual improvement would eliminate a free-standing curb on the north side of Tamalpais Drive. This would allow two lanes of traffic each way with a 14-foot median strip from Madera Boulevard to Eastman Avenue. There would also be a parking lane on each side.

From Eastman Avenue to Pixley Drive, the road width would be the same, minus the median strip. From Pixley to the beginning of the Village Square shopping area, the street would be posted "No Parking." In the shopping area, diagonal parking would be changed to parallel.

The plan, proposed by Public Works Director Arthur N. Morrison, calls for moving back some curbs and eliminating one building, on the north side of the curve between Willow Avenue and Serra Street.

Councilmen commented that the project would be expensive and could only be accomplished over a period of years. They then instructed the staff to design this "emergency phase" of the project:

Construct an island which forces a right turn in the northernmost lane of Tamalpais Drive at Madera Boulevard. Stripe and outline the 14-foot median strips with concrete bars. Remove the freestanding curb and stripe two lanes on Tamalpais Drive between Madera and Sausalito Street.

City Engineer Phillip B. Lygren said the design of this phase will be ready for council approval at the first meeting in March.

The low bid on the channelization project which the council rejected was $5,572 by Ghilotti Brothers, $1,000 more than the council had budgeted.

The council also agreed to call for bids Feb. 18 at 3 p.m. on constructing a multi-purpose slab in the town park, turfing the area around the slab and installing an automatic sprinkling system.

The council had budgeted only $4,550 for the project, which Usher estimated will cost $7,000.

Usher said the gap between the two figures was primarily the result of an error in budgeting. The project was listed as one to be done by town forces. Because it was placed in this category, he said, half the money allocated was placed in the category of town forces salaries, where it was absorbed by an unexpected work load.

The Corte Madera Town Council also:

1. Postponed introduction of a uniform traffic ordinance until members could read it thoroughly.

2. Introduced an ordinance limiting the number of public dances held in the recreation center to two a month.

Alto Sanitary Board Against Merger Idea

Alto Sanitary District directors discussed proposals made by City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer of Mill Valley for combining functions of the four sanitary districts which use the Mill Valley treatment plant and decided they prefer the status quo.

The board agreed to support a proposed southern Marin sanitary district in cooperation with the County of Marin, however, reported Carl O. Heynen Jr., director. "Our district is unable to expand in any direction," said Heynen, "and we feel the status quo is good."

He added that there might be minor adjustments made in a proposed new contract with Mill Valley.

The board took issue with the figure quoted by Balmer Jan. 14 at which time the manager said while Mill Valley's sewer tax rate is 16 and one-half cents, Alto's is 45 cents.

"Our operating tax is 18 and one-half cents," said Heynen. The district also has an 18 and one-half cent tax for capital expenditures such as improvements to the Mill Valley plant and an 8 cent reserve for emergencies. These three figures total 45 cents.

Three Inmates Are Acquitted In Assault Case

A Marin Superior Court jury yesterday acquitted all three San Quentin inmate defendants in an assault trial which started last Dec. 27.

James and John Schreckengost, brothers, and Russell Dillard were charged with beating and stabbing a fellow-prisoner. The case went to the jury shortly after 10 a.m. yesterday. They deliberated seven hours.

The trio was accused of attacking Myford G. Duncan, 24, with a screwdriver in the prison paint shop on Jan. 21, 1965. He was then dumped in a paint-rag barrel, according to testimony. He survived.

Defense attorneys were Jerome Durham, public defender; Howard K. Morehouse and Arthur M. Lebow. Michael Dufficy, deputy district attorney, prosecuted. Trial was before Judge Harold J. Haley.

Civic League Delay

Kentfield Civic League directors have decided to delay a public meeting they had scheduled for tonight in order to gather more information on such issues as flood control, the proposed widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and the interim zoning at Kentfield Corners, according to League President Robert H. Busse. No future date for the meeting has been set, he said.

Town Council Rules Out 'Cheap' P.O.

The Corte Madera Town Council, which fought and ultimately rejected sites proposed for a new post office three years, last night indicated its attitude has not mellowed with time.

At urging of Mayor Edward W. Colthurst, councilmen instructed Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher to direct a letter to the Post Office Department stating the town will not allow any "cheaply constructed building for post office use."

"Tell them we have spent $300,000 here on our buildings and expect any new building to be in the style which would be in line with our remodeled town hall, the public safety building, and the Marin Municipal Water District Building," the mayor said.

The Post Office Department is accepting bids until March 1 on lease of a privately constructed building somewhere in the Corte Madera Shopping Center or along Tamal Vista Boulevard between the shopping center and the Northwestern Pacific Railroad tracks.

High Church Spire On Planners' Agenda

Permission will be sought from the Mill Valley Planning Commission at its 8 p.m. meeting today to allow the spire of the proposed Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church rise to 140 feet in the air, whereas the height limit for structures in the city is 30 feet.

Also being asked are variances for the church at Oakdale and West Blithedale avenues to reduce front yard setback from 15 to six feet and reduce parking spaces from 180 required to 50.

Coward Better

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (UPI) — Playwright Noel Coward is in "good" condition but will spend another week in a Lausanne clinic, his personal secretary said yesterday. Doctors are treating Coward for a tropical intestinal ailment.

Mill Valley Spokesman Critical Of Park Idea

Vice Mayor Albert E. White of Mill Valley last night proposed that the division of funds from a proposed $4,000,000 county-wide park bond issue give a higher ratio to cities than to unincorporated areas.

White suggested incorporated areas receive 65 to 70 per cent of the money. County supervisor Peter H. Behr, who initiated the proposal and is asking for opinions of all city councils in the county, has recommended a 50-50 ratio between the cities and unincorporated territory.

White said he took umbrage at Behr's idea that the county has responsibility for taking care of urban density needs. When an area grows to urban density, it should either be annexed to a city or incorporated, White declared.

Golf course rates were increased 25 cents per day for adults at the municipal golf course, but rates for young fry —up to the age of 18—are to remain the same.

Urging the fees remain the same for youths, Councilman William M. Secor said, "I would rather have them on the golf course playing golf than at the will-known hangouts cutting it up."

Paul Taylor, speaking for the Mill Valley Men's Golf Club, recommended police checks be made between 3:30 and 5 p.m. in the vicinity of holes three and four where small children play and are in danger of being hit by golf balls.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

1. Denied a request by Richard Dunn to rezone a parcel of land at East Blithedale and Kipling avenues from single-family to apartment zoning to permit 11 dwelling units.

2. Agreed that Councilman Joseph E. Sheeks and Mayor Wornum act as a committee to meet with a Town of Corte Madera council committee to discuss a proposal that Madera Park subdivision, within Mill Valley's watershed, be annexed to the City of Mill Valley.

3. Adopted a resolution authorizing a lease, in place of the present use permit, of state lands in the city's small craft harbor. City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer said Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, was very effective in making the lease possible.

4. Authorized extension of a lease with Greyhound Bus Lines for the city-owned bus depot for two years at $175 per month.

5. Agreed to pay 25 per cent of the cost, $1,950, with Pacific Gas and Electric Co. paying $7,800 and Marin Capital Co. $5,850, for underground utilities in Scott Highlands Units 2 and 2-A.

6. Authorized call for bids to be opened Mar. 7 on improvements for Lomita Drive, estimated to cost $55,000. Once Lomita is improved, traffic can be diverted to improve a parallel portion of East Blithedale Avenue. Property owners have contributed $45,000 toward the Lomita improvement.

7. Agreed to petition the county board of supervisors to establish an assessment district to dredge the Richardson Bay Channel.

8. Greeted Robert D. Huber, former mayor of Mill Valley, visiting in the audience.

Soldier Surrenders To San Rafael Police

Martin Price McDowell, 18, of 355 Canal Street, San Rafael, gave himself up to San Rafael police Saturday for being absent without leave from the Army at Fort Ord.

He was booked into Marin County jail to await a military escort. He told police he was absent for over 30 days for "personal and family-type reasons."

1,000 Volunteers Sought For Campaign

Mrs. Patricia Dunne of San Rafael, chairman of the 1966 Heart Sunday Drive in Marin, today made an appeal for 1,000 more volunteers to canvass their neighborhoods for the drive.

"We hope to have 3,000 or more people helping us on Heart Sunday," she said, advising people interested to call the Marin County Heart Assn. at 1108 Irwin Street, San Rafael.

Larkspur Plan Group To Hear Two Rezonings

Larkspur planning commissioners, meeting at 8 p.m. today in City Hall, will hold public hearings on two rezoning requests.

The first, requested by George Bertram, would rezone three lots on Holcomb Avenue at Cane Street from single family residential to multiple family residential.

The second, requested by Niels Schultz Jr., would rezone all land above South Eliseo Drive at Bon Air Road to administrative and professional and all waterfront property below the road to multiple family residential. The two zones at present appear on both sides of the road. The changes were suggested in the city's recently adopted general plan.

The commission will also elect a chairman and vice chairman to serve during the current year.

Pharmacists To Meet

Hospital pharmacists from the Bay Area will attend a meeting of the Northern California Society of Hospital Pharmacists at Ross General Hospital today at 8:15 p.m. Pharmacy administration and drug control will be among items on the agenda.

Today is Tuesday, Feb. 8, the 39th day of 1966 with 326 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter; the morning star is Venus; the evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

French novelist Jules Verne, of "Around The World in 80 Days" fame, was born on this day in 1828.

On this day in history:

In 1587, Mary, Queen of Scots, was beheaded after being charged with plotting the murder of Britain's Queen Elizabeth I.

In 1940, every 10th person in two villages near Warsaw was shot in reprisal for the deaths of two German soldiers.

In 1963, Premier Kassin of Iraq was overthrown in a military coup and executed the next day.

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Try To Puzzle Out Whether Partner Jinxed, Or Goofed

When your partner fails to make his contract you naturally smile at him and say something like "Hard luck, old boy."

But what do you think in the back of your mind?

Are you sure whether it was hard luck or bad play?

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	4 ♠	All Pass

Opening lead — ♡ J

Try yourself on today's hand. You are the dummy, watching your partner go down at four spades.

East wins the queen and ace of hearts; then his king of hearts is ruffed.

FINESSE LOSES

Down one.

You make your little remark about hard luck, and your partner agrees: "Both finesses lost. Some days it doesn't pay to get out of bed."

FACIAL EXPRESSION

While South is dealing the next hand you should be able to make up your mind.

Is South right to look sad, or should he look ashamed?

South should be unable to look you in the eye, for he should have made his contract.

By the time he loses the diamond finesse he has seen East produce the three top hearts and the king of diamonds.

West must cover with the queen (otherwise declarer lets the jack ride), and dummy wins with the king.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold:

♠ 7 6 4
♥ A K Q
♦ K 8 5 3
♣ 10 8 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two diamonds. The hand is far too strong for a raise to two spades, but not good enough for a jump to three spades.

Little League Bats .500 In Novato

The Novato Little League last night received Novato Unified School District permission to install a baseball diamond on the Ranch School playgrounds.

The agreement can be for only one year at a time and the little league must alter its present plans for the ball diamond, the district board ruled.

The City of Novato may eventually purchase the site the ball diamond is to be on, as well as adjacent land for a city park, Councilman William Jack Adams told the board.

Eugene de Brecht, assistant superintendent in charge of buildings, said the State of California has agreed the district can enter into an annual contract with a six-month cancellation clause.

Daniel H. Barber, board presiwent, objected to some of the plans for the Little League park.

"We have first and second graders using the playgrounds. I do not like the idea of sunken dugouts or bleachers that are so high they could fall from them," Barber told David Moore, president of Little League.

"We'll just have to change our plans to pass the state," Moore said.

Novato Board Approves Idea Of Junior High

Richard Banwell, the architect, showed colored slides of his drawing for the buildings.

The plans call for four buildings to form a quadrangle around a group of trees on Warner Creek. Three buildings will project over the stream.

"We plan on extensive use of carpets for deadening sound and have air conditioning in each building," Banwell told the board. The level areas on each side of the creek will be the athletic playing fields.

Adjacent to the gymnasium building will be a wide covered walkway with benches to be used for the eating area. Food vending machines will be used to dispense the food to the students.

Banwell set September, 1967 for opening of the school, the third three-year junior high school in the district.

The Novato Unified School District Board also:

1. Authorized purchase of 10 acres in Marin Oaks off Ignacio Boulevard for $90,000 for an elementary school site.
2. Awarded a $22,354.80 contract to Gillig Buses of Hayward for a 79-passenger bus. This was the lower of two bids.
3. Approved a contract with the Marin County superintendent of schools for a vocational rehabilitaiton program.
4. Authorized purchase of $20,927 in books for school libraries. The high school, Hill Junior High School and Pleasant Valley School will get the larger shares.
5. Approved application for $48,328 for planning money for the 18-classroom San Marin and $36,813 for the 12-classroom Westridge elemenetary schools.
6. Hired Le Roy Snyder as second building inspector for the district.
7. Approved increasing the square footage on the Lu Sutton second addition to 9,566.
8. Approved three change orders on the high school additions costing the district an additional $1,370.
9. Appointed Donald Carr and Irving Wasserman as teachers under the educationally handicapped program; accepted resignations from Patricia E. Slayton as elementary music teacher and Robert Garmstron as teaching principal at Hamilton School, and hired Marion Boyer Lanford as English teacher at the high school and Rosemarie Edwards for elementary music teacher.

Police Still Baffled Over Murder Weapon

Exactly what type of weapon was used by the killer of Marjorie S. Rudolph in her Terra Linda home provided a big question mark today as investigation into the brutal murder entered its second week.

San Rafael Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa said: "We haven't managed to turn up one clue to tell us what he used. All we know from the pathologist is that it was a heavy but sharp instrument."

Whatever the murderer used, it raised havoc on the body of Mrs. Rudolph, found submerged in a bathtub of water at 19 Carroll Court a week ago today.

Her killer had broken 17 of her ribs, fractured her head in four places, broken her breastbone and inflicted other injuries on her body, an autopsy disclosed.

Investigations so far indicate the killer did not use a candle holder or other heavy ornament found at the home. More likely, said Chiesa today, the killer carried the murder weapon away with him.

Inspector Thomas Cheetham and the police fingerprint expert, David Vargo, continued today a thorough search of the house for leads in the week-long mystery.

Tam High Board Shifts Adult Education Aide

The Tamalpais High School District board last night took the job of administering adult education and summer school programs out of the hands of James A. Fitzgerald, gave it to the district's three school principals, and gave Fitzgerald a new job.

Fitzgerald will now be director of personnel. His new post will involve, among other things, co-ordination of the programs he formerly ran. The principals, however, will handle most of the details.

The board also authorized the position of special assistant to the superintendent to work on education problems. It was stressed that candidates for the post should have a strong background in sociology.

The job will require working with community agencies, families and the district's staff on problems in the human relations field such as those of minority groups.

Two plans for developing the 32-acre Marin City High School site for recreation were rejected after presentation by architects Gromme and Priestley.

One, costing $295,000, would have completely developed the site as a recreation park with football field, volley ball and basket ball courts and landscaping. The second, to cost $57,000, would have included some landscaping and the football field.

The board decided both plans would cost too much. Board members told Supt. Chester G. Carlisle to send copies of the plans to the Marin County Redevelopment Agency and Housing Authority.

The Tamalpais High School District board also:

1. Approved hiring of up to four teachers aides at each school, with pay to be determined by the duties involved.
2. Authorized lower teacher-student ratios for special classes, such as those for the mentally handicapped.
3. Asked Carlisle to write a letter to the state board of education strongly opposing a two-way split of the Tamalpais High School District as approved by the county committee on school district organization last Wednesday.
4. Postponed action on a report from the salary committee of the District Teachers Assn. urging higher pay scales for teachers coming into the district with more than five years teaching experience.
5. Approved a pilot course at Sir Francis Drake High School whereby three gifted students will be allowed to work on special projects of their own choice under a teacher's guidance.
6. Approved a policy allowing as many regular courses as possible to be offered in summer school, and agreed that department heads and principals would determine what courses will be offered.

Tiburon Grants Addition Permit

The Tiburon Planning Commission last night granted developer Fred G. Zelinsky a permit to construct an 80-foot addition to a building he owns at 35 Main Street.

Lee De Berry was granted a split of a 22,810-square-foot lot at 644 Tiburon Boulevard.

Action on a permit for Red Hill Land Co. to construct three apartment buildings, totaling 51 units, on Red Hill overlooking downtown Tiburon was postponed, as was a proposed ordinance to regulate parking of trailers within the city.

Planners Given New City Terms

Richard L. Parino and Jerome C. Hauke were reappointed to the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission last night by the Mill Valley City Council.

Appointed to the same commission was Theodore F. Kirby, contractor of 31 Janes Street. He succeeds Raymond J. Bell who, retiring after eight years service, was presented a certificate by the council.

Niels Enevoldsen, architect of 55 Oakdale Avenue, was named to the architectural advisory committee, succeeding Donald J. Batchelder who has been seated on the city planning commission.

NEGRO DISCOVERS DOORS ARE CLOSED

New Yorker Finds It's Hard To Rent In Marin, Realtor Lends Helping Hand

By ROBERT STREBEIGH

A young Negro seeking a place to live yesterday came up against the prejudice few will admit exists in Marin County.

Alphonse Norris, 29, said he called eight places in San Rafael listing studio apartments at rents he could afford to pay. "But when I told them I was a Negro, none of them wanted me," Norris said.

According to Norris, one woman said, "We have two people here from Kentucky, and you know how they feel about Negroes."

Another, he said, had a sudden recovery of memory on being told he was a Negro. "I forgot," she said, "that someone called just before you did and said they were bringing a deposit on the apartment."

Others were more frank and said, "We just don't want to rent to Negroes."

Norris said he came here in April, 1964, from New York "hoping for a better job, better housing." He had been a film splicer in New York and since his arrival has been a live-in houseboy in San Rafael.

"Marin County," he said, "is worse than New York when it comes to housing."

According to Mrs. Ursula Gaeley of the Marin Committee for Fair Play, Norris's plight is typical of that of Negroes seeking a place to live in the county. She said she had been able to find places for only about 35 Negroes "out of maybe as many as 200 in the past three years."

"Marin County," Mrs. Gaeley said, "has a reputation for discrimination."

Realty broker Maggi Walker of Larkspur, who has undertaken to help Norris find a studio apartment, called his experience unusual in that he had already located several suitable places in the $60 to $75-a-month range he could afford.

Aside from prejudice, which she said "certainly exists," the chief obstacle to Negroes settling in Marin County is financial, said Mrs. Walker. "With one-bedroom apartments in the county going for $115 up, two bedrooms starting at $125, and three-bedroom, two-bath homes from $175 up, few Negroes seem able to afford them."

Moreover, places at those starting prices "are very, very hard to find," she said.

Mrs. Walker, who cooperates with the Fair Play committee and with the Housing Opportunities Program Exchange in San Francisco, said fewer Negroes seem to be seeking housing in Marin since Proposition 14 killed the state Fair Housing Act in 1964.

That proposition permits property owners to refuse to sell or rent to Negroes.

In locating housing for three or four Negro families in the past year, Mrs. Walker said she had encountered overt refusal to rent to Negroes in only one instance. "Most people," she said, "find another reason for turning down a Negro's offer."

Mrs. Walker said she believed passage of Proposition 14 had hurt rather than helped the real estate industry, which overwhelmingly supported its passage.

"Before that," she said, "we were required by law to show available housing to Negroes and property owners understood that. Now the owners feel free to express resentment when we show their property to minority group members."

This puts the real estate agent on the horns of a dilemma, she said, since the National Assn. of Real Estate Boards "has laid down very firm rules against discrimination in showing housing." The Marin County board's position is equally firm, she said.

Mrs. Walker took an optimistic view, however, of what she called "the long haul." Since the start of the year, she said, "I've received four listings specifically non-restrictive. That's an improvement. There are enough fair-minded people in the county to keep one in business."

In the meantime, she said, she will see what she can do to find a studio apartment for Norris, who will start work Monday as an orderly at a San Rafael convalescent home.

Nature Group To See Photographer's Slides

Photographer Werner Seitz will show color slides of crystals, flowers, and birds to the Marin Nature Group at 8 p.m. Friday in Room 40 at the College of Marin.

The group will meet at 10 a.m. at the College of Marin for a trip to 10-mile Beach.

Television May Record Board Session

Television cameras may whir at tonight's meeting of the San Rafael Board of Education, set for 7:30 p.m. in the schools administration building at Third and E Streets.

KQED, Bay Area educational television station, has been granted permission by Supt. Bert C. Corona to televise the meeting.

Interest of the TV station was attracted because of scheduling of final action on removal of "On the Road" by Jack Kerouac from the assigned reading list of a special senior English class at Terra Linda High School.

At the Jan. 25 meeting, the board received a report from Mitchell L. Voydat, assistant superintendent for high schools, that the book had been found unsuitable and would be taken off the list for next year. However, Superintendent Corona asked that the matter be put on tonight's agenda to invite comment from the audience.

Attack and defense of the book brought out large crowds to board meeting in December and January.

Another book will be presented for preliminary review by the board but is not expected to excite as much attention. It is a technical textbook called "General Shop" by Chris H. Groneman and John L. Feirer.

The board will also be presented with a report on the financing of special programs as a preliminary step to the formulation of the 1966-67 district budget.

Members will be recommended they accept the resignations through changes of residence of Mrs. Marbeth Powell, a teacher of the third grade at Short School, and Mrs. Carol Whitelaw, physical education teacher at Terra Linda High School. Both resignations take effect June 30.

The board will also be asked to approve the appointment of Alice Hutchinson and Mrs. Patricia Sweeney as primary grade teachers, effective Jan. 27.

Anderson To Seek City Planning Aide

San Rafael City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen disclosed last night that he will leave Feb. 22 for Los Angeles and San Diego to interview five candidates for the job of San Rafael city planner.

His disclosure nipped in the bud a protest by Franking Battat of 62 Lochinvar Road, president of the Loch Lomond Home Owners Assn., against appointment of Acting Planner Charles J. Linthicum to the post—for which he had been endorsed by 5-2 vote of the city planning commission.

Battat arose at the San Rafael City Council meeting to start reading a protest which he said was "on behalf of seven associations." He was halted midway in the first page of the six-page document by Mayor C. Paul Bettini, who said such a lengthy statement should have been put on the agenda. The mayor said it could be put on the agenda for the Feb. 21 meeting.

Andersen then announced his projected trip to interview candidates.

Batat asked a council commitment that there would be no appointment before the Feb. 21 meeting.

Councilman Louis H. Baar told Battat: "Ever since we didn't appoint you to the planning commission, you've been a candidate . . . I think you're out of order."

"You heard what Mr. Andersen said," said Mayor Bettini. "There will be no appointment until after his trip."

Linthicum, a planning technician, has been acting planner since George H. Rodgers resigned last August.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

1. Awarded L. H. Leonardi Electric Co. of San Rafael a contract for traffic signals at Greenfield Avenue, Fourth Street and Miracle Mile at $3,975—just $4 under the second low bid of $3,979 by Steing and Mitchell of San Francisco. R. Flatland and Co. of San Francisco bid $5,667.
2. Authorized Councilman Charles W. Aby to leave the country. He plans a trip to Mexico, leaving Saturday.
3. Continued for two weeks public hearing on abatement of an old house at 1610 Third Street which Chief Building Inspector Jack Coates said is falling down and is a public nuisance.
4. Continued to Feb. 21 discussion of expanding the underground utilities program.
5. Ordered that architect Roger F. Hooper be directed to redesign the Glenwood firehouse to bring it within the budgeted funds. Bids for the job came in some $10,000 over the amount expected. Councilmen were dissatisfied with Hooper's proposal to cut the cost by using cheaper materials and a smaller furnace.
6. Directed City Manager Anderson to furnish County Administrator Alan Bruce with a proposal to rent a parking lot across from the San Rafael Recreation Center at Second and Brooks streets for use of seniors, with the county to pick up the $100 monthly rent. Andersen said the city is putting "four times as much" as the county into the joint city-county program for seniors.
7. Approved the final map of Terra Linda Unit 24.
8. Approved replacement of street lights on Mission Avenue from Court to H streets with new mercury vapor lights. City Engineer Ely Caillouette said it would add $21.90 per month to the city's electricity bill.
9. Authorized Caillouette to file with the state an outline of gasoline tax engineering projects to get $7,000 in state funds for them.
10. Authorized Caillouette to prepare a call for bids for a left turn storage lane on D Street at Meyer Road.
11. Adopted an amendment to the building code to permit alterations in buildings that were erected in Fire Zone 2 but have since been rezoned Fire Jone 1, without making the entire building conform to the stricter requirements of the latter zone.
12. Adopted an ordinance outlawing firing of B-B guns and slingshots along with other weapons within the city limits.
13. Authorized City Manager Andersen to advertise for sale a substandard city-owned lot on Ross Street.
13. Authorized hiring of Denny M. Phillips as maintenance man in the tree department at $538 per month, and Patricia G. Harker as clerk-typist in the police department at $344.
15. Granted Jesse Stewart, building inspector, a 30-day leave without pay.

Mrs. John Machado Plans To Run For Novato Council

Mrs. John Machado of 1424 Dawes Street, Novato, yesterday took out nomination papers for the Novato City Council for the April 12 election.

She becomes the fifth person to take out nomination papers. Others, are Harley McAskill, Wayne Hathaway, Robert Johnson, and Joseph Bonomolo.

Mrs. Machado has been active in civic affairs, working for the incorporation of Novato. She served on the original parks and recreation commission. She is on the 14th District Parent-Teacher Assn. Council and a member of the Novato Toastmistress Club.

A native of Oakland, she grew up in Marin County and the Sacramento Valley. She graduated from Orland High School and worked as a telephone operator for Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. prior to her marriage 20 years ago. She and her husband, John, have two children, Paul, 7, and Laura, 6.

"I think that a woman should be on the council to present a woman's viewpoint on the issues," she said. Lucile Cannon, who has been on the council for the past four years, is not running for re-election.

Santoro Address

Joseph Santoro, 23, alias Joseph Schembra, on bail on a felony assault charge does not live at 513 Humboldt Avenue, Sausalito, as reported Friday in the Independent-Journal. Santoro's address is not known. A preliminary hearing on the charge is set for 1:30 p.m. Thursday in Marin Municipal Court.

A Motor Yacht Cruise Off Spanish Coast Is In Store

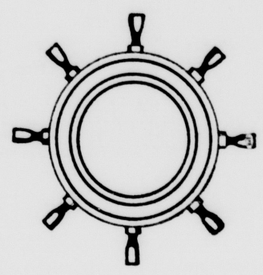
By MOLLY MARIN

A cruise in the Balearic Islands off Spain is in prospect for Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brash of Belvedere, who have accepted the invitation of former Belvedere residents, Mr. and Mrs. Knud Prip, to join them aboard their 72-foot motor yacht, the Golden West. The Prips sold their home in Belvedere in April and had the spacious yacht built in Ireland. After the September launching, Grace and Knud Prip took the boat to the Mediterranean and are living aboard. The Brashes leave for Europe Feb. 20. They will fly to Munich, then tour by car, taking in such high spots as Innsbruck, Venice and Barcelona, where they will meet the Prips and enjoy a leisurely voyage in Spanish waters for three weeks, then fly to Paris and on home.

LIVING IN SAN RAFAEL are Mr. and Mrs. Michael Heys, who were married here in October. Mrs. Heys, the former Polly Oberholzer, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Oberholzer of Fairfax and San Francisco and the sister of Richard Oberholzer of Lucas Valley. The couple moved to London, England, shortly after their marriage, but returned to Marin last month when Michael was transferred to the San Francisco branch of Lybrand Ross Brothers and Montgomery, where he is an accountant.

IT WAS A going-away celebration at Peacock Gap for the John Jakobis and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hawkins when a dinner was given at the home of Milton M. Cerf. The Hawkinses have left to live in Columbus, Ga., and the Jakobis are now in Sacramento. Attending the dinner party were Messrs. and Mesdames James Gaddy, Mack Johnson, David Brady, Reginald Jones, Russell Shatz, William Walsh, Frank Dill, Steven Waymire and the Cerfs.

THE THOMAS SKORNIAS of Ross are chairmen for the dinner Friday honoring the newly elected president of Grinnell College, Dr. Glenn Leggett, at the San Francisco Hilton. Some 30 alumni of the Iowa college will attend from Marin.



A GROUP OF his Marin friends surprised Gerald Ornstein of Hillsborough with a birthday party and dinner on Saturday. The group gathered at the home of the Richard Harrises in Sleepy Hollow for cocktails and then went on to West End Villa in San Rafael for the dinner. Guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Allan Steinau of Belvedere, Howard Cohn of Loch Lomond, Edward Schulman of San Rafael, and the Ornsteins. Attending from San Francisco were the Jacques Rooses, Julian Rhines and Stanley Wieners, and from Alameda the Peter Sosnicks.

PATRICIA CHARLTON

Post Deb Will Marry In August

Mr. and Mrs. Victors Rabuske Furst of Ross are announcing the engagement of her daughter, Patricia Charlton, to Thomas Frederick Dunlap of Norman, Okla.

The bride-elect, who is the sister of Victoria Louise Furst of Ross, was graduated from the Katharine Branson School and the University of California where she was a member of Alpha Phi sorority. She made her debut at the Marin Debutante Ball in 1962. Mr. and Mrs. Vern Winslow Burbank of San Francisco are her grandparents.

The prospective bridegroom, son of Errett Dunlap Jr. of Ardmore, Okla., and the late Mrs. Dunlap, was graduated from the Kent School and the University of California where he was affiliated with Alpha Delta Phi. He is working on a master's degree at the University of Oklahoma. Errett Dunlap III of Greenwich, Conn., is his brother. With his marriage he will relinquish membership in The Bachelors in San Francisco.

The wedding will be held in August at St. John's Church in Ross.

Leibert-McGurrin Vows Are Exchanged

In an 11:30 a.m. ceremony yesterday in the private chapel of Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken in San Francisco, Michael W. Leibert of Belvedere claimed Alexa (Flicka) McGurrin as his bride.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Howard McGurrin of San Francisco and the late Mr. McGurrin.

Flicka was given in marriage by her godfather, Gerald Stratford of San Francisco.

Peggy Knickerbocker of San Francisco served the bride as maid of honor and John Grant Leibert III of San Rafael was best man for his brother.

A luncheon at the home of the bride's mother on Vallejo Street followed the ceremony.

The bride was graduated from the Foxcroft School in Virginia and attended the University of California. She was presented at the 1963 Cotillion and at a ball given by her parents at the St. Francis Hotel. Mrs. Arthur Lewis of Mill Valley is her sister.

Michael is the son of Mrs. William Atchley of Inverness and Grant Leibert of Belvedere. He is also the brother of David Leibert of Belvedere and Mimi LaPlace and Bill and Mark Atchley. Mrs. John Leibert Sr. of San Francisco is his grandmother. The bridegroom was graduated from Whitman College and is a graduate student in drama at the University of California. Michael has been granted a fellowship in Greece and the couple departed yesterday afternoon for Europe.

Rummage Sale

The women of St. Sylvester's Church in San Rafael will sponsor a rummage sale on March 1 and 2 from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., at Sweeney's British Motor Showroom, Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael.

Mrs. Lou Politano is chairman, assisted by Mrs. Robert Parnow and Mrs. Nicholas Dollwett. Proceeds will be used to equip the parish hall.

MODERN MATH 2

Learning The 'Set Concept'

By Prof. W. F. Lloyd
University of Tampa

I can think of no facet in Modern Mathematics better suited to lead off this series than the set concept. It is so fundamental to human thinking that mankind probably developed it before developing the number concept. Certainly the young child thinks in sets before he begins to think in numbers.

A set is simply a group or collection of things that belong together.

Primitive man recognized that food, warmth, a dry place to live, and some women were pleasant. These constituted a set of good things. Hunger, cold, dampness, and some women made up a set of bad things.

Now picture yourself at a beach watching a bathing beauty contest. You find the beach crowded with beautiful girls. Some are entered in the contest, some are not, but each is an element of the set of girls on the beach.

At a signal from the judges, the contestants line up for the judging and the other girls recline on the sand. Now I can sneak in a definition. The contestants form a subset of the set of girls on the beach. The reclining beauties form another subset of the original set.

A subset is simply a set whose elements are also elements of a larger set called the universal set.

All the girls form the universal set and the other sets are drawn from these. For example, a set of blondes, one of redheads, and another of beauties in bikinis.

There are two speciallly defined subsets. Since all the girls were beautiful, if you were to form a subset of beautiful girls from the universal set you would have to include all of the girls, making two sets, composed of the same number of identical elements. Thus we define every set as a subset of itself.

If you were to form a subset of girls wearing knee length bathing suits, you would not have a single girl to put in this set. Such a set, with no elements, is defined as an empty set or the null set. Every set has a null set as a subset.

THE OPERATIONS with sets are not the familiar arithmetic operations of addition, multiplication, and division. Set operations have new names and new definitions. When an arithmetic operation was performed on two numbers the answer is a set.

For instance, suppose we name the set of blondes as set B and the set of contestants as set C. (Capital letters are commonly used as names for sets.)

The Union of these two sets will be a third set consisting of all the girls that are elements of at least one of the two given sets. Thus the union of set B and C written B U C is the set consisting of all of the contestants plus the blondes that are not contestants.

The Intersection of two sets is a third set whose elements are C written B n C is the set consisting solely of those contestants that are blonde.

The intersection of two sets cannot have a greater number of elements than the smaller set.

The Complement of a set is another set consisting of those elements of the Universal set that are not elements of the given set.

Thus the complement of set B, written B' (mathematicians have not come to agreement on this symbol as yet) is the set of all the girls on the beach that are not blonde. C is the set consisting of all of the girls that are not entered in the contest. Thus B n C would be the set of blondes that are not contestants.

The child in the primary grades, is introduced to sets with pictures of familiar objects such of birds, dogs, and bunnies.

THE FIRST OPERATION taken up is one-to-one matching. In this operation the child draws a line from a picture in one set to a picture in another set.

This introduces the idea of equivalent sets. Non-equivalent sets and the concept of order, is next introduced by having sets with a different number of pictures in each so that there will be at least one picture left over when the matching has been completed. Such sets are not equivalent and the set containing the left-over picture is called the larger set, the set that has been used up is the smaller set.

The number concept is then introduced through sets by advancing the suggestion that sets can be matched one-to-one have the same number.

Note that the word, number, is introduced as a funtcion of the quantity of elements. The word numeral is immediately introduced as the name for equivalent sets. The name for the set whose elements can be matched one-to-one with the fingers on one hand is five and the numeral for this name is 5.

The distinction between the word numeral and the word number is made from the very begining. Zero is introduced as the number for a set having no elements (the null set).

Addition and subtraction are introduced by joining and separating sets. Plenty of examples and illustrations are given to fix the number combinations in the child's memory.

AS THE NUMBER concept combinations are learned, sets give way to numerals and arithmetic begins to look like arithmetic. Sets are not abandoned; they appear throughout the work in all six elementary grades, where they are of use in introducing new concepts.

The operations of union and intersection, when formally introduced in the fifth grade, are immediately put to use in finding the common multiples and common divisors of numbers. These operations are further enlarged upon in the junior high texts.

As the child advances in school he encounters a more and more sophisticated treatment of the basic concept of sets and the operations on sets. I do not wish to convey the impression that sets are the only thing studied in modern mathematics. They are simply a basic concept that is woven through the entire subject and used only when there is some reason for their use.

A great deal of textbook space is devoted to drills and exercises that drive the basic ideas firmly into the child's memory. In fact, the modern mathematics texts devote more attention to drill than did the more recent of the traditional texts.

Electronic Devices To Filter Out Dust

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—That old dust mop? That feather duster and all the dust cloths? Some day, they'll all go the way of the five-cent cigar, nickel phone call and buggy whip.

Lint, dust and other pesky particles that float through the air and land on you, furniture adnd trappings, you see, can be filtered out of the air electronically.

The clean air expert who says so, Hal Chamberlain of Minneapolis, has been one of the prime movers behind the new concept in home comfort. He is national market manager for a maker of the electronic devices.

"It's not that we can't live fairly comfortably the way things are," he said, "but how good is it, really?

"We've become accustomed to daily dust and lint on the furniture, layers of tobacco smoke at parties, cooking odors, filmy windows and mirrors.

"Most of us have lived with these conditions all our lives, so it seems perfectly normal. Most of us don't know what we're missing."

Chamberlain said the electronic air cleaning units filter the air up to 19 times as efficiently as ordinary fiber filters used in most furnace and air conditioning units.

Research has shown that regular filters catch only five to eight per cent of the airborne particles that pass through them. The electronic units trap from 60 to 95 per cent of those particles.

Chamberlain said studies have shown that the units cause a drastic reduction in household cleaning chores. There's a health side, too. Irritants annoying hay fever and dust-allergy sufferers largely are eliminated.

The first residential units for electronic air filtering were introduced in 1961. For the past two years, sales of one leading manufacturer have increased 30 per cent annually. Other firms in the field report increases also.

Chamberlain figures air cleaners now are selling at a rate equal to one for every 25 homes built in the U.S., and that one in 10 may have such a device on the homefront by 1970.

In dollars, that stands for a $20 million market last year—and about $70 million by the end of the decade.

St. Raphael's Is Setting For Montobbio-Healy Rite

St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael was the setting on Jan. 29 for the noon wedding of Madelon Marie Healy of San Rafael and Mark Montobbio of San Francisco.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Healy of San Rafael, wore a peau de soie sheath with Alencon lace and bell sleeves for the ceremony. The Rev. Benjamin Blank performed the rite in which Madelon was escorted to the altar by her father.

Melanie Healy attended her sister as maid of honor, and Carole Garaventa, Lynn Dell'Artino, cousin of the bridegroom, and Mesdames Timothy Reardon and Carl Schnabal were bridesmaids. All attendants wore gowns of pink crepe and red velvet.

Serving as best man was John Mohr, and Francis Healy, brother of the bride. Joseph Stone, Kevin Sheehy and Ralph Mihan ushered.

A reception followed the ceremony at Maple Lawn, San Rafael. The bride was graduated from Dominican Upper School and Dominican College and her husband is a third year student at University of San Francisco Law School. The son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Montobbio of San Francisco, he is also a member of the Olympic Club.

Following a wedding trip to Las Vegas, the couple will make their home in San Francisco.

Members of Ruth Miriam and Rachel Circles of the United Presbyterian Women of the Novato Presbyterian Church will be honored at a tea to be given by members of the Martha Circle tomorrow from 2 to 4:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Helen Noel in Novato.

Mrs. Walter Hulme is chairman of the Martha Circle.

Mass Media To Be Topic At P-TA Meet

A panel of leaders in their fields will discuss mass communication for the Don Timoteo School Parent-Teacher Assn. tonight at 8 o'clock at the school in San Rafael.

Panel members will be Bryce W. Anderson, city editor of the Independent-Journal; Carter B. Smith, radio station KSFO disc jockey; Don Brice, KPIX television news director; and Roger Freeburg, composer and professional musician. Mo Kristensen, special teacher, will serve as moderator.

The panel will discuss questions such as "Does Mass Communication Help Change Values of Society?" and "Should Society Have More Control Over Mass Media?"

The public program will be held in rooms 2 and 24 at the school.

Turtles As Pets May Mean Trouble

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—Two Minnesota Department of Health researchers reported recently that turtles, heretofore considered almost perfect household pets, can be the source of a serious intestinal disease, salmonellosis. They urge everyone with pet turtles to wash their hands after handling the creatures or their bowls, or the pebbles often kept in them. No one, including other household pets, should eat or drink from the turtle's bowl. They also caution that the water in which the turtle lives should never be emptied in the kitchen sink where it might contaminate food.

School Library Dedication Combined With P-TA Meet

Dedication ceremonies for the new library building and four new classrooms at Henry C. Hall School in Larkspur will be combined with the Parent-Teacher Assn. founders day program at 7:30 p.m. on Feb. 17 in the school multi-use room.

Six years ago, the P-TA group, seeing the need for library facilities in the Larkspur School District, undertook to raise funds and provide volunteer workers to start a library in the corner of one of the classrooms at Henry C. Hall School. The program has grown to include a library room in each of the district's four schools, a full-time district librarian providing instruction in library skills, and a library clerk in each school.

At the dedication Milton S. Cohen, district superintendent, will speak and Mrs. Kenneth Shaff, P-TA president, will award an honorary life membership in the P-TA. Tom Marker, fall student council president, will present a gift to the library from the student-body and Mrs. Lawrence Synder will announce winners of the children's art contest.

Following the ceremonies dessert will be served and the new buildings will be open for inspection.

Polynesia Theme For Tennis Club

Mill Valley Tennis Clubwomen will spend a "February Day in the Islands" on Feb. 15 when their luncheon meeting follows a Hawaiian theme. Members are to come dressed in Polynesian style for the noon event.

Entertainment will be provided by the Bronson Entertainers of Walnut Creek, women whose hobby is Hawaiian dancing and culture.

Better Buy Shop To Hold Potluck

The Better Buy Shop, sponsored by the Episcopal Churchwomen of the Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley, will mark its second anniversary with a potluck luncheon at the rectory on Valentine Day.

Mrs. D. Murray Hammond, wife of the rector, will be in charge, aided by the shop co-chairmen, Mrs. Forest Sur and Mrs. George Brockman.

Now located at 379 Shoreline Highway in Tamalpais Valley, the shop was originally to be at a downtown location. A few days before the grand opening, however, the building was condemned by the fire department. The present shop opened for business on Feb. 1, 1964.

Operation of the secondhand shop replaces the churchwomen's annual rummage sale. It not only supplies a service to the community, Mrs. Sur said, but enables women of the church to carry on their work.

Hours for the shop are 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday. Contributions of saleable items, and almost anything is saleable according to Mrs. Sur, are welcomed.

GETTING IN practice to serve at the wine festival planned on Feb. 19 by the St. Cecilia's Women's Club of Lagunitas are, from left, Mesdames Rodney Thorsen, co-chairman, John Alvarado and Albert Schivo. The event to be held in Star Hall, San Anselmo, will begin with a wine tasting to be followed by dinner and dancing.

St. Cecilia's Women's Club Sets Date For Wine Festival

St. Cecilia's Women's Club of Lagunitas will hold its third wine festival with a wine testing, dinner and dance on Feb. 19 at Star Hall, San Anselmo.

Mrs. John Burke is chairman and Mesdames Phillip Fahy and Rodney Thorsen, co-chairmen.

Other committee members for the event which will begin with wine tasting at 6:30 p.m., followed by dinner and dancing are Mesdames Orinda Ross, tickets; Jack Alvaredo, kitchen, assisted by Messrs. Otis Wilbur, Rodney Thorsen, Phillip Fahy and Jerry Fish. Fred Baguio is in charge of decorations, Mrs. Phillip Fahy, serving, and Mrs. Stanley Dentkos, publicity.

Delicate Makeup

The face a woman puts on for her public come spring will be one of soft and delicate makeup tones, reports the National Assn. of Hairdressers and Cosmetologists. Eye makeup, it adds, will be in natural shades for eyebrows with false lashes to echo hair colors. Lips come in bright pink and coral shades.

Engagement Ended

Modern Opera, Women Subject Of Lectures

Modern opera and the role of the educated woman in modern society will be the topics of two lectures to be given this week in Olney Hall at the College of Marin.

Friedelind Wagner, founder and director of the Bayreuth Festival Master Classes, will speak Thursday at 8 p.m. on "Modern Opera Production in Europe."

Granddaughter of composer Richard Wagner and the great-granddaughter of Franz Liszt, Miss Wagner is a native of Germany but came to the United States in 1937.

On Friday at the same hour, Austrian - born psychologist Bruno Bettelheim will speak on "The Educated Woman and Her Role in Modern Society."

Bettelheim, 63, is professor of psychology and psychiatry at the University of Chicago. Several of his many books deal with such basic social problems as prejudice, child management, and delinquency.

Belvedere Sets Up Rules On Community Television

Belvedere City Council last night adopted an ordinance regulating community television antenna services, and announced applications to serve the city would be accepted for the next 60 days.

City Mgr. William L. Cavalli noted that the ordinance allows only 30 days for companies to apply, but that the measure will not go into effect for 30 days.

The council voted to accept Eucalyptus Road into the city street maintenance system as soon as deeds are filed by fronting property owners. Mayor Merritt K. Ruddock said all property owners had agreed to the plan, ending about five years of campaigning to bring the road up to city standard.

The Belevedere City Council also:

1. Postponed action on a six-lot subdivision of the James McGuinness family land at the top of Belvedere Island to await planning commission approval of a variance for one lot.
2. Ordered City Atty. William H. MacKay to act immediately to force eviction of a second family living at 71 Bellevue Avenue, in a single-family zone.
3. Approved routinely a budget to spend $1,000 in state gasoline tax funds for street engineering.
4. Adopted an ordinance controlling filling of inundated areas of the bay.
5. Tabled consideration of County Supervisor Peter H. Behr's proposed park bond issue, after Cavalli said he was opposed to a plan which would apportion funds to cities on the basis of population or assessed valuation, regardless of whether they had any parks or recreation program.
6. Passed a resolution allowing a city councilman to be out of the state or county for as long as 30 days at a time. Councilman Edwin J. Drechsel, an employee of U. S. News and World Report, was absent, having been sent to Honolulu to cover the conference on Viet Nam.

Negro History Programs Set In Marin City

Negro History Week will be observed through Sunday in Marin City with an exhibit of arts and crafts by children and programs including negro spirituals, a poety reading, and performances of modern dancing.

The week ties in with national Negro History observances which began Feb. 1 to run through Feb. 17, reported Mrs. Beatrice Duke, president of the sponsoring Marin Art and Culture Club.

Children's exhibits will be on display at St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church daily from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 4 to 6 p.m.

Modern dancers from Tamalpais High School, under direction of Mrs. Margaret Pell, will perform at 8 p.m. Saturday at the church. Also on the program will be a reading of Negro poetry and a book review by Mrs. Billy Johnson of Corte Madera.

Sunday at 3 p.m. at the First Missionary Baptist Church, Marin City, there will be a program of Negro spirituals and a mass chorus directed by Rev. Fred Small, pastor of Church of God in Christ. George Duke will play organ and Gwen Brown, piano.

Dr. Seaton Manning, head of the sociology department, San Francisco State College, and former Marin City resident, will be guest speaker. Alma Banks-Wells, soprano, will sing.

Marin Students Get Yearbook Positions

CONCERT REVIEW

Negro Spirituals Have New Meaning

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Charles Lampkin, Negro folk singer and pianist, opened Dominican College's American Music Festival last night in Angelico Hall with a performance vastly different from those of the so-called folk singers of today.

Accompanying himself on the piano, Lampkin drew pictures in words and music of the origin and nature of Negro musical forms, such as shout-songs, spirituals, work songs, field hollers, and cries and blues. Also included were selections from the works of such modern Negro poets as Langston Hughes, Countee Cullen and Gwendolyn Brooks.

Sensing the popularity with students of his piano arrangement of "St. Louis Blues," he closed with an unscheduled, lengthy and intricate medley of Gerschwin tunes.

Because he does not have a trained voice, one has the impression when he sings that this is the way these songs must have sounded as they were sung by a slave to express his deepest emotions.

In the fairly familiar form of the spiritual it was interesting to hear some different versions of old favorites like the one of "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" sung by slaves on St. Catherine's Island off the coast of Georgia.

Probably new to most were the shout-songs (audience participation didn't work too well on one of these), field hollers and street cries, in which Lampkin showed his dramatic ability. This was evident, too, in the recitation of music of "The Creation" by James Weldon Johnson.

A puzzling circumstance was his frequent failure to be clearly understood, especially in the first half of the program, which may have been due to too intimate an approach in an attempt to establish rapport with a rather small audience. The second half was better after this apparently was called to his attention and he used a microphone.

The second concert in the festival will be on Feb. 17 at 8 p.m. in Angelico Hall. It will consist of a lecture by Dr. W. Thomas Marrocco, distinguished musicologist and authority on American music, and music performed by concert pianist Sister Mary Dominic, O.P., of the Dominican College music faculty.

'The Cradle Song' Scheduled For Drake Theater

"The Cradle Song," a play about Dominican nuns, will be presented Feb. 26 and March 5 at Sir Francis Drake High School's Little Theater.

The second Drake High School production this school year, the play will be directed by Paula Jacobson, a senior at the school. Drama advisor Robert Johnson has cast 19 girls and four boys for the production.

Annexations Go Before Council

San Anselmo City Council, meeting at 8 p.m. today in City Hall, will hold a public hearing on the annexation of a portion of Sunny Hills property to the city. They will also be asked to refer a study made on the feasibility of annexing the Short Ranch area to San Anselmo to the Local Agency Formation Commission.

City Administrator Douglas J. Flautt will recommend they hire a consulting engineer to prepare plans and specifications for the second phase of the project to widen Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. This phase runs from Tunsted Avenue, east to the Ross town limits.

Councilmen will also hear a report from the Downtown Off-Street Parking Committee.

Tiburon Council To Hear Report On Lot Ordinance

The Tiburon City Council, meeting at 8 p.m. today at Del Mar School, will consider proposed building and subdivision ordinances for the city.

Sydney H. Williams will be present to discuss the subdivision ordinance prepared by his firm, Williams, Cook and Mocine.

Also on the agenda is a request from City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose as to what actions should be taken by him on parks and recreation matters until a parks and recreation commission is named by the council.

Formation of such a commission was approved by the council Dec. 13.

A model ordinance prepared by the California League of Cities establishing uniform traffic regulations for the city will be discussed.

Cost of including Tiburon city employees in the state retirement system is also on the agenda.

Harris To Star In 'Pooh' Play

Jim Harris Jr. will play the part of Christopher Robin in "Winnie the Pooh" to be presented by the Castle Court players at 10:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Feb 12 and 19 at the Novato Community House, sponsored by the Novato Parks and Recreation Department.

Jim was selected for the part from nine boys who auditioned for the role before Douglas M. Briggs, director. He is a a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Harris of 2361 Dominic Drive, and is in the sixth grade at West Novato School.

"Winnie the Pooh" is the first of a series of plays to be presented by the Castle Court Players at the Novato Community House. It will be followed by "Cinderella," "The Red Shoes," and "The Magic Storybook."

Senior Citizen Program Starts

A senior citizen program will start at the Marinwood Community Center at 11 a.m. tomorrow, according to William A. Gordon, director for the Marinwood Community Services District.

The sessions, to continue until 4 p.m., will be held on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month.

Gordon also announced a trip to San Francisco to see an ice hockey game Feb. 26 and a trip to Donner Summit on March 12. Pre-registration is necessary for both trips.

Judo classes under instruction of Leon Morganstern will start March 2, and tennis classes under Roberts Carlson will start Feb. 28.

Council Appoints Childress To Education Board Post

Herman L. Childress of 24 Dunfries Terrace was appointed to the San Rafael Board of Education last night by the city council, to fill the vacancy left by resignation of Walter J. Doll.

Childress was given the oath of office by City Clerk W. C. Cornwell shortly after his appointment, and will attend his first meeting as a board member tonight.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini urged appointment of John M. Bagshaw, a former board of education member who did not run for re-election last year. However, all other council members favored Childress, who was nominated by Councilman Charles W. Aby. Bettini at first voted "no," then changed his vote to make the appointment unanimous.

HERMAN L. CHILDRESS
First meeting tonight

Aby at first suggested the vote be by secret ballot. When this brought no second, Councilman Harry A. Barbier suggested all candidates appear before the council at a special meeting.

"I'm prepared to make a decision tonight," said Mayor Bettini. Aby then nominated Childress. Barbier seconded the nomination.

Bettini said he favored Bagshaw because of his experience on the board, noting that Carl J. Brown (who was present) is now senior member of the board of education with only three years service.

If experience were not to be the criteria, he said, he would favor an appointment from "north of the hill"—the area where Doll resides. In that case, he said, he would favor Thomas Campanella, a resident of the Terra Linda annexation to the city in Dixie Elementary School District.

Councilman Louis H. Baar said: "I work with Mr. Bagshaw and he's a very fine man . . . but a little article in the paper kind of took me out of the position of proposing him for any office." (The article referred to mentioned that both Baar and Bagshaw are associated with Redmond and Co., realty firm.)

Baar said he had talked with Childress, Bagshaw, and Mrs. Leonora Cadwallader, a fourth candidate for the appointment, and would votef or Childress.

Bettini disclosed a fifth candidate had written him—Carl Lorenzen, whose candidacy was unknown to the other councilmen.

The new board of education member is assistant to the vice president of Standard Oil Co. of California, and will become national accounts representative for that company on Feb. 16. He has been employed by Standard Oil and its subsidiaries for 20 years, in California and New Jersey, except for three years in the Army Air Force in World War II. He was formerly assistant to the president of Chevron Oil Co., a Standard subsidiary.

He was born in Cairo, Ill., received a B.S. degree in chemical engineering from University of Illinois and an M.S. in the same field from Carnegie Institute of Technology.

He and his wife, Dorothy, have three children, of whom the two elder are San Rafael High School graduates and the youngest, Judith, is a junior at San Rafael High. They have lived in San Rafael five years.

The council received many letters of endorsement of Childress, Bagshaw, and Campanella. In contrast to the situation last year, when Mrs. Anita C. Strom was appointed to the board of education, there was no attack on any of the candidates.

LOCAL STUDY SET IN BAY CROSSING

Bay Toll Division Plans $850,000 Study, To Consider Impact On Marin Approaches

The State Division of Bay Toll Crossings is considering local planning in its study of a proposed new crossing from San Francisco to Marin, according to a progress report released yesterday.

Among factors being studied are "the impact of approaches on the communities at each end," and "connections to existing and proposed freeways, highways, local roads and city streets," the report noted.

"Effect on communities and integration with a regional transportation plan will have high priority in the course of the study," according to E. R. Foley, chief engineer.

The division is conducting an $850,000 study, which started last September and is scheduled to be completed by May, 1967.

All reasonable alignment possibilities for a new crossing will be studied, the report said.

Some of the corridors which will be investigated are:

From the Presidio area in San Francisco to Marin County near the Waldo approach. This would include the possibility of a crossing between the headlands at the Golden Gate Bridge site, as well as at more easterly locations.

From the Van Ness Avenue area to the easterly portion of Marin County.

From the Embarcadero area in San Francisco to the easterly portion of Marin County.

The study also will cover underwater tube construction, as well as bridges, that could accommodate both mass transit and vehicular traffic.

The report noted there has been public interest in other methods of transportation, such as hydrofoils, helicopters and ferry boats, that should be studied.

Since this study cannot be undertaken under the provisions of present legislation, the report recommended that funds be made available by the legislature to permit study of surface craft.

The report also said consideration will be given to the "overall effect on the natural beauty of the bay for each type of crossing studied."

Because the problems are so complex, experts in the fields of traffic, underwater tubes, bridge design and architecture, and finance will participate in the study of needs and feasible solutions, the division reported.

The financing and operation of any future crossing to Marin County would have to be coordinated with existing facilities, the report said.

Meetings have been held with civic groups and governmental agencies, including the Marin County Board of Supervisors, the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, and representatives of the public works and planning departments of San Francisco.

The division plans to continue its coordination with the planning efforts of the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission and all local and regional jurisdictions, as the study proceeds, Foley reported.

A southern crossing report which found that water transportation could not compete with existing bus service and proposed rapid transit service does not necessarily apply to the San Francisco-Marin crossing problem because different conditions prevail, the report said.

Master Plan On Novato's City Agenda

The Novato City Council will introduce an ordinance adopting the new Novato master plan when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

Changes recommended at hearings on the plan last week are to be incorporated into the ordinance.

City Mgr. J. Julien Baget will report on progress in negotiations for a park site adjacent to the Rancho School playground.

Baget will also report on effectiveness of the city's anti-solicitor ordinance. Mayor Robert D. Carrow asked for this report at last week's council meeting.

The council will receive the draft of an underground utilities ordinance and the counsel's opinion on the consolidation of the city and Novato fire district elections.

Menary Strings Along With Parking Proposal

Violin professor Vlado Kolitsch acquired an ally last night, and as a result a San Rafael parking ordinance may be changed.

Kolitsch, who lives and teaches music at 1732 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, wrote the city council complaining of ticketing by police for overparking in privately owned parking lots. He appeared at last night's council meeting to back his complaint in person.

He promptly acquired City Atty. David Menary Jr. as an ally.

"I think what he has in mind is to get the ordinance amended," said Menary. "I don't think it's a bad idea."

The city attorney said the present ordinance empowers police to ticket vehicles on private property at the property owner's request. It is used, he said, to prevent overparking at commercial establishments' lots.

"I don't like the thing, personally," said the city attorney, calling it a misuse of police. He said the ordinance probably was intended only to prevent parking in driveways and lots of homes.

The council instructed Menary to rewrite the ordinance to eliminate the objectionable feature. He said he would do so by the Feb. 21 council meeting. Kolitsch said he'd be back then.

Credit Card Use Case Bound Over

Albert Edward Robertson, 22, of 342 Sycamore Avenue, Mill Valley, was bound over to Main Superior Court yesterday following a preliminary hearing on a charge of illegal use of another man's credit card.

He allegedly used a card lost by Benjamin L. Johnston of Novato to buy about $118 worth of gas and other service station supplies last September and October in Novato.

Video Changes Are Approved In Mill Valley

Mill Valley City Council approved changes, then introduced an ordinance last night to permit a community antenna television system.

Changes included a stipulation that a conditional use permit for all above-ground facilities other than poles and wires, with violators of the ordinance subject to $500 fine or six-month imprisonment.

No action was taken on a proposal by Councilman Albert E. White Jan. 17 on possibility of a city-operated antenna system. City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer reported that a League of California Cities attorney said he knows of no city in California that has set up its own community antenna television system, but that it would probably be permissable.

White said the council should reaffirm that it wants as much of the system underground as possible. Councilmen Michael Wornum and William M. Secor agreed.

Secor said he left the $500 fine could be larger and Wornum suggested the city get a percentage of the net profit as well as net gross. The ordinance provides that the franchise holder must pay the city a compensation equal to two per cent of the gross annual receipts.

Man Pleads To Compass Damage

Hibbard Fuque Lee, 23, pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to malicious mischief in the disappearance last Nov. 5 of a $30 ship's compass at Marinship Yacht Harbor.

Terra Linda Woman Wins Army's Award

Dorothy M. Lee, 301 Holly Drive, Terra Linda, widow of Maj. Clarence C. Lee, has been presented the Department of the Army outstanding performance award in ceremonies at the Presidio of San Francisco.

It was awarded for outstanding service as secretary with the Sixth Army Information Office from November 1964 to October 1965.

Housewife Seeking San Anselmo Vote

Mrs. Anne West, 45, of 21 Crescent Lane, San Anselmo, a housewife and mother of three children, announced today she will be a candidate for election to the San Anselmo City Council.

Mrs. West, vice president of the San Anselmo Homes Assn., has lived in the city 10 years. Her husband, John West, is a member of the San Anselmo Planning Commission.

"If I am elected," said Mrs. West, "he will submit his resignation to the city council for them to accept or reject."

ANNE WEST
Offers program

Mrs. West listed six problems in San Anselmo, which, she said, "have been neglected for so long that we can only meet them through a joint, boot-strap effort on the part of both the citizens and the government."

The city's streets and traffic congestion must be given priority, she said. One-lane residential streets must be rebuilt, then maintained. The "slogged traffic pattern on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard" must be solved, she declared.

"Since a freeway would destroy San Anselmo by cutting it in half, reducing or eliminating property values and afflicting most residents with its smog, noise and dirt, the Point Reyes freeway must bypass our city," she said. Other problems she named were:

BEAUTIFICATION—The council should sponsor a city-wide cleanup campaign and enforce ordinances prohibiting littering, dumping and other unsightly messes.

DOWNTOWN AREA — Develop the Hub as a landscaped parking area. Recognize the creek as an advertising asset "of unique and irreplacable value." Merchants and landlords should improve the appearance of rundown buildings, provide better shopping services and engage in a unified advertising program.

ORDINANCES — Generally good, but they have been "variianced to death." Variances should be granted only rarely and not as a matter of convenience. The slope policy should be enforced.

PARKS and RECREATION — Funds are scarce and the program must be helped out by private citizens.

FIRE PROTECTION—Should investigate the possibilities of saving money and improving facilities through a combination with other areas. Many of the city's water mains are only two inches in diameter, inadequate even for standard domestic use. A program to improve at least one a year must be undertaken, she declared.

Mayor Passes Out Trophies To Pistol Shoot Winners

San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini last night presented gleaming trophies to the hottest shots in Northern California.

At opening of the city council meeting, the mayor passed out trophies won the H. O. Peters Memorial Pistol Shoot on the San Rafael police range Saturday.

Patrolman Barxdal Stinson, president of the San Rafael police pistol team, read off the names of the winners. He reported that 66 four-member teams, 16 individual men and 14 women participated in the competition, from 43 law enforcement departments in Northern California.

Top award, the San Rafael Police Assn. perpetual trophy, went to the Solano County Sheriff's Department team.

Award for the highest scoring Marin County team went to the sheriff's department team headed by Sgt. Edward Levine. That for the highest individual score in Marin was won by Dan Thomas, Novato police patrolman.

The match was named for the late H. O. Peters, who established the San Rafael range and was pistol instructor for many years for police and sheriff's men in Marin.

Clean-Up Before Fairfax Council

The Fairfax City Council will meet at 8 p.m. next Monday, and high on the agenda will be discussion of plans to spruce up the city.

A chairman, or possibly two co-chairmen, will be named by Mayor Frank L. Lawrence to head a citizens committee in charge of an intensive two-week campaign in May to clean, paint and fix up the town.

Other citizens will be invited to join the committee at the meeting. The program is part of a nationwide clean-up competition for cities, which Fairfax will enter.

Center Plan Gaining In San Anselmo

The San Anselmo Planning Commission last night approved the proposed town center plan and recommended that the city council adopt it as a guideline for downtown development.

The plan calls for construction of a major thoroughfare to replace San Anselmo Avenue. It would cut through 26 parcels of property, most of which have old buildings on them.

The new street, which would allow construction of a pedestrian mall on San Anselmo Avenue, would parallel that avenue from Ross Avenue to San Rafael Avenue.

A 3-to-3 tie vote by the commission had the effect of denying an application by Bay Counties Realty Corp. to rezone two parcels at 48 and 52 Tamaalpais Avenue from duplex to neighborhood apartments.

Against rezoning were commissioners Duane C. Ragan, John F. West and Jerry Lloyd. Voting for it were chairman Warren Perry, James Murphy and Allan Creighton. Commissioner Edward Nordmann was absent.

The San Anselmo Planning Commission also:

1. Recommended the City council leave unchanged all variance and other application fees.
2. Postponed action on a proposed ordinance requiring subdividers dedicate land for parks in subdivisions until the county can act on a similar proposal.
3. Approved developers Wages and Slayton's two-lot subdivision at 301 the Alameda.

Corte Madera Lions Set Candidate Forum

The Corte Madera Lions Club will hold a candidates' night for all town council and county candidates on March 31 at 7:30 p.m. at the Corte Madera Recreation Center.

Charles F. Pendleton will moderate the session. The club's regular dinner meeting will be cancelled to make the special program possible, said president John McDermott.

Changing Phone Listing Cuts Nuisance Phone Calls

The steady influx of population and rapid urbanization of what was once "rural Marin" will unfortunately bring an increase in crime and violence.

Communities where residents could greet each other by their first names are becoming rarities.

New homes and apartments mean new faces and a greater turnover of residents. The old days when local police officers were personally acquainted with a big majority of the townsfolk, their cars and their daily habits are long gone.

The job of law enforcement becomes more difficult, and safety officials need increasing support and cooperation from the public.

Recent news headlines, not necessarily confined to Marin or to the Bay Area, indicate that some of the crimes may originate from a random phone call or visit by perverts or frauds who hope to take advantage of women or elderly persons living alone.

This suggests one way in which the public can help police, at least to cut down on nuisance telephone calls.

Law enforcement agencies, from long experience, have learned that in many cases of lewd telephone calls, the suspect merely thumbs through a telephone directory to pick a victim at random.

Needless to say, a person who lists her name as "Miss Jane Doe" or "Jane Doe" is more likely to be victimized by the random caller, be he intent on fraud or mere nuisance.

A suggestion that has long been advocated by law enforcement agencies makes good sense: It might be wiser for women living alone to use the initials of the first and middle name instead of the full first name.

For example, instead of "Jane Doe," why not "J. Doe" or "J. B. Doe."

The new telephone directories will be coming out the first part of April. Any changes in home listings should be made well in advance, by the end of this month.

On occasion, police have spent hours and sometimes days trying to track down nuisance telephone calls. If these incidents can be reduced, as a result of discreet telephone listings, our law officers would have that much more time to attend to the many duties that rapid urbanization is pressing upon them.

"Weren't they saying that a few decades ago about roads and highways?"

Republicans See Big Opportunity To Win Major Cities' Elections

WASHINGTON — Republican leaders are just beginning to cast an eye at a tremendous opportunity to win their way to office in many big cities.

It is a beckoning opportunity. It is not unattainable for these reasons:

1. Last fall's municipal elections proved that many voters are fed up with Democratic city - machine politics. The Democrats have controlled so many cities so long that, whether fairly or not, they are saddled with image of misrule as badly as Herbert Hoover was saddled with the Depression.

2. The big-city Democratic machines are ready to be toppled and the voters—given any attractive alternative — are ready to topple them. This is shown by what Republican candidates did recently in New York, Philadelphia, Louisville, Akron, New Britain, Conn. and other communities.

3. The often unplanned, uncontrolled tangle of urban and suburban growth has got so far out of hand that many city-dwellers tend to give up in helpless dismay. Yet the defaulting politicians still manage to hold onto city hall.

The weary, old-line Democratic city machines are rarely dealing effectively with explosive new problems and the only answer from the national Democratic Administration is more federal dollars, more federal control, and just leave it to Big Brother in Washington.

THIS IS THE opportunity which ought to galvanize the Republican leadership into action. But the Republicans can win their way to office in the big cities only by showing disillusioned voters that they have the will, the constructive ideas, and the activist candidates who can do what is needed.

In the matter of total federal intervention, Prof. Robert Dixon Jr., writing in the George Washington Law Review, sharpens the view of where we are headed. He says:

"We have insufficient appreciation of what technology and the population explosion are doing to us domestically.

"WE ARE TEETERING on the brink of a totally centralized federal system, under which many sub-national problems such as metropolitan transit, stream pollution, water supply, and air pollution may pass by default to the federal government."

With such a development pushed to its logical extreme, Prof. Dixon sees the states reduced to two main purposes, holding national elections and serving as " 'gimme' units to influence and control the shape and flow of federal beneficence."

There is no doubt that the problems of megalopolitis have spilled over city, county, and state lines, and cannot be adequately dealt with through existing local political units.

Obviously the size of the political instrument must be equal to the size of the problem. But does every regional problem have to have a national solution?

PROF. DIXON thinks not and he recommends a mixture of interstate compacts, with the federal government as a party, as has already been done in the Delaware River basin compact.

This is one concrete proposal and what I am suggesting is that, if the Republicans mean to set out to topple the big-city Democratic machines, they will have to do far more than talk about better organization.

They will have to produce better ideas of how to deal with the sprawl of metropolitan areas and workable alternatives to leaving it all to Washington.

If and when they do, the Republicans will find an exciting political re-birth.

Clergymen Plead For Bombing Lull

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Hopeful that the report of renewed bombing of North Viet Nam does not represent an irrevocable decision, those whose names appear below wholeheartedly endorse the statement of the National Emergency Committee of Clergy Concerned about Viet Nam, an ad hoc, interfaith committee, which sent the following message to President Johnson.

"We are appalled by the inhumanity of the war in Viet Nam and the extension of hostilities to neighboring countries. Impending national decisions about Viet Nam will fundamentally influence the political, military, and above all, moral future of our nation and world. We are, heartened by your recent efforts for peace, and we urge: (1) that the cessation of bombing in North Viet Nam be maintained; (2) that you continue to press for negotiated peace, and that the National Liberation Front be given direct representation in all discussions; (3) that you vigorously resist all pressure toward further escalation; (4) that economic development for humane purposes at home and abroad be given budgetary priority over military spending."

Among the 40 who signed this statement were the following: Eugene Carson Blake, stated clerk, United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.; Robert McAfee Brown, Stanford Univ.; William Sloane Coffin, (formulator of the statement), chaplain, Yale Univ.; Bishop Daniel Corrigan, director of the Protestant Episcopal's home department; Edwin T. Dahlberg, Crozer Theological Seminary; Rabbi Abraham Heschel, Jewish Theological Seminary of America; John Wesley Lord, Methodist bishop of Washington, D. C.; Father Richard J. McSorley, Georgetown Univ.; Martin E. Marty, Univ. of Chicago Divinity School; Reinhold Niebuhr, Union Theological Seminary.

We urge everyone who agrees with the message of the National Emergency Committee to wire or write President Johnson, Senators Kuchel and Murphy, and Congressman Clausen.

Mill Valley PANS Not National Group

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Is the Mill Valley Parents Assn. for Neighborhood Schools (PANS) part of a statewide organization?

This flattering but false assumption has recently appeared several times in the I-J . . .

Mill Valley PANS is a local, non-partisan group not connected with any other organization whatsoever . . .

If there was a group coincidentally called PANS which functioned in the 1964 school recall attempt in Berkeley, we were not aware of it until now. Mill Valley PANS is not interested in recalls or in picketing schools. Our purpose has been to stimulate two-way communication between our school board and the Mill Valley public regarding the future of our schools . . .

The criticism has been made of PANS that we are "prejudging the issue of what kind of schools are best for Mill Valley children." We plead guilty! We are doing just that.

We are doing it because for some time there has existed in Mill Valley a group, well organized and highly articulate, that had already "prejudged" the issue and concluded that the neghborhood school as such had NO compelling positive educational values.

We were concerned lest, by speaking often and long enough, this very small part of the total community could persuade our board that they speak for the majority.

The kind of schools our youngsters attend should not be determined by one-tenth of one per cent of the people, even though they do attend board meetings with religious dedication. Mill Valley PANS has endeavored to see that this doesn't happen . . .

Newspaper Aids War On Pesky Polecats

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I've come to the recent conclusion that ridding a house of civit cats—or skunks for that matter—is not as awesome task as it might seem. The prerequisites are know-how and a little patient work. It doesn't even take money.

The expulsion of these animals from the James David house in Woodacre posed a seemingly unsurmountable problem to me until you gave heart to the cause and published a story about the varmits, thus drawing the attention and counsel of Marie Joyce of Forest Knolls. Her knowledge of civit cats and skunks, based on plenty of personal experience and research, is basically responsible for clearing the house of the pests. The cost of the sulphur candles she prescribed was less than one dollar, whereas twenty-five dollars paid to a professional exterminator (who, incidentally, no longer will handle skunk problems!) was almost literally "money down the drain."

To the public service attitude of the Independent-Journal and the very good reporting of Mr. Robert Strebeigh and to the humane concern of Mrs. Joyce go my deep thanks and those of the Al Chelinis who tenant the house. To the county health department and the humane society go not onions but the scent that the civit cats fortunately failed to leave behind (only the agricultural commissioner offered any sympathetic and constructive advice).

It is interesting at this point to speculate on the justness of some of the rules and orders of living which we automatically accept and every day follow; were it up to me, I would in clearer conscience pay the exterminator's fee to Mrs. Joyce and my property taxes to the Independent-Journal.

GOD IN A SUBWAY STATION

The stop is used by hundreds of students who attend Columbia University as well as Union Theological Seminary and the Jewish Theological Seminary of America.

The first message chalked on the wall consisted of these four words: "God is dead. (Signed) Nietzsche."

It wasn't there long before some enterprising believer added another four words to the original. They read simply: "Nietzsche is dead; (Signed) God."

Show a friendly, thoughtful interest in persons who are bothered by religious doubts or those who are avowed agnostic or atheistic.

The mere fact that unbelievers raise the question is a sign that deep in their hearts and souls there is still a spark of faith in God that can never be completely stifled or eliminated.

"Be not deceived. God is not mocked. For what a man sows, that he will also reap."
(Galations 6:8)

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Death Of Knowland Closes Era In History Of State's Press

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The passing of Joseph R. Knowland, publisher of the Oakland Tribune, at the age of 92 years, marks the end of an era in the newspaper world of this state.

Knowland might be said to have been the last of a long line of publishers in California of the "old school." These included William Randolph Hearst, C. K. McClatchy, Fremont Older, William Chandler and many others on smaller newspapers, all of whom were dedicated to bringing the news to the people.

It has been this writer's privilege to work as a reporter for a good many of these publishers, including Knowland.

THIS WAS BACK in 1935, in the days just after the famous waterfront strike in San Francisco, when tensions remained high, and the entire Bay Area was affected by the issues raised by the longshoremen.

There followed the now dimly remembered ship murder case in Alameda, which was prosecuted by the district attorney's office in Alameda County at the instance of Earl Warren, then district attorney and now chief justice of the United States Supreme Court.

Through all of these outstanding stories, the philosophy of Knowland remained steadfast as far as his newspaper was concerned. It was simply to bring the news to his readers.

ALTHOUGH Knowland was publisher of one of the largest Bay Area papers, he was not above doing the work of a reporter when it became necessary. And as a reporter, he was one of the best who ever phoned in a story.

As rewrite man for the Tribune, this writer had occasion to take a story from Knowland on the opening of the American Canyon Highway from southwest of Fairfield to Vallejo.

Not too many can remember when the main highway from Sacramento to San Francisco passed through Vallejo in a round-about way. The American Canyon cutoff then was the latest word in highway development.

A few minutes before deadline, Knowland telephoned a story of the opening of this new highway, attended by dignitaries from various parts of the state. Short, concise and to the point, it was a tribute to his ability as a reporter.

AS AN ASSEMBLYMAN, senator and congressman, Knowland was no stranger to the political life of the state. After being defeated for election to the U. S. Senate, he became publisher of the Oakland newspaper, but his interest in politics never flagged.

He might be said to have "made" Chief Justice Warren, through his support for Warren for Alameda County district attorney, attorney general of the state, and finally for three terms as governor.

He continued his interest in political affairs, state boards and commissions and the progress of his community. He was a promoter of state-wide business interests through the state chamber of commerce, and a proponent of an outstanding state beaches and parks system through his long chairmanship of the State Parks Commission.

Most men of outstanding character are subjects of criticism, and Knowland had his share. But his contributions to the state's progress will be long remembered.

One night, Cohan dropped in unexpectedly on one of his hits that had been selling out on Broadway for six months. As the final curtain fell, he charged angrily backstage and pinned this notice on the bulletin board: "Rehearsal for entire cast at eleven tomorrow—to take out the improvements."

UNLESS YOU have a reasonably strong stomach, you had better skip this paragraph from the new Guinness Book of World Records: For eating: George Grogniet, at Brussels in 1962, downed 44 boiled eggs in 30 minutes. INSIDE WASHINGTON

Johnson's 'Consensus' Aimed At Inflation

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—A distinctly new concept of price and wage controls is evolving under which President Johnson would personally attempt to restrain the war-booming national economy through his favorite formula of "consensus."

Instead of restoring the stringent Korean War type controls, the President would use both new legislation and the prestige of his office to pressure business and labor to hold down their demands.

Under White House direction, administration officials and Democratic Congressional leaders are preparing to launch a vigorous campaign to enact a little-noticed bill introduced on the first day of the new session by Representative Emanuel Celler, chairman of the influential House Judiciary Committee, requiring "basic industries" to give notice of price increases.

SIMILAR LEGISLATION requiring unions to notify the government of proposed wage demands is being drafted by the White House and Labor Department for introduction this month by legislators "friendly" to the administration.

Such price and wage increase declarations would be followed by a mandatory 60-day waiting period before they could become effective. During this time a government review board would investigate the avowed reasons for the proposed increase and its probable effect.

Under provisions of Celler's "inflation slow-down bill," the "basic industries" would include steel, petroleum, aluminum, refining, cooperage and automobiles.

The measure also would apply to industries in which the sales of the four largest members constitute 75 per cent of the total of the industry, and to industries in which goods and services are considered "critical or strategic."

THE "TEETH" OF the bill is the power it would give the President to establish such standards as he deems necessary to determine whether an industry is "basic." Under this authority a company that stepped outside the price guideposts as laid down by his Council of Economic Advisers might find itself up before the review board.

The Celler bill, which would amend the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, does not empower the review board to cancel price incerases. However, the President apparently is counting on the combined 60-day waiting period and the board's investigation and public "findings of fact" to give him the needed tools to accomplish the kind of economic control he wants.

UNTIL THE PRESIDENT can obtain this unique "consensus" legislation, efforts to keep the lid on the churning war economy will consist of the following:

1. Instructing all government agencies not to buy from companies that increase prices over suggested guidelines.

2. Waging a campaign to spur public resentment against price and wage increases. This will be done by publishing figures on how price or wage increases will raise the cost of consumer goods.

3. Releasing materials from government stockpiles to force down prices if they are hiked above suggested guidelines.

4. Encouraging imports to reduce prices through competition.

5. Holding a series of meetings with labor leaders to urge them to curb wage demands.

With Winter Rains, Marin Wild Grass Turns Green For Awhile

With spring permeating the air of Marin County, the urge to get out of doors and plant something comes to most people. It is a time of spring flowers and green grass.

As soon as the winter rains freshen the ground, the early flowers come out and brighten the landscape all during the season of snow and ice elsewhere.

All too soon the hills will turn brown and then their real beauty will just be a thing to remember. The same thing holds true for the highways. The wild grasses grow green in the wintertime and early spring. They too turn brown all too soon, leaving the highways an unsightly mess of weeds.

ONLY A FEW AREAS of Highways 101 and 37 in Marin County have been landscaped. The area around Terra Linda was landscaped by the state, and the islands in the heart of Novato were done by the city, which is maintaining them for the state.

They show what can be done to make Marin County freeways more beautiful. Perhaps, instead of each community trying to get the state to beautify their section of the highway, or doing it by itself, they should all band together and form a beautification committee for the whole county.

Perhaps this county-wide committee would have more influence with the State Division of Highways than individual communities.

Congressman Donald Clausen was in Novato the other day, and had a few things to say about a parallel runway for private planes east of the Hamilton Air Force Base runway.

He didn't like the idea.

HE DIDN'T LIKE the idea of anything which might interfere with the operation of the base as a military fighter base.

The bedlam of small, slow private planes cluttering up the fighter plane space did not suit the congressman at all. He could not see any change in the status of Hamilton as a fighter base for 10 or 20 years. He just as much as told Novatans to forget the parallel runway for at least that many years.

Luckily, the supervisors have since decided on building up the airport north of the city.

Congressman Clausen also did not at all like the idea of a $30 million payroll being forced out of his district. The operation of Hamilton Air Force Base is one of the most important federal projects in the First District, he said.

The operation of another airport near Hamilton might bring pressure on the Defense Department to close the base, he said. He did not want anything to endanger the base or its future operations.

SO MUCH FOR politics on a national scale. Now to bring them down to a local level, there was some discussion at the public hearing on the Novato master plan on where the central business district should be.

Councilman William Jack Adams said that the proposed central business district between Grant Avenue and Novato Boulevard would be 40 years in developing because it has newer homes and the streets plan was not suitable.

He wanted to designate the area between Grant and Olive, Highway 101 and Seventh Street as the central business district.

"There's a lot of property there not worth burning down," Adams stated.

Mayor Robert D. Carrow, always the politician, said something to the effect to wait and see how Adams fares in that precinct at the next election.

"I'm not worried about the next election," Adams answered.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Despite near-freezing weather, more than 500 women collected $22,595 in a house-to-house Mothers March against polio throughout Marin.

20 YEARS AGO

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. announced that a $100,000 telephone office building would be constructed at the southwest corner of Second and D streets, San Rafael.

Marin County accounted for more than 30 tons of clothing in a drive to send bundles for the relief of war-torn nations.

MORRIE RYSKIND

This piece is for posterity.

Not, heaven knows, that I offer it as deathless English prose in the tradition of Lincoln and Churchill; but rather that it may, hopefully, prove to be the Rosetta Stone which will decipher for the future Gibbon who chronicles the "Decline and Fall of the American Republic" the mystery of how the Great Society got its name.

If he takes the appellation literally, he may be so utterly baffled the he will never finish his work, and spend his declining years on the psychiatric couch. Or go off on a wrong tangent and write the sort of record in which, as some wit has so well phrased it, history becomes just a lie agreed upon.

I would bid him remember that, ere the Revolution of 1776 was completely overthrown by the Counter-revolution of 1964, Americans still retained the frontier sense of humorous exaggeration that gave any six-footer the nickname of "Shorty" and the 200-pounder the sobriquet of "Skinny."

BUT IF WE delighted in cutting some folk down to size, we occasionally used the same technique—if in reverse—by making huge mountains out of quite ordinary molehills. This sense of hyperbole, in both forms, runs through all our folk-lore.

The hero could be magnified or dwarfed—but as long as the tale was tall, we took it to our hearts. Mark Twain wrote "The Celebrated Jumping Frog of Calaveras County" and overnight both he and the frog leaped to lasting fame.

And there was W. C. Fields' story about Honest John, always sure to bring the house down. John was a poolroom shark who made a dubious living by fleecing strangers and was not above surreptitiously moving the balls to get a better lie.

One night he was playing with a victim whose glass eye dropped to the floor while he was concentrating on a difficult shot. John was under the table in a flash and, to the surprise of the onlookers, courteously returned the optic to its grateful owner. "I would not want to take advantage of you," said John. And became Honest John from that moment on.

"Of course," Fields would conclude, "I don't want to hazard a guess on what would have happened had that been the sucker's good eye."

AND I RECALL another glorious moment in a Fanny Brice show written by Montague Glass. Fanny had bought what seemed an ideally located restaurant, right off the road over which thousands of cars passed daily. She did some refurbishing, put up enticing signs—but the cars continued to pass. "At sixty miles an hour," noted Fanny, bitterly.

Desperate, she sought an attraction and, since at that time colored bands were beginning to come into their own, signed with an agent for the services of the "Ethiopian Dixie Jazz Band."

New posters heralded the advent and some customers actually showed up. But the band was late in arriving on the fatal day, and Fanny used all her alibis to stall the patrons, who were demanding their music as promised.

Finally, however, the band appeared; but the players (portrayed by vaudeville's famous Avon Comedy Four) had complexions and accents clearly those of Manhattan's lower East Side, and were neither from Dixie nor Harlem, let alone Ethiopia.

"You," shrieked Fanny in understandable dismay, "you got the nerve to call yourselves Ethiopians!"

"SO WHAT?" said the leader. "If you buy a suit from the Eagle Clothing Company, do you expect to be fitted by an eagle?"

And that, posterity, is how we happened to call the new social order, which put far heavier chains on us than those we had suffered under George III, the Great Society.

There was something peculiarly engaging in the wildly impossible promises of the Munchausen hucksters who pledged us Utopia without any degrading stoop-labor; and in an administration that preached honestly while issuing a set of misleading figures based on the sort of bookkeeping that would have put any businessman in jail.

And we went along, as the phrase has it, with the gag. But, in the end, the gag choked us to death.

Brown Previews Big New Budget

A married couple with two children, earning $7,500 a year and now paying $23, would have to pay $36 in state tax.

But the people wouldn't pay the some $140 million in higher 1966 taxes until April 1967, delaying the effect on pocketbooks until after this year's elections.

Another $115 million, Brown said, would come from revising the state's bookkeeping by counting expected tax dollars before they are in the treasury.

Last year, the administration won approval of $105.8 million in new and increased taxes to pay for 1965-66 expenditures of $4.37 billion.

For "the urgent social problems before us . . . symbolized by the word Watts" — violence in Los Angeles' Negro districts — Brown had this prescription:

"I propose to sweep all the way from the lowering of school class size to making it a crime to possess a Molotov cocktail."

He added that his plans are not simply "a program for Watts or for Negroes."

"The program I propose applies equally to other areas of Los Angeles, to Oakland, to San Francisco's Western Addition and Hunter's Point, and to areas of San Diego, Long Beach, Stockton, San Bernardino, Riverside, Bakersfield, Fresno and Vallejo at a minimum," he said.

Brown asked for $12 million to reduce class size to a maximum of 25 in the poorest areas; $20 million in bond funds to pay for portable classrooms; some $8 million in state and federal funds for pre-school training; new job retraining for adults; creation of service centers to find jobs for the unemployed, costing about $17 million in state and federal money.

There would be $150,000 to provide state jobs for retraining graduates who can't immediately find work in private industry.

The bond funds would come from a $260 million issue on the June ballot for school building aid loans and grants to local school districts.

Brown also proposed another bond issue, this one for the November ballot. It would raise $280 million for new buildings at the state colleges and University of California.

Aware that last year's legislature asked for a halt to bond issues and the start of pay-as-you-go financing for construction, Brown said he had trimmed the November bond issue by $100 million.

And beginning in 1968-69, he said, growing tidelands oil revenues can be used for new buildings, reducing future bond issues even more.

He suggested that the chief justice of the State Supreme Court be given power to set up emergency courts to handle heavy calendars caused by mass arrests of demonstrators or rioters.

Brown also asked relief for "the worst situation caused by the high levels of local property taxation . . . the plight of our old people with incomes under $3,350 a year whose ability to hold their homes is in jeopardy." He gave no details of the plan.

And he had another property tax proppsal—a series of reforms prompted by current county assessor scandals.

Brown's "state of the state" message outlined both his budget and his agenda for the special session of the legislature, being held at the same time as the lawmakers' budget meeting. He will formally offer his special session agenda Thursday.

Other items he proposed include:

Stepped-up beach and park acquisition.

An additional 1,000 California Highway Patrolmen.

Money to finance the state's new medicare plan to provide care for the poor who can't afford private facilities.

Salary increases for state employees.

Restoration of the Economic Development Agency, whose funds were eliminated by the last legislature.

More money for educational benefits for veterans of the Cold War, including Viet Nam.

Action on rapid transit for Southern California and assistance to the Bay Area Rapid Transit District in financing its transbay tube.

New smog control legislation, including licensing exhaust devices and creation of an inspection system.

Novato High School May Test Air Force Program

Novato High School may become the only high school in California, Arizona or New Mexico with an Air Force reserve officer training program.

The Air Force ROTC at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala., had asked if the school was interested in such a pilot program. Supt. James G. Bunker told the district board. He said it is one of four high schools in the three states being considered but only one will be selected.

The program would be three-fourths academic, Bunker said.

"There would be three periods of study of astronomy, space and aero-space to every one of drill," he said, and there would not be rifle drills.

The instructor would come from a list furnished by the Air Force and be selected by the district, which would pay about $5,000 to $6,000 per year, Bunker said.

"In addition the Air Force would furnish the uniforms for the 100 boys in the three-year program, which they would wear one day per week," Bunker said. A noncimmissioned officer, paid entirely by the Air Force, would issue and keep track of the uniforms.

Novato was chosen as one of the four schools to be considered for the program because of its proximity to Hamilton Air Force Base, he said.

Men's' Club Fray Injures Judge

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A municipal judge was in the hospital today after coming to the aid of a man being attacked in a usually placid men's club.

Ironically, the man police said bit and kicked Judge Albert A. Axelrod was a defendant dismissed by the jurist last week on a battery charge stemming from a fight with a cab driver.

Axelrod, 64, removed his glasses and grappled on the floor of the Elks Club last Saturday with William Owens, 20, when Owens allegedly attacked another club member.

The judge and other club members attempted to escort Owens out of the club when he attacked another member.

Marin City Club Will Give Two Scholarshops

The Marin Art and Culture Club of Marin City will award two scholarships to seniors who will graduate from Tamalpais High School in June, one in music and another in painting. The award will be made on recommendation of Robert Greenwood, head of the school's fine arts department.

Persons interested in contributing to the fund may send contributions to the club at 941 Drake Avenue, Marin City. President Beatrice Duke said today.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

Surgery is the only cure for a hernia. Failures may occur in some oldsters because the tissues are too weak and fragile to hold stitches. Large hernias and surgical failures can be patched with tantalum mesh or with fibrous tissue removed from the fascia or the person's leg. Trusses are second choice because they offer temporary relief

THIS summarizes the treatment for hernia, the "rupture" that that bothers an estimated 10 per cent of our population. Modern surgical technics have made this a safe 45-minute procedure and the patient is out of bed the same evening and home in a few days.

The abdominal cavity is lined with a pearly white tough membrane (peritoneum). The organs are contained within this balloon and at various points tubes penetrate the lining leaving potentially weak spots. These include the esophagus that links the mouth and stomach, vestiges of the umbilical cord thru which we received nourishment prior to birth, the femoral arteries on their way to the legs, and the spermatic cords that transport sperm cells from the testes.

A HERNIA may develop at any of these spots provided the openings were sealed off improperly. The inguinal hernia, the most common type, usually is found in men. The testes of the unborn male are in the abdomen and descend to the outside via the inguinal canal shortly before birth. The canal usually closes tightly but in many men the seal is absent or it is weak.

In some the area bulges on standing or straining due to the pressure of the abdominal organs. The weakened area gives way in others when coughing, straining, or lifting a heavy object. The protrusion is small at first, but may enlarge in time. The sac usually contains loops of the intestine.

THE HERNIA is a potential source of danger. When the opening is small and a loop of intestine gets into the sac but cannot get out, stranguation occurs. The small opening pinches off the blood supply and unless surgery is done the bowel becomes gangrenous.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

I. L. writes: My 7-year-old daughter has a functional or innocent heart murmur. Just what is this and is there cause for alarm?

REPLY

No. The innocent murmurs are caused by the heart rubbing against the lungs or chest wall. Similar sounds stem from changes in the hemodynamics of the blood flow through the heart.

PREGNANCY POSSIBILITY

N. F. writes: I am 50 years old and contemplating remarriage. My youngest child is 29 and I have been a widow for four years. Is it still possible for me to become pregnant? At my stage in life, who could be interested? Your answer may be a deciding factor.

REPLY

INFLAMED BURSA

B. E. writes: I have bursitis of the right shoulder. I did not hurt myself in that area and wonder how I could have developed the condition.

REPLY

Bursitis is thought to result from a culmination of repeated irritations throughout the years rather than from one injury.

SPINAL ARTHRITIS

K. G. writes: What is Marie-Strumpell's disease?

REPLY

Nation's Joblessness Hits Nine-Year Low

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The nation's key unemployment rate fell in January to a nine-year low of 4 per cent of the labor force. Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz forecast it would drop below 3.5 per cent by the end of 1966.

The Labor Department said today the seasonally adjusted rate of joblessness edged down by one-tenth of 1 per cent from December to the lowest level since April, 1957.

It reached the "interim goal" for unemployment set by the President's Council of Economic Advisers four years ago.

A Labor Department spokesman said the jobless rate actually figured out to 3.952 but was rounded off to 4 per cent in line with normal statistical procedures.

Wirtz said in testimony prepared for the Joint Economic Committee that the nation's objective should be to lower the jobless rate to between 2 and 3 per cent.

The secretary said a 2 or 3 per cent rate could be achieved since it would allow for workers finding or changing jobs and about 0.5 per cent of unemployables. He also advocated expansion of manpower training programs to remedy any shortage of skilled workmen this year.

The January figure indicates that 40 workers out of every 1,000 were seeking jobs last month and could not find them.

Teen-age jobless rates still were triple the national rate even though they dropped by nearly 1 per cent to 12 per cent in January.

The rate of unemployment among non-whites, at 7 per cent, remained twice as high as the corresponding figure for white workers.

Harold C. Goldstein, assistant commissioner of labor statistics, forecast a continued "upward thrust" in employment because of the buildup in the armed forces, higher defense spending and the boom in civilian goods.

Average hourly earnings of factory workers inched up by one cent to $2.67, a new peak. But weekly earnings of the typical factory hand fell by $1.20 to $109.74 because of shorter working hours last month.

The average factory work week, at 41.1 hours, and average overtime, 3.6 hours a week, both were at their highest levels for this time of year since World War II.

'Tattoed Lady' Fatally Stabbed

OAKLAND (UPI)—Mrs. Frances Bridges, 40, known to her West Oakland neighbors as "The Tattooed Lady," was found yesterday stabbed to death in her apartment.

Officers said she had been stabbed 10 or 12 times with an icepick or knife.

Mrs. Bridges received her nickname from the many tattooed hearts and birds on her arms and ankles.

There were signs of a "terrific struggle" in the living room of her apartment, police said.

Radio Free Europe Claims More Audience

NEW YORK (UPI) — Twenty-two million Poles, Czechs, Hungarians, Rumanians and Bulgarians listen to Radio Free Europe, according to Free Europe Inc., the organization that operates the radio service.

John Richardson Jr., president of Free Europe, said in the corporation's annual report yesterday that two million more persons tuned to the broadcasts last year. Despite Communist efforts to hamper operations, Richardson said, Radio Free Europe received more than 13,000 letters from listeners in Communist European nations.

Driver Is Given Suspended Sentence

Horace G. Carriker, 42, of Sonoma, was given a suspended $250 fine on condition that he pay $110, and was placed on one year's probation yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving.

He was arrested on Highway 101 by California Highway Patrol last Friday.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Hope, Mary Martin Bring War's Impact

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —When all is said and done concerning network television commentary on the Viet Nam war, it may well be that the two most influential programs were hosted by Bob Hope and Mary Martin.

That is not intended to be a flip remark about a very serious subject, but rather a straight and unadorned statement about a real situation. Hope's recent televised Christmas tour of overseas troops, including those in Viet Nam, rather closely underscored his personal views, and predictably got a tremendous rating.

Miss Martin last night appeared in a one-hour documentary about her around-the-world tour in "Hello, Dolly!" — with Viet Nam among the stopoff places—and her natural feelings were likewise underscored, and the program also predictably will get a big rating.

You can put on all the serious Sunday afternoon discussion shows about Viet Nam that you want, and even all the sober prime-time conversations, but there is no doubt that a broadcast such as that hosted by Hope or Miss Martin will have a vastly greater emotional impact, and be seen by a much larger audience.

NBC-TV, which put on both the Hope and Martin specials, undoubtedly is sharply aware of this fact.

The network said it was granted exclusive rights to present last night's program through the joint association of those who cooperated in the tour: The U. S. State Department's Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs, and David Merrick, producer of "Hello, Dolly!"

It is difficult to conceive of a more consummate television audience-grabber than yesterday's combination: Mary Martin, "Hello, Dolly!" and the boys in Viet Nam. To handle this project, NBC-TV assigned the very talented lady named Lucy Jarvis, who had a major hand in some noted video specials, among them "The Kremlin," "The Louvre" and the medical documentary "Who Shall Live?"

Miss Jarvis concentrated on three places in the "Hello Dolly!" tour: Japan, Viet Nam and London, the last getting rather short shrift. Very wisely, Miss Jarvis and Miss Martin do the narration as well.

Except for the emotional tugging of the Viet Nam sequences, the program was pretty much like "Hello, Dolly!" — amiable but not too memorable except for the title song, yet pleasantly unpretentious. Mr. Merrick, a rather remarkable fellow and promoter, and the heir apparent to Herr Ziegfeld, came off very well — a rarity for an on-camera producer. Likewise, Miss Jarvis' Tokyo sequences —chiefly a nightlife scene — were visually imaginative. But you will pardon me if the sentimental narrative about actors struck me as highly culpable fiction.

Tiburon Bus Stop Dropped By Greyhound

A bus stop across from Reed Ranch Road on Tiburon Boulevard will be eliminated from Greyhound Bus Co.'s San Francisco to Tiburon commuter run, a company official said today.

Riders will have to use the Belveron Gardens stop, two-tenths of a mile further down Tiburon Boulevard, according to present plans, said Elmer V. McVerry, superintendent of Greyhound's Marin County operations.

"Due to the highway construction on Tiburon Boulevard we can no longer stop right next to Reed Ranch Road. A narrow shoulder with a guard rail has been installed there, so a bus stopping at that spot protrudes way out into the road, McVerry explained.

Buses from Tiburon to San Francisco will continue to stop at Reed Ranch Road, where McVerry said there is still sufficient room for them to stop.

S. F. Confident Of Getting NHL Club

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Hockey League board of governors continued interviewing applicants today for franchises in a proposed 1967-68 expansion division that would double the present six-team circuit.

"We don't expect to make any announcements until Wednesday," NHL President Clarence Campbell said yesterday after groups from five cities appeared before the club owners in the first of a three-day series of presentations.

Representatives from two of the bidding cities — Baltimore and San Francisco-Oakland — came out of the session in a midtown hotel confident their applications will be accepted.

"I can't see how they can resist our bid," said Jake Embry, president of the Baltimore Clippers of the American Hockey League. "Baltimore is big league in other sports and we think it should be in hockey too."

Embry and Zanvyl Krieger, majority stockholder of baseball's Baltimore Orioles, own 90 per cent of the Clippers.

Emby said Baltimore has led the AHL in gate receipts in two of the three years the Clippers have been in the league and promised that the Baltimore Civic center can be expanded to meet seating capacity requirements of the NHL.

George Flaherty, one of the leaders of the San Francisco-Oakland group that includes Bing Crosby, also expressed confidence after meeting with the NHL governors and Campbell.

OAKLAND COLISEUM

Flaherty, part-owner of the Western Hockey League San Francisco Seals admitted that the city's arena, the Cow Palace, doesn't measure up to big league standards but said a San Francisco-Oakland club probably would be able to play in Oakland's spacious Alameda Coliseum, now under construction.

"We've been doing better than the Warriors of the National Basketball Association in the Cow Palace," Flaherty said, "and this is to the credit of San Francisco's hockey fans."

Groups from Los Angeles, Pittsburgh and Buffalo also made 30-minute presentations yesterday before the owners of the existing NHL clubs — Montreal, Toronto, Boston, Chicago, New York and Detroit.

Expected to be among today's bidders were four more groups from Los Angeles, another from Pittsburgh and one each from Vancouver, B.C., Minneapolis-St. Paul, Cleveland, Philadelphia and Louisville.

Four sites — Vancouver, San Francisco-Oakland, Los Angeles and St. Louis — were approved by the NHL last October as having adequate facilities but Campbell indicated yesterday that St. Louis has dropped out of the running.

KIALOA II FIRST TO ARRIVE IN ACAPULCO

ACAPULCO, Mex. (AP)—The 73-foot sloop Kialoa II was the first boat to arrive in the San Diego-Acapulco sailing race as it crossed the finish line at 8:17 a.m. today.

Kialoa's elapsed time for the 1,430 miles was eight days, 20 hours, 17 minutes and 36 seconds. Her corrected time was given as eight days, 11 hours, 8 minutes and 57 seconds.

San Francisco Yacht Club's 74-foot schooner Serena, owned and sailed by Ken DeMeuse, led most of the way but lost the lead late yesterday when the winds fell off. It was expected to reach port sometime today.

A funny thing happened to me on my way to work over the weekend. I stopped at Santa Rosa's 13th annual Sports Celebrity Banquet and, well, that was funny in itself, to wit and too witty:

JOHN BRODIE took some good natured needling about his six-interception performance in the Pro Bowl game in L.A. "I can't see too well down there," he smiled, adding, "Heck, I helped put all those guys in the Pro Bowl."

Shortly after his Pro Bowl nightmare the 49er quarterback, the comeback kid of 1965, played in the Crosby golf tourney, so someone at Santa Rosa couldn't resist giggling: "Brodie was afraid to hit the ball up in the air for fear someone would intercept it and run it in for a birdie."

CURT FLOOD, St. Louis Cardinals: "Yes, I guess you can call us a loose ball club. Playing for Anheuser-Busch it's difficult NOT being loose."

JIM MALONEY, Cincy Reds: "I played golf today with Curt Flood and found out how to pitch to him. I'll just walk up to the plate and tee up the ball and I KNOW he can't hit it out of the infield."

EMCEE LON SIMMONS: "Well, Willie, you've had a great career . . ."

Mays: "Wait a minute, wait a minute! Am I all finished, Lon Baby? Why you always say I HAD a great career? The kids are getting stronger and I'm getting weaker, but I ain't finished yet, Lon Baby."

PAUL WIGGIN, Cleveland Browns: "People ask me about Jimmy Brown and I mention that as big as he is he can run the 100 in 10 flat. They say, 'Heck, a lot of guys can run the 100 in 10 flat,' but I tell them, 'Dragging a piano?' "

DAVE PARKS, the 49ers' great end via Texas: "When I was a rookie Billy Wilson tried to hep me but I didn't know what he was talking about."

Emcee Simmons: "Well, that's because he was talking northern, Dave."

WAYNE HAWKINS, Oakland Raiders: "Coach (Al) Davis is a real worrier. I remember one game when Cotton Davidson injured his shoulder and the trainer put some ice packs on it. So Coach Davis comes running up to him and says, 'Can't you find any colder ice?' "

JACK CHRISTIANSEN, 49er coach: "When the rookies check into camp they don't know a thing. We teach them everything. It's ALL coaching. Seriously, our job is just getting the talent out of the boys. The younger players are the ones who usually make the mistakes. When we view films you ought to see them slink down in their seats. And they can come up with some of the damnedest excuses you've ever heard."

BOB ST. CLAIR, ex-49er: "People wonder why I watch the games from the sidelines instead of up in the stands. It's just that I can't fit into those damned seats at Kezar."

JOHN ARNETT, Chicago Bears: "Gale Sayers clinched the rookie of the year title when we 'eked' out that win against the 49ers. Until that game, however, I thought our middle linebacker, Dick Butkus, was the outstanding rookie in the league."

AL DAVIS, Raiders: "We fight expansion quite a bit because it means we have to give up four or five players to the new team."

BRUCE BOSLEY, 49er center: "I'm convinced 1966 will be our year and the players feel this, too."

WORDS OF advice offered to the youngsters in the audience of the March of Dimes benefit banquet:

Mike Garrett, USC's 5-foot-9 Heisman trophy winner: "Just grow."

Bo Roberson, Miami Dolphins: "Listen to your parents and I would hope they tell you to get an education."

ONLY TWO big name celebs failed to appear as advertised: Olympic champ Billy Mills and ex-world heavyweight king Rocky Marciano.

Warriors Bow Again To Celts

NEW YORK (AP) — Vanquished by the mighty Boston Celtics, the San Francisco Warriors are gunning for a victory over the lowly Detroit Pistons tonight in a National Basketball Assn. game.

The Warriors' foray last night against the Celtics, leaders of the Eastern Division, was crushed by a fourth-quarter Boston rally, 112-107.

That made six times this season that Boston has downed San Francisco without a loss.

By contrast, the Pistons have become almost the Warriors' personal whipping boy. San Francisco is 6-1 over Detroit, and the teams are third and last, respectively, in the Western Division.

The Celtics continued on a 22-9 rampage to wrap up the game in which San Francisco had led by as much as 16 points in the first half.

Willie Naulls scored 25 and Havlicek 18 to lead the Boston scoring. For San Francisco, Rick Barry hit 31, including 17 for 17 from the free throw line, and Nate Thurmond dumped in 25.

In the second period, Boston Coach Red Auerbach was tossed out of the game after he had called a timeout so he could continue an argument with referee Norm Drucker over a technical foul which San Francisco's Barry converted to a Warrior point.

'Bama Gave Too Many Grid Grants

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — The University of Alabama national college football champion the past two years, has been penalized by the Southeastern Conference for using to ineligible players in freshman games last fall.

Commissioner Bernie Moore ordered the school — perennial producer of football powerhouses under Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant — to limit its grants to incoming football players next fall to 38, two less than normally allowed.

Alabama President Dr. Frank A. Rose said Monday in Tuscaloosa that the school regrets the violation. He said it stemmed from a misinterpretation of rules, and that he is writing an apology to presidents of SEC schools.

Moore said an investigation showed Alabama permitted 42 new football players on financial aid to participate in freshman football games.

STARTS RHUBARB — When San Francisco Warrior Tom Meschery (14) was fouled on this play by Celtic John Havlicek (17) last night, Boston Coach Red Auerbach stormed off the bench and argued with officials. Auerbach was thrown out of the game for his troubles, but Celtics won anyway. (UPI Telephoto)

VETERAN MARIN COACH TO DIRECT OFFICIALS

Bob Fitzhenry, physical education department chairman at Sir Francis Drake High School, has been named commissioner of the North Bay Officials Assn., replacing 30-year veteran Walter Hemmerling.

Hemmerling retired the post after being appointed executive secretary of the Retired Teachers Assn. of California. He will keep his position as commissioner of the North Bay League.

Fitzhenry has been a member of the North Bay Officials Assn. since starting a coaching career at Drake when the school opened in 1951. Besides being department chairman at Drake, he's the varsity baseball coach and recreation director for the Drake school district.

He was voted commissioner of the officials association by principals of the North Bay League teams, after receiving his recommendaiton from a three-man committee of the group. The committee was made up of chairman Ralph Azevedo, principal of Rohnert Park High School in Petaluma; Ralph Duey, principal of Santa Rosa High School, and Bill Tully, principal of Ukiah High School.

BOB FITZHENRY
Heads officials

The North Bay Officials Assn. handles football and basketball officiating for both North Bay Leagues (I and II), the Marin Athletic League, and the North Central League, and three junior colleges — College of Marin, Santa Rosa Junior College and Napa Junior College. It's a total of 46 schools.

Among Fitzhenry's duties in his new post will be to assign jobs for the officials, head the association's training program, and set up clinics for association members.

"It's a job I have wanted for some time," said Fitzhenry, who just turned 44 last Sunday. Bob and wife Barbara have four children, Jack, 16, Colleen, 13, Patrick, 8, and Michael, 7. The family home is at 115 South Ridgewood Road, Kentfield.

Gunners Get Cage Awards; Gumina 'Most Underrated'

The gunners got the awards at yesterday's session of the Northern California Basketball Writers and Broadcasters Assn. but one coach lauded USF's Russ Gumina as the most underrated player in the league. Everett Goose) Adams of San Francisco State and Jerry West — the one who plays for St. Mary's and not the Los Angeles Lakers — were named players of the week after a lot of head scratching by the selection committee.

"It was a very difficult decision to make," a committee spokesman said.

Adams has averaged 39 points in the last three games while trying to pull the 'Gators of S. F. State out of a skid. One of these contests saw him vainly tally 58 points against Sacramento State.

West was honored for totalling 45 points in two contests while St. Mary's was besting Loyola and Pepperdine last weekend.

Adams couldn't attend the lunch because he was laid up with the flu. But West was on hand and said that the Gaels would battle to improve on their 2-3 mark in the West Coast Athletic Conference race.

Coach Stu Inman of San Jose State praised Gumina after the Spartans had bowed to USF, 81-65, last Saturday.

"He is the most underrated player in the conference," Inman said. "No one seems to do a good job when he is defending against them. Yet he is not fast and not a good jumper."

Stanford's Howie Dallmar said Oregon State looks to be a solid club. The Beavers currently lead the Pacific Athletic Conference with a 5-1 record and meet UCLA in Corvallis on Feb. 18.

In the West Coast Athletic Conference, the Dons of the University of San Francisco invade Stockton Saturday night to play the University of the Pacific. Each team currently is 5-0 in the conference.

Coach Dick Edwards of UOP praised the work of Keith Swaggerty and David Fox last weekend as the Tigers beat Loyola and Pepperdine. Swagerty tallied 38 points against Pepperdien and 22 against Loyola. Fox was 22 and 27 against the two.

Coach Pete Peletta of USF termed center Erwin Mueller outstanding in the 81-65 triumph over San Jose State in the latest outing. He also praised sophomore Dennis Black. Yet the man the Tigers must stop to beat USF must be jumping Joe Ellis, the high scoring forward.

$125,00 Salary For Giant Great

By JACK HANLEY

Willie Mays signed the sweetest contract in baseball history yesterday afternoon when he stopped by Candlestick Park and in 10 minutes approved a $125,000 agreement for his 1966 services.

Horace Stoneham wasn't in when Willie made his surprise visit but the president of the Giants by long distance from his Phoenix winter home quickly approved details of the contract worked out in record time by Mays and Chub Feeney, vice president of the ball club.

Neither Mays nor Feeney, following their swift conference which ended in smiles, made any formal announcement of Willie's new contract which represents a $20,000 increase over his 1965 salary of $105,000.

Stoneham, who is flying to San Francisco tonight, will make the formal announcement later in the week with Willie standing by his side in a re-enactment of the contract signing.

Jake Shemano, Willie's banker and financial advisor, didn't accompany Mays in his visit to Feeney's office. Mays spoke for himself just as he said he would last November when Shemano suggested that Mays should seek a $150,000 contract — a suggestion that prompted Stoneham to snap:

NO PROBLEMS

"Let Mr. Shemano run his banking business. I will run the Giants. When the time comes we'll sit down and discuss Willie's contract. We've never had any problems before."

And there was no problem this time because Willie now is in a tax bracket where the bite is quite heavy. Nevertheless, Mays felt he earned a raise even though most of it would go to the tax collector.

"I had a good enough 1965 season to merit a raise," said Mays, "but when a guy is in the $100,000 bracket his tax problems multiply."

Mays, indeed, had a good 1965 season. Perhaps it was his greatest in 14 years as a major leaguer. Among other things, he hit 52 home runs, 17 of them in one month to set a National League record; won his second MVP award; his 12th straight All-Star bid; passed Stan Musial and Lou Gehrig on the all-time homer list and pulled within shooting distance of all homer marks except Babe Ruth's 714.

LEAGUE RECORD

With a total of 505 homers going into the 1966 season, Mays this year routinely should pass Mel Ott's all-time National League record of 511 and move ahead of Ted Williams (521) and Jimmy Fox (534) into second place behind Ruth.

Some devoted Giant fans, such as the club's veteran secretary Eddie Brannick, believe Mays will even pass Ruth's 714 before his career ends.

"If nothing happens to me, I should pass the others," said Willie who will be 35 May 6. "But Ruth's 714? That's impossible. I'd have to hit better than 40 a year."

Willie didn't say "40 a year for the next five years" but the implication was clear. He definitely believes he is good for five more years.

Cal Gives Willsey New Pact

BERKELEY (AP) — Football coach Ray Willsey, who last season guided the California Bears to their best record since 1958, has signed a new three-year contract for a raise in pay.

Pete Newell, Bears' athletic director, disclosed yesterday that Willsey had signed an agreement extending through February 1969. Newell did not announce the amount of Willsey's new salary, but it was thought to be about $20,000 a year.

Willsey last season compiled a 5-5 record. He took over in 1964.

Rumors that pro teams, including the Washington Redskins and the St. Louis Cardinals, had approached Willsey had only a slight bearing on the decision, Newell said.

"The principal reason was that he had done a fine job, and we believed this was the proper time to indicate it," the athletic director said.

"We wanted him to be secure in his own mind, and there is no denying that the reports he might accept another offer would hamper our recruiting efforts. A boy might hesitate to come to a school if he thought the coach might be leaving in six months."

Willsey himself discounted the reports of pro offers, saying, "I wasn't keenly interested and I discouraged any conversations. So I really had no place to go."

Willsey was beginning the third year of his old four-year contract when he signed the new one which supercedes it.

Promoter Is Honored By Ring Society

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Oakland matchmaker and promoter Don Chargin was named yesterday as Northern California's man-of-the-year in boxing by the Society for California Boxing.

He will receive the Russ Newland Memorial Award, honoring the former Associated Press sports writer, at the society's annual banquet on March 6.

Other awards went to heavyweight Henry Clark as best prospect, Pepper Brown as best preliminary fighter, and Jack Downey as most popular referee.

Sorry, Fellas, But Fishing Is Lousy

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

The bearer of ill tidings is unwelcome by most folks. And an outdoor writer who is forced to report an honest summary of piscatorial events over the past week suffers from not being able to pass along some stirring news. So listen to all the ill news first today and be ready to forgive this reporter when some good news is reported.

Here we go: From Caruso's place at Sausalito I was told that no herring have made appearance since the short spurt some time ago. No boat skipper has reported in with news of bass being caught.

Don Smith of Don's Bait House at Clearlake Highlands lamented the fact that all fishing has been in the doldrums the past week: "No black bass, very few crappies and bluegills have come in, and very few mudcats have been caught. Lake water is perfectly clear. Things should pick up." I say "amen" to that last statement.

You all know that steelhead fishing is out—will be for another week, or longer, if more rains happen.

Charlie Schmeltz of Dowrelio's Harbor at Crockett sadly reported a big drop in sturgeon production the past week. "Only about two sturgeon per boat for the entire week," Charlie reported.

Nothing worthwhile to report from Lake Berryessa; like Clear Lake, all fishing slowed down.

So let's lower the curtain on the sad tidings above and regale ourselves with some good news. The Reel Special out of Caruso's place at Sausalito had a party of 40 anglers aboard on Saturday and berthed with 82 ling cod and about 200 assorted rockfish.

Alice Quan of China Camp gleefully reported good striper fishing on Saturday with a probable average of two bass per angler, and five nice sturgeon. On Sunday one boat came in at 11 a.m. with limits of bass. Best results were had between the Pump House and the S.P. Buoy. (Incidentally, that is the area that yielded a record 35 pound bass to the expert fishing of Earl Hastings).

SEASON HIGH

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wilt Chamberlain was held to his season low when the Philadelphia 76ers dropped out of second place in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division. Less than 24 hours later, he got his high as they moved back into the No. 2 spot.

Chamberlain, who got only 14 points in Sunday's 100-99 loss to the Boston Celtics, pumped in 65 last night in the 76ers' 132-125 victory over Los Angeles.

Chamberlain passed the current season's high of 57 points by San Francisco's Rick Barry by hitting on 28 field goals and nine of 20 foul shots as the 76ers halted their losing streak at three games.

WSU Downs Troy, Bruins Bounce Back

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Washington State has shown the southern members of the Pacific Athletic Conference — UCLA and Southern California —that pin-point shooting is a inning recipe for basketball.

The Cougars defeated UCLA 83-82 on Saturday night and last night they trimmed Southern Cal's Trojans, 75-62. Washington State hit 28 of 50 shots from the floor for 56 per cent in the latter game.

The UCLA Bruins snapped back after Washington State's upset and tumbled Washington University 89-67. The victory left the Uclans with a 4-2 record, tied with Stanford for second in the conference.

Oregon State's Beavers currently are on top of the PAC with a 5-1 record. Washington State and USC have 3-3 records as does Oregon. California and Washington have 1-4 records.

Dennis Klocke led the Cougars to victory over Southern Cal with 22 points. His teammate, Jim McKean hit 17. John Block led all scorers with 30 points for the Trojans.

UCLA's well known zone press bothered Washington in the opening minutes of their encounter. The Bruins built up an early lead over Washington and never trailed. Washington got no closer than 10 points in the second half.

Freddie Goss scored 19 points for the Bruins even though he as cut of the game for eight minutes because of an injury. He was hit over the left eye by an elbow in the first half and needed stitches.

Dave Hovde led Washington with 17 points.

Duke Upset, Loses Top Cage Rating

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

To play or not to play — that was the question. And there just wasn't any answer to Duke's Blue Devils.

Today the Blue Devils find themselves second in The Associated Press weekly poll after occupying the top spot for eight straight weeks.

But it was idleness, not West Virginia, that knocked Duke out of first place. The poll was based on performance through last Saturday, and Duke was idle last week while unbeaten Kentucky, now No. 1, won three times.

Kentucky won its 18th straight Monday night by defeating Florida 85-75. The only other member of the Top Ten to see action was No. 9 Nebraska, an 85-81 winner over Oklahoma.

Halas Names New Aide To Bears' Staff

Halas previously boosted Jim Dooley to defensive coach and shifted backfield coach Chuck Mather to the position of player talent scout. Both of these assignments had been held by George Allen, who recently left the Bears to become head coach of the Los Angeles Rams.

Cody joined the Bears as assistant last April after serving as head coach at San Bernardino Valley College for three seasons. The one-time star Purdue fullback was the No. 1 National Football League draft choice of the Green Bay Packers in 1947 and was traded to the Bears two years later.

He played linebacker and fullback two years for the Bears, then coached St. Rita's High School in Chicago until 1955 before going to the University of California at Santa Barbara as head coach. He as anassistant at Washington State before taking over at San Bernardino.

"Cody has a rare knack for developing backfield talent," said Halas.

Packers Appoint New End Coach

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Bob Schnelker, former New York Giant end, has been appointed end coach with the Green Bay Packers, the Packers announced today.

A nine-year National Football League veteran, Schnelker caught 213 passes for 3,713 yards during his career and was twice named to the Pro Bowl squad. His best season was 1959 when he caught 37 passes for 714 yards and six touchdowns.

The appointment of Schnelker fills the last coaching vacancy at Green Bay. The Packers have already announced the hiring of former Iowa Coach Jerry Burns to replace Norb Hecker, named head coach of the new Atlanta team.

OH, BOY!—Pretty Randi Lee Horn, 16, can't understand why school officials won't let her join her San Diego high school's boys' swimming team. Miss Horn is a three-time springboard diving champion in Junior Olympic competition. See story. (AP Wirephoto)

Girl Wants Position On Boys' Swim Squad

By ROBERT BURNETT

SAN DIEGO (AP) — "Why should the fact that I'm a girl make a difference?" asked 16-year-old Randi Lee Horn.

And San Diego school officials answered her by turning down her request to compete with the boys' swimming team.

Randi is not the first girl to try and crack the world of male athletic competition — some college co-eds already have broken the line — but she may have been the first to make the attempt at the high school level.

And she still might succeed. Although San Diego officials have so far kept her out of the pool, the matter of co-ed competition will be discussed by the California Interscholastic Federation at its next meeting.

A three-time winner at the Junior Olympics in springboard diving, Randi believes she is hampered by the lack of opportunity to compete and so stated in a letter to the San Diego Board of Education, asking for permission to join the boys' team.

"Couldn't it be left up to the coach's discretion to say who shall benefit the team, boy or girl?" asks Randi. "The team, the coach and I feel that I will be of value to the team. Why should the fact that I'm a girl make a difference?"

Besides, said Randi, she hadn't leaped without thought.

"It's been in the back of my mind for a long time," she said. "I talked to my parents and to my coach. They didn't offer any encouragement. But they didn't discourage me, either."

However, Don Clarkson did. The administrator for the city schools, Clarkson explained that the California Interscholastic Federation provides for competition only among boys and the rules of the San Diego section "expressly prohibit girls from competing on boys' teams."

Clarkson, meanwhile, said the organization has been studying the possibility of setting up a separate sports program for girls.

The olive branch, however, won't stop Randi in her battle.

"I'd settle for a separate girls' team," she said, "but by the time the schools got that started, I'd be a granny."

CLASS A PRO

Even Nicklaus Goes To School

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, golf's leading money winner two years in a row, is going to school to learn more about the game — also to become a full-fledged PGA member.

It's mainly the business end that concerns big Jack right now and he's cramming on it while laying off of the big tour where Arnold Palmer, his arch rival, is making a sensational start.

The man who amassed $152,246.88 last year just playing golf is attending the PGA's business school that runs five days in San Antonio.

It's an intensive instruction course on being an independent business man in operating a golf shop.

The former king of the amateurs was winning gobs of money on the tour for four years but he's still not a class A member of the PGA, something that would entitle him to play on the Ryder Cup team. A pro has to go through a five-year probationary period before getting the top classification.

The school here will count a full year and that will finish up his period of waiting.

Nicklaus checked in yesterday and when the students adjourned he sped out to San Antonio Country Club to spend his lunch hour on the practice tee.

"My schedule for the year is pretty well set and right now I am starting to get my game in shape for the Masters April 7-10," said Nicklaus.

He won't return to the tour until March 10 when he enters the Doral Open at Miami. First he will play a series of six exhibitions in South Africa with Gary Player. He figures this all will get him on his game to defend his Masters Championship.

The schedule worked out by Nicklaus calls for him to be on a fishing vacation of two to three weeks after the Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas. This means he will miss the Dallas Open, the Texas Open here and possibly the Houston Classic in late April and early May.

When it was suggested that he might want to review his playing schedule in the light of Palmer's great start toward the money winning crown with about $30,000 bagged since the first of the year, Nicklaus said: "I want to be the top money-winner; certainly it means a lot to a player to be the top man in that, but I don't believe it is important enough to change all my plans."

Nicklaus and some 70 other professionals from 15 states, Mexico and Canada are learning more about the business than the playing side of golf with today's session including such topics as golf shop advertising, planning the future, turf management, running club tournaments, golf cart operations and golf club repair service.

Everything from accounting procedures to tax problems and from investments to first aid are on the Wednesday program.

Thursday' session deals with teaching fundamental golf.

Instructors at these sessions will include Byron Nelson, Earl Stewart Jr. and Harvey Penick. Harry Eckhoff, executive director of the National Golf Foundation, and Joseph C. Dey, executive director of the USGA, are leading speakers later in the week.

Another Baseball 'Raid' On College Stirs Row

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The anger of colleges at major league raids of collegiate baseball talent flared again yesterday after University of Missouri outfielder Dan Rudanovich signed with the Boston Red Sox.

Missouri Coach John C. (Hi) Simmons, who has lost five players with remaining eligibility in the last six years, called the signing "unfair and unethical."

"The commissioner of baseball should enact some legislation to prevent promiscuous signing of boys out of college," he said. "If we don't put a stop to mid-year drafting of college players, the colleges will lose the nucleus of their clubs each spring."

However, Simmons received a return blast from Red Sox scout Don Lenhardt, who signed Rudanovich, 21, of St. Louis, who was fourth in the nation last year with a .463 batting average in 22 games.

Lenhardt called Simmons "way off base."

"How could I sign him if he didn't want to sign?" Lenhardt asked. "He (Rudanovich) named a figure — and we gave it to him."

Rudanovich is believed to have signed for about $25,000.

"They're not any more interested in Dan's earning a degree than we are," Lenhardt added. "I don't see what they're shouting about — colleges recruit kids too, don't they?

"This happens all the time. And I can't see that it's unethical. As long as it's legal, I'm home free. I do what the club tells me to do. If Dan had waited until he'd graduated, though, he'd have lost his bargaining value."

According to baseball protocol, clubs can't sign collegians in their freshman or sophomore year, but anything goes in the third and fourth years.

Simmons said baseball should follow the policies of football and basketball, waiting until collegians finished their eligibility before an offer is made.

Brannum In Line For Celtic Post

BOSTON (AP) — Bob Brannum, the Boston Celtics' former "policeman" on the court, reportedly is in line to become coach of the National Basketball Assn. club.

Brannum, whose rugged play helped the Celtics en route to seven straight NBA titles, is listed as the No. 1 candidate when Red Auerbach steps down as coach to devote full time to front office duties.

Otto Graham Will Lose In Style . . .

But a little note in the prints the other day caught my eye. It said that a full captain of the U.S. Coast Guard was transferring from Old Lyme, Conn., to Washington.

It wasn't that this would leave the whole coastline of New England unprotected or that there woul be nobody to order corvettes out to the weather stations to read the barometers or be on the lookout for submarines or Sunday yachtsmen who had put their alcohol in wrong tanks. It was just that this might mean the world championship for the Washington Redskins—and it is on calamities of this sort that cabinets fall, Art Buchwald might turn into Walter Lippmann (or vice versa), the Republicans might get back in.

BECAUSE THE full captain (a military term not to be confused with the loaded colonel) is Otto Everett Fraham Jr., one of the all-time trend-buckers in history.

Otto was probably the best thrower of a football who ever lived. He passed for more yardage in 10 years than Sammy Baugh did in 16. He won 10 straight championships in two different pro leagues for the Cleveland Browns where he became known as "Automatic Otto" but his coach, Paul Brown, didn't think that much talent should be trusted to a mere football player; so he sent in the plays. The jury could never figure out whether the coach made Otto a great quarterback or vice versa. They found out when Otto retired. Management sent Paul Brown to join him.

OTTO COULD have had his choice of jobs when he quit playing. The Big Ten was on the phone. So were a half a dozen pro teams. Otto chose to go to the Coast Guard Academy, a little-known service school in New London where money was every object. Otto got the same salary as the skipper of a cutter, i.e., a few thousand a year and all the fish he could catch. "Otto," commented a friend, "is living in the lap of poverty."

THE COAST GUARD was a football power about on a par with the Harvard Frosh. The last time they had a real good football player on the campus the service's main job was trimming wicks in lighthouses and keeping a sharp lookout for Captain Kidd. Using only the forward pass and plays from the bench, Otto had strugled his way all the way to the bottom. He not only didn't have to recruit, he couldn't He had to pick a football team out of weather forecasters, radar scanners. The Academy spent much more time learning to tie bow knots than pass footballs.

AS A MAN with nothing to lose, Otto fell into that common failing of the breed: He always told the truth. Football coaches have great respect for the truth, in fact, too much respect to use it just any old time. But Otto wasn't a football coach; he was a captain in the Coast Guard. They asked him if pro football was getting too "dirty" and Otto said, "I'll say!" They asked him why he didn't use Jim Brown in the All-Star game and Otto said, "Because he can't block." Clearly, Otto was no man to get to make out your income tax for you.

Otto also has noted. "There is no secret to football. Get the best players and you'll win."

This is a theory which Napoleon adhered to, also, but football coaching as a profession depends on a large hunk of myth. The only films Otto studied at night had horses in them.

THEY MADE him a captain to up his salary to $12,000, which wouldn't pay the bar bills for some coaches; but Otto was happy as the only landlocked sea captain on Long Island Sound. "As a captain," a friend noted. "Otto is without a pier."

They made Otto the coach of the College All-Stars in the game against the pro champion, which was a little like putting him in charge of a leaking ship or starring in a hanging. Otto became famous for benching Heisman Trophy winners Otto did manage to beat the pros one year, which was a bigger upset than Cassius Clay saying "No comment" but it was generally overlooked in the chorus of catcalls for his selection of players. "Otto" went the refrain, "picked his teams by holding the pro draft list upside-down."

OTTO BECAME a civilian again last week. The Coast Guard didn't pipe him over the side or order him to turn in his seasick pills. The Washington Redskins, kind of pro football's version of the Coast Guard Academy, hired him on as head coach. "Otto will be right at home," a friend predicted; "htey haven't got any football players either."

The difference is Otto will be able to lose in style. Rumor has it his no-cut contract calls for him to get the first three floors of the State Department, everything west of Pennsylvania Avenue and golfing privileges on the White House lawn. The only thing he won't get any more is saluted by ensigns or free rides out to Ambrose Light and back. The last guy who came to the captial under such a fat contract had to be passed by Congress and swear he wasn't a Communist. Otto not only isn't a Communist; he probably isn't even a Democrat.

HE HASN'T begun to think like a civilian yet. I caught up with him on the 18th fairway at the Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic here the other day and, before you could say "Aye, aye, sir!" Otto had unloaded himself of the opinion that 'I'm no miracle man but we will not lose playing conservative football." They will lose, in other words, spectacularly.

OTTO IS aware of his mechanical-man reputation. As he was having a (for him) bad second round in tournament, a wag commented," No wonder. He doesn't have Paul Brown to pick the clubs for him." But the ex-captain is not moved. "I will send in some plays. But my quarterbacks will be on their own—and will always be able to call 'automatics' on the line of scrimmage." He has not retreated on his "dirty play" stand either. "I think anybody caught at foul play should be removed from the game for a period of time like in hockey and the offending team should have to play one man short."

THERE ARE those who think if the Washington Redskins ever have to play one man short, Otto Graham will be back guarding the coast in no time. Or they'll put him in a rowboat and point him toward Tahiti.

Federal Savings Plans Expansion; Bank Executives Swap Locations

Spring expansion plans of San Rafael Federal Savings and Loan Assn., 874 Fourth Street, San Rafael will give this firm another 1,200-1,500 square feet of floor space along the arcade, absorbing the Mon Treche dress shop, which will relocate. This should be sometime in April.

Meanwhile San Rafael Federal has used up all its safety deposit boxes for customers and is already in the process of picking up some extra room here for another 3,000 boxes. Contractor Louis A. Yuvan should have them ready in a few days.

TWO ASSISTANT VICE PRESIDENTS of Crocker - Citizens National Bank have swapped locations: John G. Oldfin, at the San Rafael main office for the past two years, has been given the managership of the Kings Beach office at North Shore, Tahoe—replacing Charles F. Boothby, who has been brought to the San Rafael office as assistant manager.

Oldfin joined Crocker-Citizens

Oldfin

Boothby

in 1960 after seven years of commercial and investment banking in Canada. He served as assistant vice president and manager of offices in Sunnyvale and San Jose before coming to San Rafael.

Boothby joined the bank at Sacramento in 1947 and completed its administrative training program at San Francisco in 1960. He was assistant manager at two other offices before his assignment to Kings Beach.

RICHARD D. OSLUND of Greenbrae has been promoted to credit officer at Wells Fargo Bank's San Rafael office, replacing Laurance D. Cox, who has been made assistant manager at the new Geary-Spruce office in San Francisco. Oslund joined the bank as a management trainee less than a year ago.

DONALD SEDERBERG, Mill Valley sheet metal contractor, has been named president of the Associated Sheet Metal Contractors, Inc. for Marin, Sonoma, Lake, Napa and Solano Counties. Other officers for 1966 include Kenneth Malm of Santa Rosa, vice president, and Stanley Knoles of San Rafael, secretary-treasurer. Directors are Charles Allen, Vallejo; Paul Cloutier, Santa Rosa; Eddie Oliver, San Rafael and John Carnohan, Santa Rosa.

ROBERT D. COLBURN, executive manager of the Redwood Empire chapter of the National Electrical Contractors Assn. for the past 10 years, has been appointed to the council on industrial relations for the electrical contracting industry. Karl Stolting of Santa Rosa, governor of the local chapter for 10 years, has been appointed to the national research committee.

Koppers Buys Alkyd Plant In Richmond

The Richmond production plant of American Alkyd Indutries of California has been purchased by Koppers Co., Inc.

The American Alkyd plant, built in 1961, produces polyester, alkyd and amine resins, and has been headed by Paul J. Skvaril, a resident of Tiburon. Skvaril will remain as general manager of the 4.5-acre facility and no personnel changes are planned.

This will be Koppers' fifth West Coast plant. The company currently operates a tar processing plant at Fontana and is constructing another similar facility in Portland. Wood treating plants are located at Oroville and Wilmington.

Koppers is headquartered in Pittsburgh, Pa. and has a total of 85 plants across the country operating in six divisions: Tars and chemicals, metal products, engineering and construction, forest products, associated operations and international operations.

Airline Agrees To Expansion

ORLANDO, Fla.—National Airlines board of directors has approved a $161 million jet fleet expansion program.

Included are new orders for 25 Boeing 727-235, long body trijets, a Dougles DC-8-61 stretchout jet and three Boeing 727-100 series which the airline ordered last May.

Directors also declared a cash dividend of 15 cents per share on the common stock of the company payable April 8 to stockholders of record on March 18.

Stocks Recover From Peace Feeler Rumor

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed lower today but had greatly reduced its losses taken in a selling squall prompted by a report of a peace feeler from North Viet Nam.

Defense stocks and others were dumped in heavy selling. Prices improved in the final hour.

Losses of 5 or 6 points by many of the aerospace defense stocks were sliced to a point or so.

Here was the picture near the close:

Volume was estimated at 10.5 million shares compared with 7.95 million yesterday.

Brokers attributed the turnabout to a news report that President Ho Chi Minh of North Viet Nam had asked the Indian government to initiate peace moves in Viet Nam.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which had been ahead 2.40 at 992.09 at 1 p.m. fell 6.06 to 983.63 at 2 p.m.

Aircrafts and airlines, which had been leaders during the market's morning advance, were hard hit.

Douglas Aircraft and Boeing dropped 5 points and United Aircraft and General Dynamics fell 4.

Losses of 2 points were taken by Pan American World Airways and Eastern Air Lines. American Airlines and United Air Lines were off around a point.

The slump spread to the steels and the motors with U.S. Steel and Jones & Laughlin down a point or more and General Motors, Ford and Studebaker off about 2 points.

Corporate bonds were mostly unchanged and Treasuries were unchanged to slightly lower.

ICC Due To Rule Any Day On Pennsy, Central Merger

By RICHARD F. NEWCOMB
AP Newsfeature Writer

Back in the bad old days, merging a coupie of railroads was as easy as falling off a trestle.

The tycoons did it every day, and often in the dark of the night, when the stockholders and public weren't looking. Sometimes it was done with black bags full of money, including enough to buy a whole state legislature.

Business isn't done that way anymore (if the regulating agencies can prevent it), but mergers still take place. In fact, one merger expected to get government approval any day will produce the largest private rail network in the world.

It is the merger of the Pennsylvania Railroad and the New York Central Railroad, nearly five years in the making. The process began Nov. 8, 1961, with joint announcement by the two roads of their intention to merge. Two months later directors of both systems approved the plan, and formal application to the Interstate Commerce Commission followed on Mar. 9, 1962. (The ICC got in the act in 1887 with passage of the Interstate Commerce Act, designed to curb the riotous railroad shennanigans of those days.)

Stockholders of both lines approved the merger in May, 1962. Pennsy holders by 98.7 per cent and Central shareholders by 99.3 per cent. Then followed 128 days of public ICC hearings, the longest hearing in a rail merger case. Anybody with something to contribute got a chance to be heard, in 102 days of hearings in Washington, and in 17 cities, from Boston to Chicago.

Altogether, 461 witnesses were heard, and their testimony came to 40,000 pages, enough to fill 40 volumes. This included the views of railroad users, labor unions, the public, and municipal, state and federal governments. The railroad managements [illegible]ed separately with unions representing 98 per cent of their organized labor that no workers on either road would lose his employment because of the merger.

Last March the two ICC examiners who had heard the case recommended approval of the merger, with a few extra recommendations. The most important of these was that the new company also take over the freight service of the New Haven Railroad, some 1,652 miles of line between Boston and New York. (The New Haven's passenger service, mostly commuter service to New York, would presumably be preserved by some state agencies.)

Now, formal approval by the full 11-member ICC is expected, and awaited. The result will be a new company, the Pennsylvania New York Central Transportation Company, or Penn-Central for short. It will be a 19,600-mile system, covering 14 states from Boston to St. Louis-Chicago, from Montreal to Washington-Norfolk, and from Louisville to Mackinaw City. It's a $5 billion deal, putting together a road with nearly 5,000 locomotives.

Hawaii Earnings Show Increase

HONOLULU — Consolidated revenues of the Hawaii Corp. for the nine months period ended Dec. 31 were $36,682,000, compared to $35,403,600 for the same period a year ago.

Consolidated net earnings were $1,243,180, or 66 cents per share, an earnings increase of $450,162 over the same period last year.

The consolidated net earnings as announced by President George E. Freitas, included a gain of $653,498 resulting from the sale of Waikiki Beach property to Sheraton Hawaii Inc.

Arden-Mayfair Gains

LOS ANGELES — Arden-Mayfair, Inc., 1965 fourth quarter earnings rose 27.9 per cent over the same period in the prior year. Profits totaled $2,015,539 for the quarter compared with $1,576,101 for the same period in 1964. Sales for the quarter were up 8.3 per cent to $131,117,824 from $121,030,593 in the previous year.

San Rafael Council Stands Pat On Parallel Parking

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Two hours of public hearing and debate last night failed to change the 3-2 lineup of the San Rafael City Council in favor of converting Fourth Street to parallel parking.

When it became evident the vote remained intact, Mayor C. Paul Bettini directed City Engineer Ely Caillouette to get started on the changeover.

Lothar Salin, owner of a print shop at Second and C streets, led off with a presentation on behalf of the Merchants Against Parallel Parking.

He presented petitions which he said carried "1,840-odd" signatures against the change from diagonal parking. The names were all collected in downtown stores, he said.

A woman in the audience, however, asked how many of the signers were children, saying she had seen "masses of youngsters" signing the petition in a doughnut shop.

"Roughly one in 10 added a note saying that if it is changed to parallel, they'll shop elsewhere," he said. "This is where the rub lies . . . I'm sure we're all aware that the main revenues of our city come from the sales tax."

Fourth Street should not be converted to a through traffic street, said Salin: "It's a shopping street."

He admitted parallel parking would mean faster traffic movement, but contended that is not what is needed, pointing out that several studies of the downtown have proposed that Fourth Street be made a pedestrian mall.

The only two off-street parking lots that have room for overflow are those at Fifth Avenue and C Street and at Third Street and Lootens Place, and these are too far from merchants who would lose parking spaces by the change-over, Salin contended.

He stressed that at least 89 parking spaces would be lost, and claimed there is no place to put those cars.

Irving Chapman, proprietor of Chapman's Shoes at 1236 Fourth Street, made the presentation for merchants favoring parallel parking. He presented the council with several letters favoring the change, but no petition.

Chapman insisted that "we must make it easier for people to get into San Rafael," and that "Fourth Street traffic is unbearably congested."

He said the lost curb spaces which were variously estimated at 86 and 89) would be replaced by spaces made available "in the area we are standing in or sitting in right now" when the old city hall is torn down, and on the new city hall site.

He said a chamber of commerce survey showed 60 of 61 member merchants downtown in favor of the change, and a poll of all chamber members showed about 2-to-1 in favor.

Chapman then presented Kenneth E. Hultgren, field representative for the National Safety Council, and Royal S. Neilson, assistant managing director of the California Traffic Safety Foundation, to back up his arguments.

Hultgren said there are three to four times as many traffic accidents with angle parking, and parallel parking can move

GAVIN SAYS VIET AREA NOT FOR GLOBAL WAR

Says If China Forces Conflict Right Place Would Be Manchuria

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retired Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin said today if Red China forces global war, Southeast Asia would be the wrong place for the United States to fight.

He told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee the right place would be the Manchurian area, which he termed the center of Red Chinese military-industrial strength.

"To be very objective in the military sense," Gavin said, "I would say if China brings upon herself a global war the place to fight her is not in Southeast Asia."

Gavin, testifying in the committee inquiry into the war in Viet Nam, also raised the possibility of blockading the North Viet Nam port of Haiphong.

He talked of that alternative when Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., asked his advice on U.S. bombing of Haiphong, thus far spared in American raids.

But minutes later, he told Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., a blockade would pose grave problems for the United States, not only with the Soviet Union and other Communist nations but with American allies.

'SERIOUS TROUBLE'

"I think we'd be in very serious trouble with our allies," Gavin said after Morse questioned whether even Great Britain would honor a blockade.

Gavin is former chief of Army research and planning.

As he began testifying, chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., quoted President Johnson in support of the committee's inquiry into Asian policy.

Fulbright commented at the outset of today's hearing that the nation is confronted by "some momentuous decisions in the near future" as to where escalation of the war in Viet Nam might lead.

ASIAN POLICY

Then he cited Johnson's words as one of the precedents for the committee's decision to make a public examination of Asian policy.

He did not mention the President by name, but said the then Senate leader, discussing what the U.S. role should be just before the French surrender of Indochina at Dien Phen Phu, said that "we will insist upon a clear explanation of policies in which we are asked to cooperate."

Fulbright cited a statement by Johnson, then Senate Democratic majority leader, on May 6, 1954, in support of what he called the committee's search for "enlightment."

Gavin told the committee the United States "must do the best it can with the forces we have in Viet Nam."

He said "we had better look hard at our Viet Nam commitments" which he described as largely out of bounds.

He said last week he is in favor of "staying where we are" by holding "areas where we have an air base, a seaport and troops." He said he thinks bombing of North Viet Nam "had to be resumed" but he wants the United States to "slow down, back up and see where we are."

Humphrey Due Asia Mission

COMBINED AP & UPI

HONOLULU — President Johnson in a dramatic new plan involving the war in Southeast Asia early today summoned Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey to fly back to Saigon with leaders of the South Viet Nam government.

This development came as Johnson wound up his peace-and-war conferences with Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, chief of state of South Viet Nam, and Premier Nguyen Cao Ky. The principals planned to issue a communique later today.

Johnson planned to take off for the mainland at 2 p.m. PST and fly first to Los Angeles where he will meet Humphrey. The President and the vice president will confer for about an hour and a half at Los Angeles International Airport. The President then will continue on to Washington, arriving there early tomorrow.

Moyers said Humphrey, after seeing Johnson in Los Angeles, would fly on to Honolulu tonight. The South Vietnamese leaders will remain here overnight and then the entire party will leave for the Far East tomorrow.

After Saigon, according to the White House, Humphrey will visit six other countries in Southeast Asia and the subcontinent as a continuation of the efforts begun here between Johnson, Thieu and Ky.

Agriculture secretary Orville L. Freeman and a small group of American technical experts also will fly back to Saigon with Thieu, Ky and Humphrey.

Their mission is to implement broad plans made here to facilitate the internal improvement of South Viet Nam through a variety of programs involving agriculture, education, health and economics.

U.S. Soldiers Storm Reds' Strongholds

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. paratroopers under heavy fire assaulted well-fortified Communist positions 230 miles northeast of Saigon and killed an estimated 108 Viet Cong in bitter hand-to-hand fighting, a U.S. military spokesman reported today.

The Communists were killed by the 101st Airborne Division troops in two battles yesterday along the coastal plain southwest of Tuy Hoa. The Americans sustained "moderate" to "light" casualties, the spokesman said.

PLANES LOST

Two American planes were lost today in the air war. A Navy A-4 Skyhawk was shot down on a raid over Communist North Viet Nam. The pilot parachuted on the coast about 30 miles south of Vinh but was not picked up. He was listed officially as missing but pilots said he was seen on the ground surrounded by people.

The pilot of a U.S. Air Force O1-F light observation plane escaped injury when it plunged 30 feet to earth on take-off today from the Cac Lanh air strip, 75 miles southwest of Pleiku in the central highlands.

Troops of the American 1st Air Cavalry Division and Vietnamese paratroopers meanwhile took control of the An Lao Valley 300 miles northeast of Saigon where they tried but failed to trap a major Communist force.

RED BASTION

The Allies made little contact today with the enemy in the region which had served as a district headquarters for Communist forces since the end of World War II. The valley also was the site of a major South Vietnamese defeat in 1964 when government troops tried to gain control of the longtime Communist bastion.

The Navy plane lost today was the seventh American aircraft shot down over the North in the nine days since the end of the 37-day bombing lull.

Police Find Marijuana Ring In Operation At Drake High

By STEPHEN COOK

San Anselmo police and the State Bureau of Narcotics have uncovered a ring of high school students who have sold and smoked marijuana on and near the Sir Francis Drake High School campus in San Anselmo.

A brother and sister, aged 17 and 16, both juniors at the high school and presumably the source of the Marin marijuana, have been cited to juvenile authorities for possession and sale of the drug.

Another 11 students, all juniors at the high school, have been implicated as users and sellers of marijuana. The statement of one 16-year-old San Anselmo girl indicates, and police acknowledge, "there could be more involved."

These facts were revealed today by San Anselmo Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani, who said a report of his department's investigation of case has been sent to county probation authorities.

Buchignani said the investigation began Jan. 24, when an agitated father called agent Vincent Chasten of the state bureau of narcotics and said his daughter, a junior at the high school, "knows of marijuana sales and possession at the school."

The girl named a 16-year-old Lagunitas student, the girl cited to juvenile authorities, as the source of the drug. The informant named three other 16-year-old girls she claimed were using the drug.

OTHER SOURCES

The police investigation, Buchignani said, led to hints of other sources of the drug, including two mysterious young men: one who waited after school on a fire trail behind Marin City, and another "who had the name of a bird or a fish" and sold his wares to students at Samuel P. Taylor Park during the summer.

Buchignani said the investigation did not disclose where the girl or her brother got their marijuana. He said their father, who said he would make a statement to the juvenile authorities, once told Francis P. Shafer, high school vice principal, that he "was worried because he and his wife had smoked the drug in front of their children."

LITTLE BOXES

Students questioned by police said the drug was sold, sometimes on campus, in little, red, white and blue matchboxes at $5 a box. "This is the correct price on the illegal market," Chief Buchignani said.

ASIAN REDS' COLD WAR VIEW

The Hong Kong communist newspaper Ta Kung Pao printed this map on its front page last week, with the caption at right reading "American Imperialist military bases surround China," and charged that the British are letting United States use Hong Kong as a base for Viet Nam activities, "an act of hostility against the people of China . . . and Viet Nam." Symbols at bottom, labeled in Chinese in the original publication, identify the types of locations of military might the communists claim the U.S. has poised against them. (AP Wirephoto via radio)

Legislature Gets Preview Of Budget

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown, calling "for new ways of meeting the challenges of the future," told the legislature today he will offer a record $4,606,838,000 budget, costing Californians $140 million in higher taxes.

He also asked lawmakers to help the residents of Los Angeles' Negro districts, scene of rioting last summer, and to relieve the property tax plight of impoverished, elderly homeowners.

For Education, Brown proposed $540 million in bond issues on the 1966 ballots. And he called for a stepped-up war on crime, with action against "efforts to impose mob rule, whether on the campus at Berkeley, in the streets of San Francisco or anywhere else in California."

Never before has Brown given the legislature an advance preview of the budget, but he said "I . . . want to begin today with a break with the past."

Brown said there was a deficit of some $240 million in his program, but added that he had found ways to balance the books.

County Sets Hearing On West Court

Marin County supervisors today set a hearing for 8 p.m., April 20 at West Marin School on the proposal to close the West Marin Just Court, having cases from that area handled by the municipal courts in San Rafael.

A committee of the Marin County Grand Jury recommended that move and said it could save $6,965 a year.

County Administrator Alan Bruce recommended that a hearing be held and Supervisor Thomas T. Storer insisted on it, saying there was "a great deal of concern among the people in the area."

If the court should be closed, Judge David R. Baty, who sits on the justice court bench, would be eligible for appointment to the next vacancy on the municipal court within two years after closure.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr said that this political facet should not be considered by the board. At issue, he said is the saving to the county balanced against loss in convenience to West Marin residents.

Judge Baty was not present at today's brief discussion.

Belvedere Citizens Gripe About Slides

By ROBERT M. COPPOCK

Parts of Belvedere last month slid down hill, while others filled with silt; some homes had floors covered with rainwater, and others with backed-up sewage.

The Belvedere City Council last night was asked by about 20 annoyed citizens to do something about the problems, and quickly. City Atty. William H. MacKay commented that probably in all cases the property owners involved were at least partly responsible.

Most irritated were residents of homes on San Rafael Avenue into which sewage backed up on Jan. 5, during the year's worst storm.

City Mgr. William L. Cavalli said electric power to three lift stations on the sewer line failed during the night. Auxiliary gasoline engines started automatically, he said, but they ran out of gas after about two and one-half hours.

No one knew they were on, he explained, adding that state law limits the amount of fuel that can be stored aboveground for such motors.

In the future, Cavalli said, lights will be placed outside the lift stations which will go on when auxiliary power is used.

But stoppages still may occur in the line in low areas, he warned, and homeowners should all install valves to stop sewage from backing up.

The council rejected several claims for sewage damage including one for $2,000, referring them to the city's insurance carrier.

Cavalli added that there is a pipeline which could carry sewer overflow directly to Richardson Bay, but the line was disconnected some years ago, to stop pollution of the bay.

He agreed with residents it would be better, in an emergen-

Senators Won't Nip Filibuster; Pro-Labor Leader Keeps Trying

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate refused today to invoke cloture and shut off the filibuster against the bill to end the right of states to outlaw the union shop.

The result was a defeat for President Johnson, who urged Congress both last year and in the new session to pass the bill repealing Section 14-B of the Taft-Hartley law. The section allows states to forbid labor contracts requiring all workers to join a union or at least pay dues.

It also was a blow to the AFL-CIO, which had placed the repealer at the top of its legislative agenda and had believed it stood an excellent chance to get the bill passed in the 89th Congress.

An hour before the vote, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana told newsmen the measure will be dead for this session if he fails twice this week in his attempt to choke off the filibuster against it.

Mansfield reiterated that in case of failure today, he would file a second cloture petition to force a second attempt Thursday. And he made it clear he did not expect to win today.

Bruce Contradicts Storer Claim On Douglas Hiring

County Supervisor Thomas T. Storer said today that the man hired as county director of economic development was once told by the county personel department that he was not eligible for the job.

Storer told fellow supervisors that a letter was sent to John Martin Douglas to this effect last Nov. 5.

County Administrator Alan Bruce denied this later in the morning, saying that Douglas was told in the letter that he was in a "marginal" group of candidates who would be called for interview only if others ahead of him dropped out.

Martin Nelson, personnel analyst, told the Independent-Journal that Douglas was included among 13 interviewed after three candidates ahead of him dropped out.

Douglas was sixth on the list recommended by an oral review board. He was hired by supervisors Dec. 21. The grand jury is still investigating the hiring proceedure.

Storer brought up the Douglas matter after Bruce asked further explanation on Storer's comments on the Radio KTIM

Publishing Heir Held In Death

NEW YORK (AP)—Robert Friede, an heir to the Annenberg publishing empire, has been charged with homicide in the death of a young woman whose body was found in the trunk of his car.

Friede

Police discovered the body yesterday after Friede was arrested on a narcotics charge.

The girl, Celeste Crenshaw, 19, died two weeks ago of "acute and chronic intravenous narcotism," according to a medical examiner. Police said Friede had given her the injection in his East Side apartment.

Friede, 25, also was charged with failing to report a death, illegal transportation of a body, and possession of narcotics. A musician, Dudley Watson, 37, was arrested later and charged with illegal transportation of a body and possession of narcotics.

Celeste

Miss Crenshaw, a pretty strawberry blonde, was the product of a well-to-do but broken home. She and Friede had been arrested on a narcotics charge in August 1964 and had been placed on probation, police said.

Flu Still Rages

INDIO (AP)—A week-long influenza epidemic is still causing high absenteeism in five Coachella Valley school districts, and at least one district has ordered its schools closed. More than 2,200 students and teachers—stricken by the virus—were out of classes yesterday.

Narcotics Death

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The coroner's office has ruled that a man found dead and dressed in women's clothes died from an overdose of narcotics. The victim, David Thomas Evans, who police said often impersonated women, was found lying face down Thursday in the carport of a North Beach apartment building.

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, making furniture as a hobby, cut off the tip of his ring finger and cut two other fingers of his left hand while using a power saw. The injury was revealed yesterday.

International Gun Running Plot Charged

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI) — U.S. custom agents arrested five men, three of them prominent El Paso businessmen last night in what federal officers said was the breakup of a national ring that arranged shipments of submarines, tanks and guns to Latin American revolutionaries.

Tom Rogers, 25; Eugene Michals, 35; Peyton Dean, 45; Larry Grubb, 22, and Johnny Acuna, 22, were arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Fred Morton on charges of conspiracy to violate the federal Neutrality Act and the Export Control Act.

FREE ON BOND

Rogers, son of a former FBI agent and city alderman, was released on $1,000 bond. Michals, owner of a plush downtown restaurant was freed on $2,500 bond. Grubb and Acuna were released on $1,000 each. Dean was held without bond.

Customs agents said the five were part of a nation-wide gunrunning ring under investigation since July.

WEAPONS LIST

They said the contraband weapons the group took orders for included submarines, tanks, airplanes, guided missiles and late model automatic weapons and thousands of rounds of ammunition.

Federal officials had no comment as to what Latin American nations were involved but sources said Panama was mentioned.

Boy Fears Gang, Takes Own Life

DALY CITY (UPI) — A 14-year-old boy who refused to "go along" with the gang on various hoodlum activities apparently killed himself yesterday rather than face their taunts.

Gerald Kurkjian, found dead in the basement of his home with a .22-caliber rifle bullet in his brain, had been under intense pressure to go along with boys in his class at Benjamin Franklin Junior High School, Joseph McPheters, deputy San Mateo county coroner, said.

Gerald called his mother at work yesterday and told her he wasn't going to school. When Mrs. Henry Kurkjian returned home to drive him to school, she discovered her son dying from the self-inflicted bullet.

U.S. Picks Up Photos Of Moon

WASHINGTON AP) — An American space official disclosed today the United States has picked up photographs transmitted from the moon by the Soviet spacecraft Luna 9.

The disclosure by Dr. Edward C. Welsh, executive director of the National Aeronautics and Space Council, was the first official word that American technicians as well as those of Great Britain and the Soviet Union have been obtaining the first radio data ever transmitted from the moon.

Welsh told a reporter no decision had been reached on whether the U.S. pictures will be made public. He said he did not know whether they showed the same landscapes as those published by the British and Russians. The photos picked up by the U.S. receiving equipment are being analyzed and evaluated, he added.

"I think it is fairly important for the public to know," Welsh said, "that we don't have to rely completely on Russian statements or British pronouncements in order to find out something about what is going on."

Welsh's disclosure indicates that U.S. space monitoring capabilities are more extensive than generally believed. And the fact that American officials kept the information quiet despite the Soviet and British releases also sheds new light on the secrecy guarding those capabilities.

Sir Bernard Lovell, director of Britain's Jodrell Bank Observatory, told a news conference that he belives something went wrong with Luna 9's power supply.

"We feel confident that it landed on the moon to continue working for a long time," he said. "One is now forced to the conclusion that something is not quite right. It is only possible to speculate, and the most reasonable explanation is that there was some failure of the power supply."

Lovell said the next step in the Soviet program to land a man on the moon might come with the next full moon March 7. He predicted the Soviets would try soft landings on other parts of the moon, possibly send up a tracked vehicle to move over the planet's surface, attempt to bring a rocket back to earth after a landing and might put a man into orbit around the moon without landing, this year or next.

Autopsy Seeks New Clues In Child's Mystery Death

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Wisps of mystery still clung today to the bizarre disappearance and death of a 3-year-old boy whose body was found floating in the family swimming pool three weeks after he vanished.

But pending the results of a detailed autopsy, the death of chubby, blue-eyed, David Dixon has been classified as "probable accidental death."

The child became the object of a 30-square-mile search when he disappeared Jan. 17 from in front of his home in suburban Sylmar.

The search, one of the largest in Southern California history, yielded no clues and police regarded the case as a probably kidnaping.

But early last Sunday the father, William Dixon, 34, found the body floating face down in a pool that had been searched repeatedly.

The body was clad in the same clothes David wore the day he vanished, there were no severe bruises, no signs of mutilation, officials said.

Police at first theorized that the boy's body may have been placed in the pool.

But yesterday county coroner Theodore Curphey said the child probably was alive when he entered the pool, and although there was no water in the lungs, may have died of so-called spasmodic drowning, in which the victim swallows his tongue and suffocates.

$36 Million Trading Stamps Lawsuit Filed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Operators of 22 independent gasoline stations in the San Francisco East Bay area have filed suit against Blue Chip Stamp Co. charging Sherman Antitrust Act violations and asking $36 million treble damages.

The operators of stations in Richmond, San Pablo, El Cerrito and El Sobrante contend in the suit filed yesterday that the company charges them $8.20 per pad of 5,000 stamps but sells stamps to stations owned by major gasoline companies at $7.50 a pad.

Stamps are passed on to customers at the rate of one for each 10 cents worth of gasoline purchased, exclusive of taxes.

The independent operators said giving company-owned stations a lower rate on purchase of stamps lessened competition in sale of gasoline and violated Sherman act regulations.

The independents' suit charged that the stamp company, with headquarters in Los Angeles, and 100 John Does named as co-conspirators entered into unlawful combination in 1955 in restraint of trade.

Convict Says Powers Admitted Killing Uncle

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A convict with a long prison record testified today that Melvin Lane Powers confessed to him in a Houston jail that he killed his multimillionaire uncle, Jacques Mossler.

"He said he stabbed him," declared the witness, Billy Frank Mulvey.

Mulvey said the incident occurred after Powers' arrest in 1962 when the two men were lodged in the Harris County jail in Houston, where Mulvey was serving a five-year sentence for which he still is detained.

The state of Florida has promised to prove that Mrs. Candace Mossler and her nephew as illicit lovers designed the murder of her husband, Mossler. Now the prosecution is promising to make good its pledge.

"He asked about someone to make a hit . . . bump someone off . . . it was worth $10,000," said one witness about Powers. A second added, "Mr. Mossler knew about him and Mrs. Mossler."

First on the witness stand yesterday was Freddie Duhart, 40. He said he was working at a Houston service station when he first met Powers about four weeks before the Mossler slaying.

"He asked about someone to make a hit . . . bump someone off . . ." continued Duhart, who admitted two unspecified convictions. "I was offered $3,500 to make a hit."

With his testimony on the record, the state then called Edward Diehl an ex-convict.

Diehl is a carnival worker who found himself in the early summer of 1962 serving with his wife as caretaker of Mossler's Galveston, Tex., ranch. The witness said he met Powers.

"He asked at the time what I thought of him and Mrs. Mossler coming down there and all. He asked me not to tell Mr. Mossler. He asked if I knew anybody I could get to kill Mr. Mossler or if I would do it myself. He said Mr. Mossler knew about him and Mrs. Mossler. . .

McCarthy Again Minority Leader

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Republican state senators caucused in the state Capitol yesterday afternoon and re-elected Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, as Senate minority leader.

"The vote was unanimous," said the Marin senator. He has held the post of Senate minority leader for six years.

McCarthy was also appointed to the Senate committee on finance by the rules committee.

Patrick Makes Debut In Capitol's Offices

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — William Penn Patrick, 35, of Tiburon, seeking the Republican nomination for governor, stumped through the state capitol yesterday in his first personal exposure to the state legislators.

He was introduced in the Senate by Senate Minority Leader John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, and in the Assembly by William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

When you've set your sights on a home or a piece of income property, you don't want the purchase delayed by slow title service. Even more important, you want an accurate title insurance policy that assures you the fullest protection possible. For a title examination that omits or overlooks even one key fact relating to your property title may jeopardize your investment, should anyone make a claim against your ownership rights.

The best way to be sure of both speed and accuracy is to specify TI. Fast, accurate title service takes experience, expert personnel, complete property records. No other title company can match our 72 years experience. Or our staff of title specialists—the largest, best-trained in the industry. Or our complete up-to-date land records, available in 41 California counties.

Buying property is one of the biggest steps most of us ever take. Why not play it safe? Just specify TI—the number one brand of title insurance—and be sure of your ground.

LAWMAKERS COY ABOUT HERO ROLE

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—For a brief moment yesterday, mail clerks in the state capitol wondered whether the Bat Man had invaded the Assembly chambers.

A letter addressed to "Assemblyman Battman" arrived in the mail from Long Beach, and it wound up on the desk of Assemblyman William T. Bagley of San Rafael.

Bagley arose on the Assembly floor to announce he was not the Bat Man, and gravely turned the letter over to Assembly Robert E. Badham, R - Newport Beach, to the amusement of legislators and spectators alike.

Committees Questioned By Trustee

Kinks in the Marin County Board of Education's committee system of operation were aired by board members last night.

Mrs. Adele J. Alpers said she was concerned that members of the audience wouldn't know what is going on because the "board moves so rapidly without discussion" at meetings.

Board President James A. Carroll said that anyone can ask a question and the board "will stop at that item."

Under the system, "routine matters" are referred to committes which discuss them and then make recommendations to the board. Mrs. Alpers contended people in the audience would like to know the reasons behind board decisions.

"I wonder about putting on a show for the audience," Carroll said. "If they come out with a question, we'll answer it."

He pointed out that committee meetings save time at board meetings.

Board Member Lee C. Richardson Jr. asked if committee sessions could be held the same day as board meetings. Richardson, who lives in Inverness, said he finds it difficult to get to committee meetings.

Carroll suggested considering having committee meetings only when there is some matter pending that calls for board action.

Incidentally, state law requires that all such committee meetings be public meetings, with proper advance notice.

Hollis Defends Library Move Despite Jury

Transfer of the supplemental text library of the county schools office from the Civic Center to the former McGraw-Hill Book Co. building in Corte Madera was defended yesterday by County Supt. of Schools Virgil S. Hollis.

The Corte Madera site "appears logical and practical" as a central location for the teachers it serves, Hollis said in response to the report of the 1965 Marin County Grand Jury.

TB Cases Reach High For Five Years At 53

A five-year high of 53 cases of tuberculosis was reported in Marin County last year, the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Assn. reported today.

Nine county residents were hit with the disease last month, compared with five cases during January of 1965. One of the recent victims was a 3-year-old girl, according to Mrs. Helane Anderson of the association.

County School Teachers Win Salary Boosts

The Marin County Board of Education last night unanimously approved pay increases for teachers and administrators in the county schools system amounting roughly to five per cent.

Specifically, the board approved a two per cent cost-of-living raise for teachers and administrators, plus a $250-a-year hike for teachers and a $500-a-year hike for administrators.

The raises are part of the $352,911 county school service fund budget for the next school year, financed mainly by the state.

COST COMPUTED

George H. Renworth, of the salaries committee of the county schools office chapter of the California Teachers Assn., estimated the increases will cost $31,500. They will average about $450 a year for 50 teachers and about $800 a year for 11 administrators, Renworth estimated.

The salary boost was recommended by the board's administrative services committee by 2-1 vote, with committee chairman Patrick W. Pollock dissenting.

Pollock, who later voted along with other board members for the raises, said he felt that "the present salary schedule with a modest increase" would keep the county schools office competitive.

Board member Adele J. Alpers warned that with the raise, the board "will demand that teachers produce commensurate with the salary."

OTHER RAISES

County Supt. Virgil S. Hollis said five per cent pay raises for other employees such as bus drivers, secretaries and custodians has been included in the county schools budget, which has to be approved by the county supervisors.

There was no breakdown presented on individual salaries, but calculations show that an assistant superintendent, now at $16,500 would be boosted to $17,380. Hollis receives $17,517, a salary which is set by the state.

The Marin County Board of Education also:

1. Approved the procedure for screening and recommending of a candidate for the job of coordinator of vocational education.
2. Approved hiring Jerry Martinson as detention teacher at Loma Alta School at $6,616 a year; Ward Williams as teacher at the Family Rehabilitation Center at $9,627; Bruce Wilson as a part-time custodian at Loma Alta School and 27 Meadow Drive at $2.19 an hour, and Barbara Ballard, as intermediate stenographer at $362 a month.
3. Accepted the resignation of Jacqueline Booth, teacher at the child care center in Sausalito, who is leaving to teach in the Dixie School District.
4. Granted Clarence Purdy, a teacher at Bayview School, a leave of absence for the 1966-67 school year, to continue studies toward a doctorate.
5. Accepted as gifts, $275 from the Welcome Wagon toward purchase of a one-way mirror for the mentally retarded kindergarten class at 71 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia; a Polaroid camera for the Gallinas annex from Herbert Schmidt, 441 Manzanita Avenue, Corte Madera; $50 toward the one-way mirror at the mentally retarded kindergarten from Beta Sigma Phi sorority; and $20 for purchase of dolls for special education classes at Marindale School from the George Lawrence family, 36 Millstone Terrace, Marinwood.

San Rafael Councilmen Set Parallel Parking

up to 50 per cent more traffic.

Neilson said, "If you don't do it now, you'll do it sooner or later or your businesses will dry up." Later, when some speakers in the audience urged delay, he put in: "One thing is sure: the longer you wait to do it, the fewer off-street parking spaces you're going to need."

City Clerk W. C. Cornwell read a letter signed by seven members of the Jacob and Albert family opposing parallel parking. There were several speakers on both sides, some growing quite warm in their protestations.

William Costello, manager of Macy's, said he had been in favor of parallel parking until he conducted a check at the main Fourth Street door of the store and found 46 per cent of those entering had parked their cars on Fourth Street. "How could I be for giving up 39 spaces on Fourth Street in the face of that?" he asked.

But George T. Lawrence, manager of Lachman Brothers, declared: "We've got to get people into town" and Fourth Street congestion keeps them away. "Ten years ago wouldn't have been too soon," he asserted.

Albert F. Schmitz, manager of Moore's Stationery at 1147 Fourth Street, suggested the city go farther — take all parking off Fourth Street and provide shuttle bus service from parking lots at both ends. "I am sure the greater portion of the cost could be carried by the merchants," he said.

Councilman Fred E. Jensen said that had been suggested before, but when the council proposed that the merchants subsidize the buses, "they thew up their hands and said no."

"Maybe now is the time," said Schmitz.

Sgt. Raymond Bleasdale, head of the police traffic detail, reported that last year there were 60 accidents on Fifth Avenue (parallel parking) between Lincoln Avenue and E Street, 72 on the same stretch of Third Street (parallel) and 188 on Fourth Street. Mid-block accidents — those not at intersections, numbered 18 on Fifth, 9 on Third, and 86 on Fourth, he said.

Councilman Harry A. Barbier reported the fire chief and majority of the fire commission "are in favor of parallel parking 100 per cent."

Barbier then said he had heard nothing to make him change his vote for conversion to parallel.

Councilman Louis H. Baar declared: "As long as I've been on the council, I've heard nothing but 'we need parking.' . . . Now we're losing 86 to 89 spaces." He said he was still oppposed.

Councilman Charles W. Aby, sticking to his vote in favor of the change, said he has long been convinced that traffic congestion is bad for business. "In city after city that has taken angle parking off their main street, business has improved in every instance," said Dr. Aby.

Councilman Jensen, quipping that "in 11 years, this is the first time I've agreed with the doc," said he also saw no reason to change his vote for parallel parking. And Mayor C. Paul Bettini said he found no reason to change his vote against it.

So parking will soon be parallel all along Fourth Street.

Moore Hopes To Keep Belvedere Council Job

Moore, 46, of 32 Golden Gate Avenue, has been a resident of Belvedere for 19 years. He is an investment broker in San Francisco and a graduate of Kansas State University.

Moore said he is running for re-election because "contrary to popular belief it is interesting to work on the city budget and to attempt to provide adequate city services. I'd say the biggest dividend for me has been getting to know and work with the residents of Belvedere."

Moore is treasurer of the San Francisco Yacht Club and belongs to St. Stephen's Episcopal Church. He was a Navy commander during World War II and served with Navy amphibious forces in the Korean war.

Moore and his wife, Margaret, have three daughters, Kathleen, 18; Nancy, 15, and Robin, 12.

Incumbent Sally G. Mathews had already taken out papers. Her term and that of Moore expire in April.

Sleepy Driver Suffers Injury

Ronald J. Ray, 27, of 112 Francisco Boulevard, San Anselmo, was treated last night for minor injury at Marin General Hospital following an auto accident on H Street near Fifth Avenue in San Rafael.

Ray told police he fell asleep at the wheel just after turning south on H Street from Fifth Avenue. His car mounted the curb and struck a tree. Rey was cited for not having a driver's license in his possession.

"Marin Sounding Board" last Thursday in which both he and Storer took part.

Bruce quoted Storer as saying there is "Almost an iron curtain between direct communication between supervisors and department heads."

Bruce asked specific instances and whether other board members shared the view.

The discussion resulted in a strong endorsement for Bruce and the administrative form of government, but Storer argued that no plan is perfect and the present set up was not beyond review and study.

Supervisor Ernest Kettenhofen grew more and more upset by the discussion. After backing the administration he wondered if "we are not stirring up fire for the sake of having fire, not for getting things accomplished."

Before Bruce questioned Storer, the board agreed to set up a session with the personnel commission to study commission policy and means of getting more experts as members.

This was at Bruce's suggestion. He said it was agreed at the "Sounding Board" discussion Thursday that the commission should be "reconstituted and reshaped."

"You mean you want voluntary resignations?" Kettenhofen asked.

"Not necessarily," Bruce said.

DRAKE

girl, who admitted she has been smoking "pot" on an average of once a week since last spring, said the Lagunitas girl "One afternoon last spring, wrote me a note in class asking if I would like to try it (marijuana)."

The same girl said she sometimes smoked, along with the brother and sister and one other girl, during the school lunch hour near the high school. Other times, she said, she smoked while walking the streets near her home. She said the brother and sister gave her the drug without charge.

Another junior girl from San Anselmo said she once bought a match box of marijuana from the brother and had to wait several weeks for its delivery. She said when she finally received it, she did not want the drug and sold it to a junior boy in the high school little theater.

She said that same night, she observed the sister and another girl "high" on the drug in the little theater.

The girl who said she was offered her first taste of the drug through a note passed in class made the lengthiest statement to police. She said she has heard there are five different groups at the high school smoking marijuana. Their sources, she said, are in Mill Valley, Sausalito and San Francisco.

She said she has seen one of her female classmates under the influence of the "dream drug" LSD. She also reported "lots of talk about various pills being taken among the students."

Of the 13 students police have connected to the smoking and sales of the drug, only four are boys. Seven are from San Anselmo, one from San Rafael, one from Fairfax and four from Lagunitas.

Chief Buchignani said his department will leave the juvenile authorities the decision of what to do with these or other students implicated. Probation, school and police authorities were scheduled to discuss the case after school today.

Buchignani and vice principal Shafer both said they had received tips, in the form of rumors and anonymous letters, about the marijuana at school since early December.

"We had not started any investigation, because we never really had anything, any names to go on," Shafer said today. "We informed the police when we heard something and they informed us."

Both Shafer and principal Harold Allison said they still lacked a great deal of information on the case and were not sure it directly involved the school.

"We cannot take action on something which occurred off campus," Allison said.

He and other school officials will consult with the parents of all students implicated in the case.

"This is serious and we are concerned for the welfare of the students . . . discipline will depend on individual circumstances," said Allison.

Neither Allison nor Shafer expressed surprise at the report that students were involved with drugs. Both laid the blame on "Juvenile curiosity" and recent stories about marijuana. Allison said:

"I have read stories which say marijuana is better than liquor, that it is less harmful. Some have even claimed it is beneficial. I would say it was almost inevitable, with the attention given to this drug and the apparent ease with which it can be purchased, that some students were going to try it. It hurts me to admit this, but I am not shocked. I never would have said 'it can't happen here'."

Shafer expressed sorrow that such a case involved Drake High students, but added: "I think it's good that there were enough students and adults concerned that this came to light and could be brought to a halt. I just hope it leads to the ones who furnish the drug."

Reed Trustees Due Auditors' Report

The Reed School District Board, meeting at 8 p.m. today at Del Mar School, will review the district's audit, prepared by the San Rafael auditing firm of Dalton, Graupner and Barber.

The board will also review the district's discipline policy and receive a briefing in the grouping practices at Del Mar School.

Convict Says He Told Lie To Aid Buddy

Robert Gene Glover, charged with assaulting a fellow inmate at San Quentin Prison, took the witness stand himself yesterday afternoon and today to testify that he lied in his earlier trial.

He told a Marin Superior Court jury he lied when he said he carried a brass rod into the prison and stabbed Henry L. Wolfenden, 28. He did it, he said, so he would not involve another inmate, Thomas T. Gregory, 26.

Gregory testified last Thursday that he, not Glover, committed the assault on Sept. 18, 1963. The statute of limitations for charging Gregory with the attack expired Friday.

Glover, convicted by the first jury but granted a retrial by an appellate court, said he gave his fabricated version to protect Gregory and because he gained possession of the weapon following the attack.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Leonard Shaw, prosecuting, asked Glover yesterday if he once belatedly confessed to having assaulted San Quentin inmate Abel A. Nevarez after a friend, Robert B. Dorado, 27, had already been convicted of the attack.

Glover's attorney, W. O. Weissich, objected to the question. He accused Shaw of misconduct because the presiding judge, Joseph G. Wilson, had ordered such information not be revealed to the jury.

Shaw maintained that form of question had not been discussed. Judge Wilson sustained Weissich's objection.

Closing arguments in the case were expected to start this afternoon.

SLIDE

cy, to have sewage in Richardson Bay than in homes.

Turning to homeowners from Cove Road, whose houses flooded with rainwater the same day, the council agreed to start discussions with Tiburon on flood control for the entire area.

Cavalli said he felt the Belvedere Lagoon Property Owners Assn. should help pay the bill for the study.

Allan Steinau, speaking for the association, disagreed. He insisted that any plan should divert water that now flows into the lagoon to somewhere else, either Richardson Bay or Belvedere Cove.

Councilman John R. Moore said flood control for the area had been discussed officially at least 11 times that he could remember, and always projects had been dropped before construction started. Whenever any one group of people is opposed, the plan dies, he said.

"Then you better come up with a plan that pleases us," retorted Steinau. He added that the main objection was not the water entering the lagoon, but the silt it carries.

Since the last storms, he said, an island has formed in the lagoon, and the city should remove it. MacKay said silting has always been taken care of by the association members and was definitely not a city responsibility.

Finally, the council considered the slide, which occurred near 260 Beach Road. Cavalli reported a large section of rock wall had given way, and the slide had blocked the street last week.

He said he was almost certain the wall was on city right of way, but MacKay said the wall still might have belonged to the adjacent property owner, who would then have to pay for its replacement, and soon.

Cavalli said the wall was probably built so long ago it would be difficult to determine who was responsible. He said if the city replaced the wall, it would not be with the original rocks, but with a more modern retaining structure.

Panels Smashed

All the glass, including instrument panels, was broken during the weekend on five construction vehicles belonging to Linscott and Co. while parked in the construction area of the Gallinas extension in San Rafael's Terra Linda area, police reported. Damage was estimated at about $500.

OBITUARIES

Natalie Greene Dies At 80

Natalie Coffin Greene, a member of a family long associated with Ross, died in a local hospital yesterday after a short illness. She was 80.

Mrs. Greene, wife of A. Crawford Greene, long-time San Francisco attorney, was born at the Jonathan Kittle residence in Ross, now the site of the Marin Art and Garden Center.

Her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. James Coffin, resided in the house directly behind Mrs. Greene's home at 1 Shady Lane, Ross, where she and her husband lived since 1917.

Her mother gave the property on which now stands St. John's Church, of which Mrs. Greene was a life-long member. She and her husband were married there in August, 1912. They celebrated their golden wedding with a garden party in 1962.

She was the mother of Mrs. John G. Lewis, a member of Ross Town Council.

Mrs. Greene was former president of the Protestant Episcopal Old Ladies Home in San Francisco, president of the Visiting Nurses Assn., and a member of the board of the San Francisco Young Women's Christian Assn.

She is survived by her husband; two sons, James Coffin Greene of Pasadena and A. Crawford Greene Jr. of Ross; three daughters, Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Oliver C. Stine and Mrs. Sheila G. Peck, all of Ross; 17 grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be at St. John's Church, tomorrow at 1:30 p.m., directed by Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

The family prefers that tributes be memorial gifts to the Protestant Episcopal Old Ladies Home or to St. John's Church.

Contractors Decry County Staff Trims

A proposal to cut the Marin County building inspection staff by one man ran into protests from contractors and the trades before county supervisors today.

Public Works Director Donald R. Frost told the board that there were 7,700 permits issued by the department two years ago, but the volume will drop to 5,500 this fiscal year. He recommended cutting the department from 12 to 11, deleting one of three electrical inspectors. John Martens, with the county two years, would probably be the man dropped.

Richard Wood of the Building Trades Council told the board the slack time of inspectors could well be used on cracking down on builders who operate without permits. He also suggested that building inspectors could be used as fire safety inspectors. He said inspection fees during the past 10 years have given a $88,280 profit to the county.

Sam de Lisle of the Plumbing Contractors Assn. and Ray White of the heating and ventilating contractors also protested the move.

Gates To Vanish At Parking Lot

The one-way gates that let automobiles in and out of the San Rafael municipal all-day parking lot at Second Street and Lincoln Avenue are to be eliminated.

At the close of last night's city council meeting, near midnight, the council voted unanimously for a motion by Councilman Charles W. Aby that tickets be used at the lot and the gates removed.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen said today the same quarter-in-the-slot mechanism will remain, but the parker will get a ticket from the machine, which he is to place in the front seat of the car, visible through the windows. The gates, Andersen said, have been a recurring source of complaint.

The quarter-ticket procedure is already being used on the all-day lot at Second and Lindaro streets.

Storer Denies Attack On Club

County Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress, said today he did not tell a Democratic caucus at Ukiah that the Sierra Club's proposal for a redwoods national park was ridiculous, as reported in the Independent-Journal yesterday.

Storer said he termed a 200,000-acre park, as advocated by some, "unreasonable or ridiculous," but made no attack on the Sierra Club proposal. He said also he did not suggest that his support of a redwoods national park would be conditioned on approval by the lumber industry.

Storer said most of his talk to the caucus, which made no endorsement, was on Viet Nam. He advocated holding "what we now have" in Viet Nam pending full discussion by the United Nations, but not extending the war.

Low, High

NEW YORK (UPI) — The lowest temperature reported this morning to the U.S. Weather Bureau, excluding Alaska and Hawaii was at 15 below zero at Lebanon, N.H. The highest temperature reported yesterday was 82 at Presidio, Tex.

J. SOLDAVINI

Joseph Soldavini, 84, of 5 Morningside Drive, San Anselmo, died in a local hospital yesterday after a brief illness.

A native of Italy, Soldavini came to this country 65 years ago, settling immediately in Marin County. He was a landscape gardener for 50 years, retiring about 12 years ago.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Virginia Soldavini of San Anselmo; two sons, Charles P. and Joseph Soldavini Jr., of San Anselmo; four daughters, Mrs. Alice Saporetti of San Anselmo, Mrs. Mary Neecke and Mrs. Elizabeth Merla of San Rafael, and Mrs. Edith Squelatti of El Sobrante, Contra Costa County; 13 grandchildren, and 11 great-grandchildren.

Private funeral was held today at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

W. J. RUECK

William J. Rueck, 75, former groundskeeper for the Indian Valley Golf Club, died yesterday at his home at 9 Boulevard Court, Novato, apparently of a heart attack.

He had been supervisor of the Big Oaks Country Club in Chicago, his native city, for more than 20 years prior to coming to California in 1955. He had worked in Monterey and was groundskeeper for the Petaluma Country Club until he joined the Indian Valley Golf Club six years ago. He retired five years ago because of failing health.

Rueck was a veteran of army service in World War I.

He was a member of the Golf Course Superintendent's Assn.

He is survived by his wife, Martha; two step-daughters, Mrs. Edward Rosswalter of Oakland and Mrs. Harry Daughtery of Phoenix, Ariz.; a step-son, John L. Klonder of Chicago, and a sister, Miss Mary Rueck of Chicago.

Funeral service will be at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Redwood Chapel Funeral Home in Novato. Burial will be in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno. Memorial contributions to the heart fund would be appreciated by the family.

G. W. BROOKS

George W. Brooks, mayor of Ross from 1920 to 1924, died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness. He was 92.

A native of San Francisco, he was part owner of the Rainier Brewing Co. there, but retired from business in 1918, with the passage of the prohibition amendment to the United States Constitution. He moved to Ross in 1913 and lived there ever since, at 47 Lagunitas Road.

He was a member of the Marin Art and Garden Center, the Marin County Humane Society, the Marin Conservation League, and the San Francisco Commercial Club.

Brookis is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Joseph W. Crawford of Ross; a sister, Mrs. Elfrieda Hole of Santa Barbara; four grandchildren, and one great-grandchild.

Funeral will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at St. John's Episcopal Church, Ross. Burial will be private. Friends may call today at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael, until 9 p.m.

MRS. JONES

Elizabeth A. Jones, a former resident of San Rafael for many years, died yesterday after a long illness in an Oakland convalescent home. She was 79.

She was the widow of Richard C. Jones, San Francisco lumber broker, who died in 1951.

The former Elizabeth Anderson, she was born in Sweden, coming to the United States as a young girl with her parents and settling in Seattle, where she received her training as a registered nurse.

She met her future husband at a San Francisco hospital where he was one of her patients. They moved to San Rafael in the early '30s and made their home at 9 Clyde Avenue, where she continued to live until two years ago.

Mrs. Jones is survived by two sisters, Ada C. and Naomi Anderson of San Francisco and a brother, John Anderson of Los Angeles.

Friends may call at Harry M. Williams Mortuary, Third and E streets, San Rafael after 3 p.m. tomorrow. Funeral will be at the mortuary at 3:30 p.m. Thursday.

State Rules Block Street Work Bids

Corte Madera Town Council last night rejected all bids on an interim project the channelize Tamalpais Drive at Madera Boulevard and Lakeside Drive after Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher told them their plan for improvement of Tamalpais Drive did not meet state standards for gasoline tax funds.

Instead, councilmen approved in principle a plan to widen the drive to meet those standards, and instructed the city staff to immediately design an interim project which would provide two westbound lanes between Madera Boulevard and Sausalito Street.

The eventual improvement would eliminate a free-standing curb on the north side of Tamalpais Drive. This would allow two lanes of traffic each way with a 14-foot median strip from Madera Boulevard to Eastman Avenue. There would also be a parking lane on each side.

From Eastman Avenue to Pixley Drive, the road width would be the same, minus the median strip. From Pixley to the beginning of the Village Square shopping area, the street would be posted "No Parking." In the shopping area, diagonal parking would be changed to parallel.

The plan, proposed by Public Works Director Arthur N. Morrison, calls for moving back some curbs and eliminating one building, on the north side of the curve between Willow Avenue and Serra Street.

Councilmen commented that the project would be expensive and could only be accomplished over a period of years. They then instructed the staff to design this "emergency phase" of the project:

Construct an island which forces a right turn in the northernmost lane of Tamalpais Drive at Madera Boulevard. Stripe and outline the 14-foot median strips with concrete bars. Remove the freestanding curb and stripe two lanes on Tamalpais Drive between Madera and Sausalito Street.

City Engineer Phillip B. Lygren said the design of this phase will be ready for council approval at the first meeting in March.

The low bid on the channelization project which the council rejected was $5,572 by Ghilotti Brothers, $1,000 more than the council had budgeted.

The council also agreed to call for bids Feb. 18 at 3 p.m. on constructing a multi-purpose slab in the town park, turfing the area around the slab and installing an automatic sprinkling system.

The council had budgeted only $4,550 for the project, which Usher estimated will cost $7,000.

Usher said the gap between the two figures was primarily the result of an error in budgeting. The project was listed as one to be done by town forces. Because it was placed in this category, he said, half the money allocated was placed in the category of town forces salaries, where it was absorbed by an unexpected work load.

The Corte Madera Town Council also:

1. Postponed introduction of a uniform traffic ordinance until members could read it thoroughly.

2. Introduced an ordinance limiting the number of public dances held in the recreation center to two a month.

Alto Sanitary Board Against Merger Idea

Alto Sanitary District directors discussed proposals made by City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer of Mill Valley for combining functions of the four sanitary districts which use the Mill Valley treatment plant and decided they prefer the status quo.

The board agreed to support a proposed southern Marin sanitary district in cooperation with the County of Marin, however, reported Carl O. Heynen Jr., director. "Our district is unable to expand in any direction," said Heynen, "and we feel the status quo is good."

He added that there might be minor adjustments made in a proposed new contract with Mill Valley.

The board took issue with the figure quoted by Balmer Jan. 14 at which time the manager said while Mill Valley's sewer tax rate is 16 and one-half cents, Alto's is 45 cents.

"Our operating tax is 18 and one-half cents," said Heynen. The district also has an 18 and one-half cent tax for capital expenditures such as improvements to the Mill Valley plant and an 8 cent reserve for emergencies. These three figures total 45 cents.

Three Inmates Are Acquitted In Assault Case

A Marin Superior Court jury yesterday acquitted all three San Quentin inmate defendants in an assault trial which started last Dec. 27.

James and John Schreckengost, brothers, and Russell Dillard were charged with beating and stabbing a fellow-prisoner. The case went to the jury shortly after 10 a.m. yesterday. They deliberated seven hours.

The trio was accused of attacking Myford G. Duncan, 24, with a screwdriver in the prison paint shop on Jan. 21, 1965. He was then dumped in a paint-rag barrel, according to testimony. He survived.

Defense attorneys were Jerome Durham, public defender; Howard K. Morehouse and Arthur M. Lebow. Michael Dufficy, deputy district attorney, prosecuted. Trial was before Judge Harold J. Haley.

Civic League Delay

Kentfield Civic League directors have decided to delay a public meeting they had scheduled for tonight in order to gather more information on such issues as flood control, the proposed widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and the interim zoning at Kentfield Corners, according to League President Robert H. Busse. No future date for the meeting has been set, he said.

Town Council Rules Out 'Cheap' P.O.

The Corte Madera Town Council, which fought and ultimately rejected sites proposed for a new post office three years, last night indicated its attitude has not mellowed with time.

At urging of Mayor Edward W. Colthurst, councilmen instructed Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher to direct a letter to the Post Office Department stating the town will not allow any "cheaply constructed building for post office use."

"Tell them we have spent $300,000 here on our buildings and expect any new building to be in the style which would be in line with our remodeled town hall, the public safety building, and the Marin Municipal Water District Building," the mayor said.

The Post Office Department is accepting bids until March 1 on lease of a privately constructed building somewhere in the Corte Madera Shopping Center or along Tamal Vista Boulevard between the shopping center and the Northwestern Pacific Railroad tracks.

High Church Spire On Planners' Agenda

Permission will be sought from the Mill Valley Planning Commission at its 8 p.m. meeting today to allow the spire of the proposed Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church rise to 140 feet in the air, whereas the height limit for structures in the city is 30 feet.

Also being asked are variances for the church at Oakdale and West Blithedale avenues to reduce front yard setback from 15 to six feet and reduce parking spaces from 180 required to 50.

Coward Better

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (UPI) — Playwright Noel Coward is in "good" condition but will spend another week in a Lausanne clinic, his personal secretary said yesterday. Doctors are treating Coward for a tropical intestinal ailment.

Mill Valley Spokesman Critical Of Park Idea

Vice Mayor Albert E. White of Mill Valley last night proposed that the division of funds from a proposed $4,000,000 county-wide park bond issue give a higher ratio to cities than to unincorporated areas.

White suggested incorporated areas receive 65 to 70 per cent of the money. County supervisor Peter H. Behr, who initiated the proposal and is asking for opinions of all city councils in the county, has recommended a 50-50 ratio between the cities and unincorporated territory.

White said he took umbrage at Behr's idea that the county has responsibility for taking care of urban density needs. When an area grows to urban density, it should either be annexed to a city or incorporated, White declared.

Golf course rates were increased 25 cents per day for adults at the municipal golf course, but rates for young fry —up to the age of 18—are to remain the same.

Urging the fees remain the same for youths, Councilman William M. Secor said, "I would rather have them on the golf course playing golf than at the will-known hangouts cutting it up."

Paul Taylor, speaking for the Mill Valley Men's Golf Club, recommended police checks be made between 3:30 and 5 p.m. in the vicinity of holes three and four where small children play and are in danger of being hit by golf balls.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

1. Denied a request by Richard Dunn to rezone a parcel of land at East Blithedale and Kipling avenues from single-family to apartment zoning to permit 11 dwelling units.

2. Agreed that Councilman Joseph E. Sheeks and Mayor Wornum act as a committee to meet with a Town of Corte Madera council committee to discuss a proposal that Madera Park subdivision, within Mill Valley's watershed, be annexed to the City of Mill Valley.

3. Adopted a resolution authorizing a lease, in place of the present use permit, of state lands in the city's small craft harbor. City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer said Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, was very effective in making the lease possible.

4. Authorized extension of a lease with Greyhound Bus Lines for the city-owned bus depot for two years at $175 per month.

5. Agreed to pay 25 per cent of the cost, $1,950, with Pacific Gas and Electric Co. paying $7,800 and Marin Capital Co. $5,850, for underground utilities in Scott Highlands Units 2 and 2-A.

6. Authorized call for bids to be opened Mar. 7 on improvements for Lomita Drive, estimated to cost $55,000. Once Lomita is improved, traffic can be diverted to improve a parallel portion of East Blithedale Avenue. Property owners have contributed $45,000 toward the Lomita improvement.

7. Agreed to petition the county board of supervisors to establish an assessment district to dredge the Richardson Bay Channel.

8. Greeted Robert D. Huber, former mayor of Mill Valley, visiting in the audience.

Soldier Surrenders To San Rafael Police

Martin Price McDowell, 18, of 355 Canal Street, San Rafael, gave himself up to San Rafael police Saturday for being absent without leave from the Army at Fort Ord.

He was booked into Marin County jail to await a military escort. He told police he was absent for over 30 days for "personal and family-type reasons."

1,000 Volunteers Sought For Campaign

Mrs. Patricia Dunne of San Rafael, chairman of the 1966 Heart Sunday Drive in Marin, today made an appeal for 1,000 more volunteers to canvass their neighborhoods for the drive.

"We hope to have 3,000 or more people helping us on Heart Sunday," she said, advising people interested to call the Marin County Heart Assn. at 1108 Irwin Street, San Rafael.

Larkspur Plan Group To Hear Two Rezonings

Larkspur planning commissioners, meeting at 8 p.m. today in City Hall, will hold public hearings on two rezoning requests.

The first, requested by George Bertram, would rezone three lots on Holcomb Avenue at Cane Street from single family residential to multiple family residential.

The second, requested by Niels Schultz Jr., would rezone all land above South Eliseo Drive at Bon Air Road to administrative and professional and all waterfront property below the road to multiple family residential. The two zones at present appear on both sides of the road. The changes were suggested in the city's recently adopted general plan.

The commission will also elect a chairman and vice chairman to serve during the current year.

Pharmacists To Meet

Hospital pharmacists from the Bay Area will attend a meeting of the Northern California Society of Hospital Pharmacists at Ross General Hospital today at 8:15 p.m. Pharmacy administration and drug control will be among items on the agenda.

Today is Tuesday, Feb. 8, the 39th day of 1966 with 326 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter; the morning star is Venus; the evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

French novelist Jules Verne, of "Around The World in 80 Days" fame, was born on this day in 1828.

On this day in history:

In 1587, Mary, Queen of Scots, was beheaded after being charged with plotting the murder of Britain's Queen Elizabeth I.

In 1940, every 10th person in two villages near Warsaw was shot in reprisal for the deaths of two German soldiers.

In 1963, Premier Kassin of Iraq was overthrown in a military coup and executed the next day.

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Try To Puzzle Out Whether Partner Jinxed, Or Goofed

When your partner fails to make his contract you naturally smile at him and say something like "Hard luck, old boy."

But what do you think in the back of your mind?

Are you sure whether it was hard luck or bad play?

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	4 ♠	All Pass

Opening lead — ♡ J

Try yourself on today's hand. You are the dummy, watching your partner go down at four spades.

East wins the queen and ace of hearts; then his king of hearts is ruffed.

FINESSE LOSES

Down one.

You make your little remark about hard luck, and your partner agrees: "Both finesses lost. Some days it doesn't pay to get out of bed."

And he proceeds to deal the next hand with a sad look on his face.

FACIAL EXPRESSION

While South is dealing the next hand you should be able to make up your mind.

Is South right to look sad, or should he look ashamed?

South should be unable to look you in the eye, for he should have made his contract.

By the time he loses the diamond finesse he has seen East produce the three top hearts and the king of diamonds.

West must cover with the queen (otherwise declarer lets the jack ride), and dummy wins with the king.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ 7 6 4
♡ A K Q
◇ K 8 5 3
♣ 10 8 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two diamonds.

The hand is far too strong for a raise to two spades, but not good enough for a jump to three spades.

Little League Bats .500 In Novato

The Novato Little League last night received Novato Unified School District permission to install a baseball diamond on the Ranch School playgrounds.

The agreement can be for only one year at a time and the little league must alter its present plans for the ball diamond, the district board ruled.

The City of Novato may eventually purchase the site the ball diamond is to be on, as well as adjacent land for a city park, Councilman William Jack Adams told the board.

Eugene de Brecht, assistant superintendent in charge of buildings, said the State of California has agreed the district can enter into an annual contract with a six-month cancellation clause.

Daniel H. Barber, board presiwent, objected to some of the plans for the Little League park.

"We have first and second graders using the playgrounds. I do not like the idea of sunken dugouts or bleachers that are so high they could fall from them," Barber told David Moore, president of Little League.

"We'll just have to change our plans to pass the state," Moore said.

Novato Board Approves Idea Of Junior High

Richard Banwell, the architect, showed colored slides of his drawing for the buildings.

The plans call for four buildings to form a quadrangle around a group of trees on Warner Creek. Three buildings will project over the stream.

"We plan on extensive use of carpets for deadening sound and have air conditioning in each building," Banwell told the board. The level areas on each side of the creek will be the athletic playing fields.

Adjacent to the gymnasium building will be a wide covered walkway with benches to be used for the eating area. Food vending machines will be used to dispense the food to the students.

Banwell set September, 1967 for opening of the school, the third three-year junior high school in the district.

The Novato Unified School District Board also:

1. Authorized purchase of 10 acres in Marin Oaks off Ignacio Boulevard for $90,000 for an elementary school site.
2. Awarded a $22,354.80 contract to Gillig Buses of Hayward for a 79-passenger bus. This was the lower of two bids.
3. Approved a contract with the Marin County superintendent of schools for a vocational rehabilitaiton program.
4. Authorized purchase of $20,927 in books for school libraries. The high school, Hill Junior High School and Pleasant Valley School will get the larger shares.
5. Approved application for $48,328 for planning money for the 18-classroom San Marin and $36,813 for the 12-classroom Westridge elemenetary schools.
6. Hired Le Roy Snyder as second building inspector for the district.
7. Approved increasing the square footage on the Lu Sutton second addition to 9,586.
8. Approved three change orders on the high school additions costing the district an additional $1,370.
9. Appointed Donald Carr and Irving Wasserman as teachers under the educationally handicapped program; accepted resignations from Patricia E. Slayton as elementary music teacher and Robert Garmstron as teaching principal at Hamilton School, and hired Marion Boyer Lanford as English teacher at the high school and Rosemarie Edwards for elementary music teacher.

Police Still Baffled Over Murder Weapon

Exactly what type of weapon was used by the killer of Marjorie S. Rudolph in her Terra Linda home provided a big question mark today as investigation into the brutal murder entered its second week.

San Rafael Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa said: "We haven't managed to turn up one clue to tell us what he used. All we know from the pathologist is that it was a heavy but sharp instrument."

Whatever the murderer used, it raised havoc on the body of Mrs. Rudolph, found submerged in a bathtub of water at 19 Carroll Court a week ago today.

Her killer had broken 17 of her ribs, fractured her head in four places, broken her breastbone and inflicted other injuries on her body, an autopsy disclosed.

Investigations so far indicate the killer did not use a candle holder or other heavy ornament found at the home. More likely, said Chiesa today, the killer carried the murder weapon away with him.

Inspector Thomas Cheetham and the police fingerprint expert, David Vargo, continued today a thorough search of the house for leads in the week-long mystery.

Tam High Board Shifts Adult Education Aide

The Tamalpais High School District board last night took the job of administering adult education and summer school programs out of the hands of James A. Fitzgerald, gave it to the district's three school principals, and gave Fitzgerald a new job.

Fitzgerald will now be director of personnel. His new post will involve, among other things, co-ordination of the programs he formerly ran. The principals, however, will handle most of the details.

The board also authorized the position of special assistant to the superintendent to work on education problems. It was stressed that candidates for the post should have a strong background in sociology.

The job will require working with community agencies, families and the district's staff on problems in the human relations field such as those of minority groups.

Two plans for developing the 32-acre Marin City High School site for recreation were rejected after presentation by architects Gromme and Priestley.

One, costing $295,000, would have completely developed the site as a recreation park with football field, volley ball and basket ball courts and landscaping. The second, to cost $57,000, would have included some landscaping and the football field.

The board decided both plans would cost too much. Board members told Supt. Chester G. Carlisle to send copies of the plans to the Marin County Redevelopment Agency and Housing Authority.

The Tamalpais High School District board also:

1. Approved hiring of up to four teachers aides at each school, with pay to be determined by the duties involved.
2. Authorized lower teacher-student ratios for special classes, such as those for the mentally handicapped.
3. Asked Carlisle to write a letter to the state board of education strongly opposing a two-way split of the Tamalpais High School District as approved by the county committee on school district organization last Wednesday.
4. Postponed action on a report from the salary committee of the District Teachers Assn. urging higher pay scales for teachers coming into the district with more than five years teaching experience.
5. Approved a pilot course at Sir Francis Drake High School whereby three gifted students will be allowed to work on special projects of their own choice under a teacher's guidance.
6. Approved a policy allowing as many regular courses as possible to be offered in summer school, and agreed that department heads and principals would determine what courses will be offered.

Tiburon Grants Addition Permit

The Tiburon Planning Commission last night granted developer Fred G. Zelinsky a permit to construct an 80-foot addition to a building he owns at 35 Main Street.

Lee De Berry was granted a split of a 22,810-square-foot lot at 644 Tiburon Boulevard.

Action on a permit for Red Hill Land Co. to construct three apartment buildings, totaling 51 units, on Red Hill overlooking downtown Tiburon was postponed, as was a proposed ordinance to regulate parking of trailers within the city.

Planners Given New City Terms

Richard L. Parino and Jerome C. Hauke were reappointed to the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission last night by the Mill Valley City Council.

Appointed to the same commission was Theodore F. Kirby, contractor of 31 Janes Street. He succeeds Raymond J. Bell who, retiring after eight years service, was presented a certificate by the council.

Niels Enevoldsen, architect of 55 Oakdale Avenue, was named to the architectural advisory committee, succeeding Donald J. Batchelder who has been seated on the city planning commission.

NEGRO DISCOVERS DOORS ARE CLOSED

By ROBERT STREBEIGH

A young Negro seeking a place to live yesterday came up against the prejudice few will admit exists in Marin County.

Alphonse Norris, 29, said he called eight places in San Rafael listing studio apartments at rents he could afford to pay. "But when I told them I was a Negro, none of them wanted me," Norris said.

According to Norris, one woman said, "We have two people here from Kentucky, and you know how they feel about Negroes."

Another, he said, had a sudden recovery of memory on being told he was a Negro. "I forgot," she said, "that someone called just before you did and said they were bringing a deposit on the apartment."

Others were more frank and said, "We just don't want to rent to Negroes."

Norris said he came here in April, 1964, from New York "hoping for a better job, better housing." He had been a film splicer in New York and since his arrival has been a live-in houseboy in San Rafael.

"Marin County," he said, "is worse than New York when it comes to housing."

According to Mrs. Ursula Gaeley of the Marin Committee for Fair Play, Norris's plight is typical of that of Negroes seeking a place to live in the county. She said she had been able to find places for only about 35 Negroes "out of maybe as many as 200 in the past three years."

"Marin County," Mrs. Gaeley said, "has a reputation for discrimination."

Realty broker Maggi Walker of Larkspur, who has undertaken to help Norris find a studio apartment, called his experience unusual in that he had already located several suitable places in the $60 to $75-a-month range he could afford.

Aside from prejudice, which she said "certainly exists," the chief obstacle to Negroes settling in Marin County is financial, said Mrs. Walker. "With one-bedroom apartments in the county going for $115 up, two bedrooms starting at $125, and three-bedroom, two-bath homes from $175 up, few Negroes seem able to afford them."

Moreover, places at those starting prices "are very, very hard to find," she said.

Mrs. Walker, who cooperates with the Fair Play committee and with the Housing Opportunities Program Exchange in San Francisco, said fewer Negroes seem to be seeking housing in Marin since Proposition 14 killed the state Fair Housing Act in 1964.

That proposition permits property owners to refuse to sell or rent to Negroes.

In locating housing for three or four Negro families in the past year, Mrs. Walker said she had encountered overt refusal to rent to Negroes in only one instance. "Most people," she said, "find another reason for turning down a Negro's offer."

Mrs. Walker said she believed passage of Proposition 14 had hurt rather than helped the real estate industry, which overwhelmingly supported its passage.

"Before that," she said, "we were required by law to show available housing to Negroes and property owners understood that. Now the owners feel free to express resentment when we show their property to minority group members."

This puts the real estate agent on the horns of a dilemma, she said, since the National Assn. of Real Estate Boards "has laid down very firm rules against discrimination in showing housing." The Marin County board's position is equally firm, she said.

Mrs. Walker took an optimistic view, however, of what she called "the long haul." Since the start of the year, she said,' "I've received four listings specifically non-restrictive. That's an improvement. There are enough fair-minded people in the county to keep one in business."

In the meantime, she said, she will see what she can do to find a studio apartment for Norris, who will start work Monday as an orderly at a San Rafael convalescent home.

Nature Group To See Photographer's Slides

Photographer Werner Seitz will show color slides of crystals, flowers, and birds to the Marin Nature Group at 8 p.m. Friday in Room 40 at the College of Marin.

The group will meet at 10 a.m. at the College of Marin for a trip to 10-mile Beach.

Television May Record Board Session

Television cameras may whir at tonight's meeting of the San Rafael Board of Education, set for 7:30 p.m. in the schools administration building at Third and E Streets.

KQED, Bay Area educational television station, has been granted permission by Supt. Bert C. Corona to televise the meeting.

Interest of the TV station was attracted because of scheduling of final action on removal of "On the Road" by Jack Kerouac from the assigned reading list of a special senior English class at Terra Linda High School.

At the Jan. 25 meeting, the board received a report from Mitchell L. Voydat, assistant superintendent for high schools, that the book had been found unsuitable and would be taken off the list for next year. However, Superintendent Corona asked that the matter be put on tonight's agenda to invite comment from the audience.

Attack and defense of the book brought out large crowds to board meeting in December and January.

Another book will be presented for preliminary review by the board but is not expected to excite as much attention. It is a technical textbook called "General Shop" by Chris H. Groneman and John L. Feirer.

The board will also be presented with a report on the financing of special programs as a preliminary step to the formulation of the 1966-67 district budget.

Members will be recommended they accept the resignations through changes of residence of Mrs. Marbeth Powell, a teacher of the third grade at Short School, and Mrs. Carol Whitelaw, physical education teacher at Terra Linda High School. Both resignations take effect June 30.

The board will also be asked to approve the appointment of Alice Hutchinson and Mrs. Patricia Sweeney as primary grade teachers, effective Jan. 27.

Anderson To Seek City Planning Aide

San Rafael City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen disclosed last night that he will leave Feb. 22 for Los Angeles and San Diego to interview five candidates for the job of San Rafael city planner.

His disclosure nipped in the bud a protest by Franking Battat of 62 Lochinvar Road, president of the Loch Lomond Home Owners Assn., against appointment of Acting Planner Charles J. Linthicum to the post—for which he had been endorsed by 5-2 vote of the city planning commission.

Battat arose at the San Rafael City Council meeting to start reading a protest which he said was "on behalf of seven associations." He was halted midway in the first page of the six-page document by Mayor C. Paul Bettini, who said such a lengthy statement should have been put on the agenda. The mayor said it could be put on the agenda for the Feb. 21 meeting.

Andersen then announced his projected trip to interview candidates.

Batat asked a council commitment that there would be no appointment before the Feb. 21 meeting.

Councilman Louis H. Baar told Battat: "Ever since we didn't appoint you to the planning commission, you've been a candidate . . . I think you're out of order."

"You heard what Mr. Andersen said," said Mayor Bettini. "There will be no appointment until after his trip."

Linthicum, a planning technician, has been acting planner since George H. Rodgers resigned last August.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

1. Awarded L. H. Leonardi Electric Co. of San Rafael a contract for traffic signals at Greenfield Avenue, Fourth Street and Miracle Mile at $3,975—just $4 under the second low bid of $3,979 by Steing and Mitchell of San Francisco. R. Flatland and Co. of San Francisco bid $5,667.

2. Authorized Councilman Charles W. Aby to leave the country. He plans a trip to Mexico, leaving Saturday.

3. Continued for two weeks public hearing on abatement of an old house at 1610 Third Street which Chief Building Inspector Jack Coates said is falling down and is a public nuisance.

4. Continued to Feb. 21 discussion of expanding the underground utilities program.

5. Ordered that architect Roger F. Hooper be directed to redesign the Glenwood firehouse to bring it within the budgeted funds. Bids for the job came in some $10,000 over the amount expected. Councilmen were dissatisfied with Hooper's proposal to cut the cost by using cheaper materials and a smaller furnace.

6. Directed City Manager Anderson to furnish County Administrator Alan Bruce with a proposal to rent a parking lot across from the San Rafael Recreation Center at Second and Brooks streets for use of seniors, with the county to pick up the $100 monthly rent. Andersen said the city is putting "four times as much" as the county into the joint city-county program for seniors.

7. Approved the final map of Terra Linda Unit 24.

8. Approved replacement of street lights on Mission Avenue from Court to H streets with new mercury vapor lights. City Engineer Ely Caillouette said it would add $21.90 per month to the city's electricity bill.

9. Authorized Caillouette to file with the state an outline of gasoline tax engineering projects to get $7,000 in state funds for them.

10. Authorized Caillouette to prepare a call for bids for a left turn storage lane on D Street at Meyer Road.

11. Adopted an amendment to the building code to permit alterations in buildings that were erected in Fire Zone 2 but have since been rezoned Fire Jone 1, without making the entire building conform to the stricter requirements of the latter zone.

12. Adopted an ordinance outlawing firing of B-B guns and slingshots along with other weapons within the city limits.

13. Authorized City Manager Andersen to advertise for sale a substandard city-owned lot on Ross Street.

13. Authorized hiring of Denny M. Phillips as maintenance man in the tree department at $538 per month, and Patricia G. Harker as clerk-typist in the police department at $344.

15. Granted Jesse Stewart, building inspector, a 30-day leave without pay.

Marin Transit Board Will Meet

A new study aimed at solving the commute problem for Marin will be discussed before the Marin County Transit District board at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Civic Center.

Representatives of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District and the San Francisco Board of Supervisors are expected to attend.

Bridge Director Thomas G. Hardcastle will ask the Marin Transit Board to consider providing parking space for shuttle buses.

Mrs. John Machado Plans To Run For Novato Council

She becomes the fifth person to take out nomination papers. Others, are Harley McAskill, Wayne Hathaway, Robert Johnson, and Joseph Bonomolo.

Mrs. Machado has been active in civic affairs, working for the incorporation of Novato. She served on the original parks and recreation commission. She is on the 14th District Parent-Teacher Assn. Council and a member of the Novato Toastmistress Club.

A native of Oakland, she grew up in Marin County and the Sacramento Valley. She graduated from Orland High School and worked as a telephone operator for Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. prior to her marriage 20 years ago. She and her husband, John, have two children, Paul, 7, and Laura, 6.

"I think that a woman should be on the council to present a woman's viewpoint on the issues," she said. Lucile Cannon, who has been on the council for the past four years, is not running for re-election.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

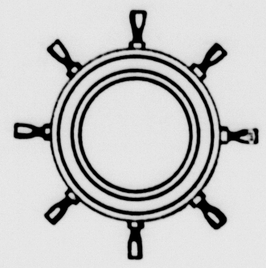
By MOLLY MARIN

A cruise in the Balearic Islands off Spain is in prospect for Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brash of Belvedere, who have accepted the invitation of former Belvedere residents, Mr. and Mrs. Knud Prip, to join them aboard their 72-foot motor yacht, the Golden West. The Prips sold their home in Belvedere in April and had the spacious yacht built in Ireland. After the September launching, Grace and Knud Prip took the boat to the Mediterranean and are living aboard. The Brashes leave for Europe Feb. 20. They will fly to Munich, then tour by car, taking in such high spots as Innsbruck, Venice and Barcelona, where they will meet the Prips and enjoy a leisurely voyage in Spanish waters for three weeks, then fly to Paris and on home.

LIVING IN SAN RAFAEL are Mr. and Mrs. Michael Heys, who were married here in October. Mrs. Heys, the former Polly Oberholzer, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Oberholzer of Fairfax and San Francisco and the sister of Richard Oberholzer of Lucas Valley. The couple moved to London, England, shortly after their marriage, but returned to Marin last month when Michael was transferred to the San Francisco branch of Lybrand Ross Brothers and Montgomery, where he is an accountant.

IT WAS A going-away celebration at Peacock Gap for the John Jakobis and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hawkins when a dinner was given at the home of Milton M. Cerf. The Hawkinses have left to live in Columbus, Ga., and the Jakobis are now in Sacramento. Attending the dinner party were Messrs. and Mesdames James Gaddy, Mack Johnson, David Brady, Reginald Jones, Russell Shatz, William Walsh, Frank Dill, Steven Waymire and the Cerfs.

THE THOMAS SKORNIAS of Ross are chairmen for the dinner Friday honoring the newly elected president of Grinnell College, Dr. Glenn Leggett, at the San Francisco Hilton. Some 30 alumni of the Iowa college will attend from Marin.



A GROUP OF his Marin friends surprised Gerald Ornstein of Hillsborough with a birthday party and dinner on Saturday. The group gathered at the home of the Richard Harrises in Sleepy Hollow for cocktails and then went on to West End Villa in San Rafael for the dinner. Guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Allan Steinau of Belvedere, Howard Cohn of Loch Lomond, Edward Schulman of San Rafael, and the Ornsteins. Attending from San Francisco were the Jacques Rooses, Julian Rhines and Stanley Wieners, and from Alameda the Peter Sosnicks.

PATRICIA CHARLTON

Post Deb Will Marry In August

Mr. and Mrs. Victors Rabuske Furst of Ross are announcing the engagement of her daughter, Patricia Charlton, to Thomas Frederick Dunlap of Norman, Okla.

The bride-elect, who is the sister of Victoria Louise Furst of Ross, was graduated from the Katharine Branson School and the University of California where she was a member of Alpha Phi sorority. She made her debut at the Marin Debutante Ball in 1962. Mr. and Mrs. Vern Winslow Burbank of San Francisco are her grandparents.

The prospective bridegroom, son of Errett Dunlap Jr. of Ardmore, Okla., and the late Mrs. Dunlap, was graduated from the Kent School and the University of California where he was affiliated with Alpha Delta Phi. He is working on a master's degree at the University of Oklahoma. Errett Dunlap III of Greenwich, Conn., is his brother. With his marriage he will relinquish membership in The Bachelors in San Francisco.

The wedding will be held in August at St. John's Church in Ross.

Leibert-McGurrin Vows Are Exchanged

In an 11:30 a.m. ceremony yesterday in the private chapel of Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken in San Francisco, Michael W. Leibert of Belvedere claimed Alexa (Flicka) McGurrin as his bride.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Howard McGurrin of San Francisco and the late Mr. McGurrin.

Flicka was given in marriage by her godfather, Gerald Stratford of San Francisco.

Peggy Knickerbocker of San Francisco served the bride as maid of honor and John Grant Leibert III of San Rafael was best man for his brother.

The bride was graduated from the Foxcroft School in Virginia and attended the University of California. She was presented at the 1963 Cotillion and at a ball given by her parents at the St. Francis Hotel. Mrs. Arthur Lewis of Mill Valley is her sister.

Michael is the son of Mrs. William Atchley of Inverness and Grant Leibert of Belvedere. He is also the brother of David Leibert of Belvedere and Mimi LaPlace and Bill and Mark Atchley. Mrs. John Leibert Sr. of San Francisco is his grandmother. The bridegroom was graduated from Whitman College and is a graduate student in drama at the University of California. Michael has been granted a fellowship in Greece and the couple departed yesterday afternoon for Europe.

Rummage Sale

The women of St. Sylvester's Church in San Rafael will sponsor a rummage sale on March 1 and 2 from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., at Sweeney's British Motor Showroom, Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael.

Mrs. Lou Politano is chairman, assisted by Mrs. Robert Parnow and Mrs. Nicholas Dollwett. Proceeds will be used to equip the parish hall.

MODERN MATH 2

Learning The 'Set Concept'

By Prof. W. F. Lloyd
University of Tampa

I can think of no facet in Modern Mathematics better suited to lead off this series than the set concept. It is so fundamental to human thinking that mankind probably developed it before developing the number concept. Certainly the young child thinks in sets before he begins to think in numbers.

A set is simply a group or collection of things that belong together.

Primitive man recognized that food, warmth, a dry place to live, and some women were pleasant. These constituted a set of good things. Hunger, cold, dampness, and some women made up a set of bad things.

Now picture yourself at a beach watching a bathing beauty contest. You find the beach crowded with beautiful girls. Some are entered in the contest, some are not, but each is an element of the set of girls on the beach.

At a signal from the judges, the contestants line up for the judging and the other girls recline on the sand. Now I can sneak in a definition. The contestants form a subset of the set of girls on the beach. The reclining beauties form another subset of the original set.

A subset is simply a set whose elements are also elements of a larger set called the universal set.

All the girls form the universal set and the other sets are drawn from these. For example, a set of blondes, one of redheads, and another of beauties in bikinis.

There are two speciallly defined subsets. Since all the girls were beautiful, if you were to form a subset of beautiful girls from the universal set you would have to include all of the girls, making two sets, composed of the same number of identical elements. Thus we define every set as a subset of itself.

If you were to form a subset of girls wearing knee length bathing suits, you would not have a single girl to put in this set. Such a set, with no elements, is defined as an empty set or the null set. Every set has a null set as a subset.

THE OPERATIONS with sets are not the familiar arithmetic operations of addition, multiplication, and division. Set operations have new names and new definitions. When an arithmetic operation was performed on two numbers the answer is a set.

For instance, suppose we name the set of blondes as set B and the set of contestants as set C. (Capital letters are commonly used as names for sets.)

The Union of these two sets will be a third set consisting of all the girls that are elements of at least one of the two given sets. Thus the union of set B and C written B U C is the set consisting of all of the contestants plus the blondes that are not contestants.

The Intersection of two sets is a third set whose elements are C written B n C is the set consisting solely of those contestants that are blonde.

The intersection of two sets cannot have a greater number of elements than the smaller set.

The Complement of a set is another set consisting of those elements of the Universal set that are not elements of the given set.

Thus the complement of set B, written B' (mathematicians have not come to agreement on this symbol as yet) is the set of all the girls on the beach that are not blonde. C is the set consisting of all of the girls that are not entered in the contest. Thus B n C would be the set of blondes that are not contestants.

The child in the primary grades, is introduced to sets with pictures of familiar objects such of birds, dogs, and bunnies.

THE FIRST OPERATION taken up is one-to-one matching. In this operation the child draws a line from a picture in one set to a picture in another set.

This introduces the idea of equivalent sets. Non-equivalent sets and the concept of order, is next introduced by having sets with a different number of pictures in each so that there will be at least one picture left over when the matching has been completed. Such sets are not equivalent and the set containing the left-over picture is called the larger set, the set that has been used up is the smaller set.

The number concept is then introduced through sets by advancing the suggestion that sets can be matched one-to-one have the same number.

Note that the word, number, is introduced as a funtcion of the quantity of elements. The word numeral is immediately introduced as the name for equivalent sets. The name for the set whose elements can be matched one-to-one with the fingers on one hand is five and the numeral for this name is 5.

The distinction between the word numeral and the word number is made from the very begining. Zero is introduced as the number for a set having no elements (the null set).

Addition and subtraction are introduced by joining and separating sets. Plenty of examples and illustrations are given to fix the number combinations in the child's memory.

AS THE NUMBER concept combinations are learned, sets give way to numerals and arithmetic begins to look like arithmetic. Sets are not abandoned; they appear throughout the work in all six elementary grades, where they are of use in introducing new concepts.

The operations of union and intersection, when formally introduced in the fifth grade, are immediately put to use in finding the common multiples and common divisors of numbers. These operations are further enlarged upon in the junior high texts.

As the child advances in school he encounters a more and more sophisticated treatment of the basic concept of sets and the operations on sets. I do not wish to convey the impression that sets are the only thing studied in modern mathematics. They are simply a basic concept that is woven through the entire subject and used only when there is some reason for their use.

A great deal of textbook space is devoted to drills and exercises that drive the basic ideas firmly into the child's memory. In fact, the modern mathematics texts devote more attention to drill than did the more recent of the traditional texts.

Electronic Devices To Filter Out Dust

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—That old dust mop? That feather duster and all the dust cloths? Some day, they'll all go the way of the five-cent cigar, nickel phone call and buggy whip.

Lint, dust and other pesky particles that float through the air and land on you, furniture adnd trappings, you see, can be filtered out of the air electronically.

The clean air expert who says so, Hal Chamberlain of Minneapolis, has been one of the prime movers behind the new concept in home comfort. He is national market manager for a maker of the electronic devices.

"It's not that we can't live fairly comfortably the way things are," he said, "but how good is it, really?

"We've become accustomed to daily dust and lint on the furniture, layers of tobacco smoke at parties, cooking odors, filmy windows and mirrors.

"Most of us have lived with these conditions all our lives, so it seems perfectly normal. Most of us don't know what we're missing."

Chamberlain said the electronic air cleaning units filter the air up to 19 times as efficiently as ordinary fiber filters used in most furnace and air conditioning units.

Research has shown that regular filters catch only five to eight per cent of the airborne particles that pass through them. The electronic units trap from 60 to 95 per cent of those particles.

Chamberlain said studies have shown that the units cause a drastic reduction in household cleaning chores. There's a health side, too. Irritants annoying hay fever and dust-allergy sufferers largely are eliminated.

The first residential units for electronic air filtering were introduced in 1961. For the past two years, sales of one leading manufacturer have increased 30 per cent annually. Other firms in the field report increases also.

Chamberlain figures air cleaners now are selling at a rate equal to one for every 25 homes built in the U.S., and that one in 10 may have such a device on the homefront by 1970.

In dollars, that stands for a $20 million market last year—and about $70 million by the end of the decade.

St. Raphael's Is Setting For Montobbio-Healy Rite

St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael was the setting on Jan. 29 for the noon wedding of Madelon Marie Healy of San Rafael and Mark Montobbio of San Francisco.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Healy of San Rafael, wore a peau de soie sheath with Alencon lace and bell sleeves for the ceremony. The Rev. Benjamin Blank performed the rite in which Madelon was escorted to the altar by her father.

Melanie Healy attended her sister as maid of honor, and Carole Garaventa, Lynn Dell'Artino, cousin of the bridegroom, and Mesdames Timothy Reardon and Carl Schnabal were bridesmaids. All attendants wore gowns of pink crepe and red velvet.

Serving as best man was John Mohr, and Francis Healy, brother of the bride, Joseph Stone, Kevin Sheehy and Ralph Mihan ushered.

A reception followed the ceremony at Maple Lawn, San Rafael. The bride was graduated from Dominican Upper School and Dominican College and her husband is a third year student at University of San Francisco Law School. The son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Montobbio of San Francisco, he is also a member of the Olympic Club.

Following a wedding trip to Las Vegas, the couple will make their home in San Francisco.

Circle To Honor Members At Tea

Members of Ruth Miriam and Rachel Circles of the United Presbyterian Women of the Novato Presbyterian Church will be honored at a tea to be given by members of the Martha Circle tomorrow from 2 to 4:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Helen Noel in Novato.

Mrs. Walter Hulme is chairman of the Martha Circle.

School Library Dedication Combined With P-TA Meet

Dedication ceremonies for the new library building and four new classrooms at Henry C. Hall School in Larkspur will be combined with the Parent-Teacher Assn. founders day program at 7:30 p.m. on Feb. 17 in the school multi-use room.

Six years ago, the P-TA group, seeing the need for library facilities in the Larkspur School District, undertook to raise funds and provide volunteer workers to start a library in the corner of one of the classrooms at Henry C. Hall School. The program has grown to include a library room in each of the district's four schools, a full-time district librarian providing instruction in library skills, and a library clerk in each school.

At the dedication Milton S. Cohen, district superintendent, will speak and Mrs. Kenneth Shaff, P-TA president, will award an honorary life membership in the P-TA. Tom Marker, fall student council president, will present a gift to the library from the student-body and Mrs. Lawrence Synder will announce winners of the children's art contest.

Following the ceremonies dessert will be served and the new buildings will be open for inspection.

Polynesia Theme For Tennis Club

Mill Valley Tennis Clubwomen will spend a "February Day in the Islands" on Feb. 15 when their luncheon meeting follows a Hawaiian theme. Members are to come dressed in Polynesian style for the noon event.

Entertainment will be provided by the Bronson Entertainers of Walnut Creek, women whose hobby is Hawaiian dancing and culture.

Better Buy Shop To Hold Potluck

The Better Buy Shop, sponsored by the Episcopal Churchwomen of the Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley, will mark its second anniversary with a potluck luncheon at the rectory on Valentine Day.

Mrs. D. Murray Hammond, wife of the rector, will be in charge, aided by the shop co-chairmen, Mrs. Forest Sur and Mrs. George Brockman.

Now located at 379 Shoreline Highway in Tamalpais Valley, the shop was originally to be at a downtown location. A few days before the grand opening, however, the building was condemned by the fire department. The present shop opened for business on Feb. 1, 1964.

Operation of the secondhand shop replaces the churchwomen's annual rummage sale. It not only supplies a service to the community, Mrs. Sur said, but enables women of the church to carry on their work.

Hours for the shop are 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday. Contributions of saleable items, and almost anything is saleable according to Mrs. Sur, are welcomed.

GETTING IN practice to serve at the wine festival planned on Feb. 19 by the St. Cecilia's Women's Club of Lagunitas are, from left, Mesdames Rodney Thorsen, co-chairman, John Alvarado and Albert Schivo. The event to be held in Star Hall, San Anselmo, will begin with a wine tasting to be followed by dinner and dancing.

St. Cecilia's Women's Club Sets Date For Wine Festival

St. Cecilia's Women's Club of Lagunitas will hold its third wine festival with a wine testing, dinner and dance on Feb. 19 at Star Hall, San Anselmo.

Mrs. John Burke is chairman and Mesdames Phillip Fahy and Rodney Thorsen, co-chairmen.

Other committee members for the event which will begin with wine tasting at 6:30 p.m., followed by dinner and dancing are Mesdames Orinda Ross, tickets; Jack Alvaredo, kitchen, assisted by Messrs. Otis Wilbur, Rodney Thorsen, Phillip Fahy and Jerry Fish. Fred Baguio is in charge of decorations, Mrs. Phillip Fahy, serving, and Mrs. Stanley Dentkos, publicity.

Delicate Makeup

The face a woman puts on for her public come spring will be one of soft and delicate makeup tones, reports the National Assn. of Hairdressers and Cosmetologists. Eye makeup, it adds, will be in natural shades for eyebrows with false lashes to echo hair colors. Lips come in bright pink and coral shades.

Engagement Ended

Mass Media To Be Topic At P-TA Meet

A panel of leaders in their fields will discuss mass communication for the Don Timoteo School Parent-Teacher Assn. tonight at 8 o'clock at the school in San Rafael.

Panel members will be Bryce W. Anderson, city editor of the Independent-Journal; Carter B. Smith, radio station KSFO disc jockey; Don Brice, KPIX television news director; and Roger Freeburg, composer and professional musician. Mo Kristensen, special teacher, will serve as moderator.

The panel will discuss questions such as "Does Mass Communication Help Change Values of Society?" and "Should Society Have More Control Over Mass Media?"

The public program will be held in rooms 2 and 24 at the school.

Turtles As Pets May Mean Trouble

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—Two Minnesota Department of Health researchers reported recently that turtles, heretofore considered almost perfect household pets, can be the source of a serious intestinal disease, salmonellosis. They urge everyone with pet turtles to wash their hands after handling the creatures or their bowls, or the pebbles often kept in them. No one, including other household pets, should eat or drink from the turtle's bowl. They also caution that the water in which the turtle lives should never be emptied in the kitchen sink where it might contaminate food.

Modern Opera, Women Subject Of Lectures

Modern opera and the role of the educated woman in modern society will be the topics of two lectures to be given this week in Olney Hall at the College of Marin.

Friedelind Wagner, founder and director of the Bayreuth Festival Master Classes, will speak Thursday at 8 p.m. on "Modern Opera Production in Europe."

Granddaughter of composer Richard Wagner and the great-granddaughter of Franz Liszt, Miss Wagner is a native of Germany but came to the United States in 1937.

On Friday at the same hour, Austrian - born psychologist Bruno Bettelheim will speak on "The Educated Woman and Her Role in Modern Society."

Bettelheim, 63, is professor of psychology and psychiatry at the University of Chicago. Several of his many books deal with such basic social problems as prejudice, child management, and delinquency.

Belvedere Sets Up Rules On Community Television

Belvedere City Council last night adopted an ordinance regulating community television antenna services, and announced applications to serve the city would be accepted for the next 60 days.

City Mgr. William L. Cavalli noted that the ordinance allows only 30 days for companies to apply, but that the measure will not go into effect for 30 days.

The council voted to accept Eucalyptus Road into the city street maintenance system as soon as deeds are filed by fronting property owners. Mayor Merritt K. Ruddock said all property owners had agreed to the plan, ending about five years of campaigning to bring the road up to city standard.

The Belevedere City Council also:

1. Postponed action on a six-lot subdivision of the James McGuinness family land at the top of Belvedere Island to await planning commission approval of a variance for one lot.
2. Ordered City Atty. William H. MacKay to act immediately to force eviction of a second family living at 71 Bellevue Avenue, in a single-family zone.
3. Approved routinely a budget to spend $1,000 in state gasoline tax funds for street engineering.
4. Adopted an ordinance controlling filling of inundated areas of the bay.
5. Tabled consideration of County Supervisor Peter H. Behr's proposed park bond issue, after Cavalli said he was opposed to a plan which would apportion funds to cities on the basis of population or assessed valuation, regardless of whether they had any parks or recreation program.
6. Passed a resolution allowing a city councilman to be out of the state or county for as long as 30 days at a time. Councilman Edwin J. Drechsel, an employee of U. S. News and World Report, was absent, having been sent to Honolulu to cover the conference on Viet Nam.

Negro History Programs Set In Marin City

Negro History Week will be observed through Sunday in Marin City with an exhibit of arts and crafts by children and programs including negro spirituals, a poety reading, and performances of modern dancing.

The week ties in with national Negro History observances which began Feb. 1 to run through Feb. 17, reported Mrs. Beatrice Duke, president of the sponsoring Marin Art and Culture Club.

Children's exhibits will be on display at St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church daily from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 4 to 6 p.m.

Modern dancers from Tamalpais High School, under direction of Mrs. Margaret Pell, will perform at 8 p.m. Saturday at the church. Also on the program will be a reading of Negro poetry and a book review by Mrs. Billy Johnson of Corte Madera.

Sunday at 3 p.m. at the First Missionary Baptist Church, Marin City, there will be a program of Negro spirituals and a mass chorus directed by Rev. Fred Small, pastor of Church of God in Christ. George Duke will play organ and Gwen Brown, piano.

Dr. Seaton Manning, head of the sociology department, San Francisco State College, and former Marin City resident, will be guest speaker. Alma Banks-Wells, soprano, will sing.

Marin Students Get Yearbook Positions

CONCERT REVIEW

Negro Spirituals Have New Meaning

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Charles Lampkin, Negro folk singer and pianist, opened Dominican College's American Music Festival last night in Angelico Hall with a performance vastly different from those of the so-called folk singers of today.

Accompanying himself on the piano, Lampkin drew pictures in words and music of the origin and nature of Negro musical forms, such as shout-songs, spirituals, work songs, field hollers, and cries and blues. Also included were selections from the works of such modern Negro poets as Langston Hughes, Countee Cullen and Gwendolyn Brooks.

Sensing the popularity with students of his piano arrangement of "St. Louis Blues," he closed with an unscheduled, lengthy and intricate medley of Gerschwin tunes.

Because he does not have a trained voice, one has the impression when he sings that this is the way these songs must have sounded as they were sung by a slave to express his deepest emotions.

In the fairly familiar form of the spiritual it was interesting to hear some different versions of old favorites like the one of "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" sung by slaves on St. Catherine's Island off the coast of Georgia.

Probably new to most were the shout-songs (audience participation didn't work too well on one of these), field hollers and street cries, in which Lampkin showed his dramatic ability. This was evident, too, in the recitation of music of "The Creation" by James Weldon Johnson.

A puzzling circumstance was his frequent failure to be clearly understood, especially in the first half of the program, which may have been due to too intimate an approach in an attempt to establish rapport with a rather small audience. The second half was better after this apparently was called to his attention and he used a microphone.

The second concert in the festival will be on Feb. 17 at 8 p.m. in Angelico Hall. It will consist of a lecture by Dr. W. Thomas Marrocco, distinguished musicologist and authority on American music, and music performed by concert pianist Sister Mary Dominic, O.P., of the Dominican College music faculty.

'The Cradle Song' Scheduled For Drake Theater

"The Cradle Song," a play about Dominican nuns, will be presented Feb. 26 and March 5 at Sir Francis Drake High School's Little Theater.

The second Drake High School production this school year, the play will be directed by Paula Jacobson, a senior at the school. Drama advisor Robert Johnson has cast 19 girls and four boys for the production.

Annexations Go Before Council

San Anselmo City Council, meeting at 8 p.m. today in City Hall, will hold a public hearing on the annexation of a portion of Sunny Hills property to the city. They will also be asked to refer a study made on the feasibility of annexing the Short Ranch area to San Anselmo to the Local Agency Formation Commission.

City Administrator Douglas J. Flautt will recommend they hire a consulting engineer to prepare plans and specifications for the second phase of the project to widen Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. This phase runs from Tunsted Avenue, east to the Ross town limits.

Councilmen will also hear a report from the Downtown Off-Street Parking Committee.

Tiburon Council To Hear Report On Lot Ordinance

The Tiburon City Council, meeting at 8 p.m. today at Del Mar School, will consider proposed building and subdivision ordinances for the city.

Sydney H. Williams will be present to discuss the subdivision ordinance prepared by his firm, Williams, Cook and Mocine.

Also on the agenda is a request from City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose as to what actions should be taken by him on parks and recreation matters until a parks and recreation commission is named by the council.

Formation of such a commission was approved by the council Dec. 13.

A model ordinance prepared by the California League of Cities establishing uniform traffic regulations for the city will be discussed.

Cost of including Tiburon city employees in the state retirement system is also on the agenda.

Harris To Star In 'Pooh' Play

Jim Harris Jr. will play the part of Christopher Robin in "Winnie the Pooh" to be presented by the Castle Court players at 10:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Feb 12 and 19 at the Novato Community House, sponsored by the Novato Parks and Recreation Department.

Jim was selected for the part from nine boys who auditioned for the role before Douglas M. Briggs, director. He is a a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Harris of 2361 Dominic Drive, and is in the sixth grade at West Novato School.

"Winnie the Pooh" is the first of a series of plays to be presented by the Castle Court Players at the Novato Community House. It will be followed by "Cinderella," "The Red Shoes," and "The Magic Storybook."

Senior Citizen Program Starts

A senior citizen program will start at the Marinwood Community Center at 11 a.m. tomorrow, according to William A. Gordon, director for the Marinwood Community Services District.

The sessions, to continue until 4 p.m., will be held on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month.

Gordon also announced a trip to San Francisco to see an ice hockey game Feb. 26 and a trip to Donner Summit on March 12. Pre-registration is necessary for both trips.

Judo classes under instruction of Leon Morganstern will start March 2, and tennis classes under Roberts Carlson will start Feb. 28.

Council Appoints Childress To Education Board Post

Herman L. Childress of 24 Dunfries Terrace was appointed to the San Rafael Board of Education last night by the city council, to fill the vacancy left by resignation of Walter J. Doll.

Childress was given the oath of office by City Clerk W. C. Cornwell shortly after his appointment, and will attend his first meeting as a board member tonight.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini urged appointment of John M. Bagshaw, a former board of education member who did not run for re-election last year. However, all other council members favored Childress, who was nominated by Councilman Charles W. Aby. Bettini at first voted "no," then changed his vote to make the appointment unanimous.

HERMAN L. CHILDRESS
First meeting tonight

Aby at first suggested the vote be by secret ballot. When this brought no second, Councilman Harry A. Barbier suggested all candidates appear before the council at a special meeting.

"I'm prepared to make a decision tonight," said Mayor Bettini. Aby then nominated Childress. Barbier seconded the nomination.

Bettini said he favored Bagshaw because of his experience on the board, noting that Carl J. Brown (who was present) is now senior member of the board of education with only three years service.

If experience were not to be the criteria, he said, he would favor an appointment from "north of the hill"—the area where Doll resides. In that case, he said, he would favor Thomas Campanella, a resident of the Terra Linda annexation to the city in Dixie Elementary School District.

Councilman Louis H. Baar said: "I work with Mr. Bagshaw and he's a very fine man . . . but a little article in the paper kind of took me out of the position of proposing him for any office." (The article referred to mentioned that both Baar and Bagshaw are associated with Redmond and Co., realty firm.)

Baar said he had talked with Childress, Bagshaw, and Mrs. Leonora Cadwallader, a fourth candidate for the appointment, and would votef or Childress.

Bettini disclosed a fifth candidate had written him—Carl Lorenzen, whose candidacy was unknown to the other councilmen.

The new board of education member is assistant to the vice president of Standard Oil Co. of California, and will become national accounts representative for that company on Feb. 16. He has been employed by Standard Oil and its subsidiaries for 20 years, in California and New Jersey, except for three years in the Army Air Force in World War II. He was formerly assistant to the president of Chevron Oil Co., a Standard subsidiary.

He was born in Cairo, Ill., received a B.S. degree in chemical engineering from University of Illinois and an M.S. in the same field from Carnegie Institute of Technology.

He and his wife, Dorothy, have three children, of whom the two elder are San Rafael High School graduates and the youngest, Judith, is a junior at San Rafael High. They have lived in San Rafael five years.

The council received many letters of endorsement of Childress, Bagshaw, and Campanella. In contrast to the situation last year, when Mrs. Anita C. Strom was appointed to the board of education, there was no attack on any of the candidates.

LOCAL STUDY SET IN BAY CROSSING

Bay Toll Division Plans $850,000 Study, To Consider Impact On Marin Approaches

The State Division of Bay Toll Crossings is considering local planning in its study of a proposed new crossing from San Francisco to Marin, according to a progress report released yesterday.

Among factors being studied are "the impact of approaches on the communities at each end," and "connections to existing and proposed freeways, highways, local roads and city streets," the report noted.

"Effect on communities and integration with a regional transportation plan will have high priority in the course of the study," according to E. R. Foley, chief engineer.

The division is conducting an $850,000 study, which started last September and is scheduled to be completed by May, 1967.

All reasonable alignment possibilities for a new crossing will be studied, the report said.

Some of the corridors which will be investigated are:

From the Presidio area in San Francisco to Marin County near the Waldo approach. This would include the possibility of a crossing between the headlands at the Golden Gate Bridge site, as well as at more easterly locations.

From the Van Ness Avenue area to the easterly portion of Marin County.

From the Embarcadero area in San Francisco to the easterly portion of Marin County.

The study also will cover underwater tube construction, as well as bridges, that could accommodate both mass transit and vehicular traffic.

The report noted there has been public interest in other methods of transportation, such as hydrofoils, helicopters and ferry boats, that should be studied.

Since this study cannot be undertaken under the provisions of present legislation, the report recommended that funds be made available by the legislature to permit study of surface craft.

The report also said consideration will be given to the "overall effect on the natural beauty of the bay for each type of crossing studied."

Because the problems are so complex, experts in the fields of traffic, underwater tubes, bridge design and architecture, and finance will participate in the study of needs and feasible solutions, the division reported.

The financing and operation of any future crossing to Marin County would have to be coordinated with existing facilities, the report said.

Meetings have been held with civic groups and governmental agencies, including the Marin County Board of Supervisors, the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, and representatives of the public works and planning departments of San Francisco.

The division plans to continue its coordination with the planning efforts of the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission and all local and regional jurisdictions, as the study proceeds, Foley reported.

A southern crossing report which found that water transportation could not compete with existing bus service and proposed rapid transit service does not necessarily apply to the San Francisco-Marin crossing problem because different conditions prevail, the report said.

Master Plan On Novato's City Agenda

The Novato City Council will introduce an ordinance adopting the new Novato master plan when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

Changes recommended at hearings on the plan last week are to be incorporated into the ordinance.

City Mgr. J. Julien Baget will report on progress in negotiations for a park site adjacent to the Rancho School playground.

Baget will also report on effectiveness of the city's anti-solicitor ordinance. Mayor Robert D. Carrow asked for this report at last week's council meeting.

The council will receive the draft of an underground utilities ordinance and the counsel's opinion on the consolidation of the city and Novato fire district elections.

Menary Strings Along With Parking Proposal

Violin professor Vlado Kolitsch acquired an ally last night, and as a result a San Rafael parking ordinance may be changed.

Kolitsch, who lives and teaches music at 1732 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, wrote the city council complaining of ticketing by police for overparking in privately owned parking lots. He appeared at last night's council meeting to back his complaint in person.

He promptly acquired City Atty. David Menary Jr. as an ally.

"I think what he has in mind is to get the ordinance amended," said Menary. "I don't think it's a bad idea."

The city attorney said the present ordinance empowers police to ticket vehicles on private property at the property owner's request. It is used, he said, to prevent overparking at commercial establishments' lots.

"I don't like the thing, personally," said the city attorney, calling it a misuse of police. He said the ordinance probably was intended only to prevent parking in driveways and lots of homes.

The council instructed Menary to rewrite the ordinance to eliminate the objectionable feature. He said he would do so by the Feb. 21 council meeting. Kolitsch said he'd be back then.

Credit Card Use Case Bound Over

Albert Edward Robertson, 22, of 342 Sycamore Avenue, Mill Valley, was bound over to Main Superior Court yesterday following a preliminary hearing on a charge of illegal use of another man's credit card.

He allegedly used a card lost by Benjamin L. Johnston of Novato to buy about $118 worth of gas and other service station supplies last September and October in Novato.

Video Changes Are Approved In Mill Valley

Mill Valley City Council approved changes, then introduced an ordinance last night to permit a community antenna television system.

Changes included a stipulation that a conditional use permit for all above-ground facilities other than poles and wires, with violators of the ordinance subject to $500 fine or six-month imprisonment.

No action was taken on a proposal by Councilman Albert E. White Jan. 17 on possibility of a city-operated antenna system. City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer reported that a League of California Cities attorney said he knows of no city in California that has set up its own community antenna television system, but that it would probably be permissable.

White said the council should reaffirm that it wants as much of the system underground as possible. Councilmen Michael Wornum and William M. Secor agreed.

Secor said he left the $500 fine could be larger and Wornum suggested the city get a percentage of the net profit as well as net gross. The ordinance provides that the franchise holder must pay the city a compensation equal to two per cent of the gross annual receipts.

Man Pleads To Compass Damage

Hibbard Fuque Lee, 23, pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to malicious mischief in the disappearance last Nov. 5 of a $30 ship's compass at Marinship Yacht Harbor.

Judge Peter Allen Smith scheduled sentencing for 3 p.m. March 1.

Terra Linda Woman Wins Army's Award

Dorothy M. Lee, 301 Holly Drive, Terra Linda, widow of Maj. Clarence C. Lee, has been presented the Department of the Army outstanding performance award in ceremonies at the Presidio of San Francisco.

It was awarded for outstanding service as secretary with the Sixth Army Information Office from November 1964 to October 1965.

Housewife Seeking San Anselmo Vote

Mrs. Anne West, 45, of 21 Crescent Lane, San Anselmo, a housewife and mother of three children, announced today she will be a candidate for election to the San Anselmo City Council.

Mrs. West, vice president of the San Anselmo Homes Assn., has lived in the city 10 years. Her husband, John West, is a member of the San Anselmo Planning Commission.

"If I am elected," said Mrs. West, "he will submit his resignation to the city council for them to accept or reject."

Mrs. West listed six problems in San Anselmo, which, she said, "have been neglected for so long that we can only meet them through a joint, boot-strap effort on the part of both the citizens and the government."

The city's streets and traffic congestion must be given priority, she said. One-lane residential streets must be rebuilt, then maintained. The "slogged traffic pattern on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard" must be solved, she declared.

"Since a freeway would destroy San Anselmo by cutting it in half, reducing or eliminating property values and afflicting most residents with its smog, noise and dirt, the Point Reyes freeway must bypass our city," she said. Other problems she named were:

BEAUTIFICATION—The council should sponsor a city-wide cleanup campaign and enforce ordinances prohibiting littering, dumping and other unsightly messes.

DOWNTOWN AREA — Develop the Hub as a landscaped parking area. Recognize the creek as an advertising asset "of unique and irreplacable value." Merchants and landlords should improve the appearance of rundown buildings, provide better shopping services and engage in a unified advertising program.

ANNE WEST
Offers program

ORDINANCES — Generally good, but they have been "variianced to death." Variances should be granted only rarely and not as a matter of convenience. The slope policy should be enforced.

PARKS and RECREATION — Funds are scarce and the program must be helped out by private citizens.

FIRE PROTECTION—Should investigate the possibilities of saving money and improving facilities through a combination with other areas. Many of the city's water mains are only two inches in diameter, inadequate even for standard domestic use. A program to improve at least one a year must be undertaken, she declared.

Mayor Passes Out Trophies To Pistol Shoot Winners

San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini last night presented gleaming trophies to the hottest shots in Northern California.

At opening of the city council meeting, the mayor passed out trophies won the H. O. Peters Memorial Pistol Shoot on the San Rafael police range Saturday.

Patrolman Barxdal Stinson, president of the San Rafael police pistol team, read off the names of the winners. He reported that 66 four-member teams, 16 individual men and 14 women participated in the competition, from 43 law enforcement departments in Northern California.

Top award, the San Rafael Police Assn. perpetual trophy, went to the Solano County Sheriff's Department team.

Award for the highest scoring Marin County team went to the sheriff's department team headed by Sgt. Edward Levine. That for the highest individual score in Marin was won by Dan Thomas, Novato police patrolman.

The match was named for the late H. O. Peters, who established the San Rafael range and was pistol instructor for many years for police and sheriff's men in Marin.

Clean-Up Before Fairfax Council

The Fairfax City Council will meet at 8 p.m. next Monday, and high on the agenda will be discussion of plans to spruce up the city.

A chairman, or possibly two co-chairmen, will be named by Mayor Frank L. Lawrence to head a citizens committee in charge of an intensive two-week campaign in May to clean, paint and fix up the town.

Other citizens will be invited to join the committee at the meeting. The program is part of a nationwide clean-up competition for cities, which Fairfax will enter.

Center Plan Gaining In San Anselmo

The San Anselmo Planning Commission last night approved the proposed town center plan and recommended that the city council adopt it as a guideline for downtown development.

The plan calls for construction of a major thoroughfare to replace San Anselmo Avenue. It would cut through 26 parcels of property, most of which have old buildings on them.

The new street, which would allow construction of a pedestrian mall on San Anselmo Avenue, would parallel that avenue from Ross Avenue to San Rafael Avenue.

A 3-to-3 tie vote by the commission had the effect of denying an application by Bay Counties Realty Corp. to rezone two parcels at 48 and 52 Tamaalpais Avenue from duplex to neighborhood apartments.

Against rezoning were commissioners Duane C. Ragan, John F. West and Jerry Lloyd. Voting for it were chairman Warren Perry, James Murphy and Allan Creighton. Commissioner Edward Nordmann was absent.

The San Anselmo Planning Commission also:

1. Recommended the City council leave unchanged all variance and other application fees.
2. Postponed action on a proposed ordinance requiring subdividers dedicate land for parks in subdivisions until the county can act on a similar proposal.
3. Approved developers Wages and Slayton's two-lot subdivision at 301 the Alameda.

Corte Madera Lions Set Candidate Forum

The Corte Madera Lions Club will hold a candidates' night for all town council and county candidates on March 31 at 7:30 p.m. at the Corte Madera Recreation Center.

Charles F. Pendleton will moderate the session. The club's regular dinner meeting will be cancelled to make the special program possible, said president John McDermott.

Changing Phone Listing Cuts Nuisance Phone Calls

The steady influx of population and rapid urbanization of what was once "rural Marin" will unfortunately bring an increase in crime and violence.

Communities where residents could greet each other by their first names are becoming rarities.

New homes and apartments mean new faces and a greater turnover of residents. The old days when local police officers were personally acquainted with a big majority of the townsfolk, their cars and their daily habits are long gone.

The job of law enforcement becomes more difficult, and safety officials need increasing support and cooperation from the public.

Recent news headlines, not necessarily confined to Marin or to the Bay Area, indicate that some of the crimes may originate from a random phone call or visit by perverts or frauds who hope to take advantage of women or elderly persons living alone.

This suggests one way in which the public can help police, at least to cut down on nuisance telephone calls.

Law enforcement agencies, from long experience, have learned that in many cases of lewd telephone calls, the suspect merely thumbs through a telephone directory to pick a victim at random.

Needless to say, a person who lists her name as "Miss Jane Doe" or "Jane Doe" is more likely to be victimized by the random caller, be he intent on fraud or mere nuisance.

A suggestion that has long been advocated by law enforcement agencies makes good sense: It might be wiser for women living alone to use the initials of the first and middle name instead of the full first name.

For example, instead of "Jane Doe," why not "J. Doe" or "J. B. Doe."

The new telephone directories will be coming out the first part of April. Any changes in home listings should be made well in advance, by the end of this month.

On occasion, police have spent hours and sometimes days trying to track down nuisance telephone calls. If these incidents can be reduced, as a result of discreet telephone listings, our law officers would have that much more time to attend to the many duties that rapid urbanization is pressing upon them.

GOD IN A SUBWAY STATION

The stop is used by hundreds of students who attend Columbia University as well as Union Theological Seminary and the Jewish Theological Seminary of America.

The first message chalked on the wall consisted of these four words: "God is dead. (Signed) Nietzsche."

It wasn't there long before some enterprising believer added another four words to the original. They read simply: "Nietzsche is dead; (Signed) God."

Show a friendly, thoughtful interest in persons who are bothered by religious doubts or those who are avowed agnostic or atheistic.

The mere fact that unbelievers raise the question is a sign that deep in their hearts and souls there is still a spark of faith in God that can never be completely stifled or eliminated.

"Be not deceived. God is not mocked. For what a man sows, that he will also reap."

Death Of Knowland Closes Era In History Of State's Press

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The passing of Joseph R. Knowland, publisher of the Oakland Tribune, at the age of 92 years, marks the end of an era in the newspaper world of this state.

Knowland might be said to have been the last of a long line of publishers in California of the "old school." These included William Randolph Hearst, C. K. McClatchy, Fremont Older, William Chandler and many others on smaller newspapers, all of whom were dedicated to bringing the news to the people.

It has been this writer's privilege to work as a reporter for a good many of these publishers, including Knowland.

THIS WAS BACK in 1935, in the days just after the famous waterfront strike in San Francisco, when tensions remained high, and the entire Bay Area was affected by the issues raised by the longshoremen.

There followed the now dimly remembered ship murder case in Alameda, which was prosecuted by the district attorney's office in Alameda County at the instance of Earl Warren, then district attorney and now chief justice of the United States Supreme Court.

Through all of these outstanding stories, the philosophy of Knowland remained steadfast as far as his newspaper was concerned. It was simply to bring the news to his readers.

ALTHOUGH Knowland was publisher of one of the largest Bay Area papers, he was not above doing the work of a reporter when it became necessary. And as a reporter, he was one of the best who ever phoned in a story.

As rewrite man for the Tribune, this writer had occasion to take a story from Knowland on the opening of the American Canyon Highway from southwest of Fairfield to Vallejo.

Not too many can remember when the main highway from Sacramento to San Francisco passed through Vallejo in a round-about way. The American Canyon cutoff then was the latest word in highway development.

A few minutes before deadline, Knowland telephoned a story of the opening of this new highway, attended by dignitaries from various parts of the state. Short, concise and to the point, it was a tribute to his ability as a reporter.

AS AN ASSEMBLYMAN, senator and congressman, Knowland was no stranger to the political life of the state. After being defeated for election to the U. S. Senate, he became publisher of the Oakland newspaper, but his interest in politics never flagged.

He might be said to have "made" Chief Justice Warren, through his support for Warren for Alameda County district attorney, attorney general of the state, and finally for three terms as governor.

He continued his interest in political affairs, state boards and commissions and the progress of his community. He was a promoter of state-wide business interests through the state chamber of commerce, and a proponent of an outstanding state beaches and parks system through his long chairmanship of the State Parks Commission.

Most men of outstanding character are subjects of criticism, and Knowland had his share. But his contributions to the state's progress will be long remembered.

Clergymen Plead For Bombing Lull

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Hopeful that the report of renewed bombing of North Viet Nam does not represent an irrevocable decision, those whose names appear below wholeheartedly endorse the statement of the National Emergency Committee of Clergy Concerned about Viet Nam, an ad hoc, interfaith committee, which sent the following message to President Johnson.

"We are appalled by the inhumanity of the war in Viet Nam and the extension of hostilities to neighboring countries. Impending national decisions about Viet Nam will fundamentally influence the political, military, and above all, moral future of our nation and world. We are, heartened by your recent efforts for peace, and we urge: (1) that the cessation of bombing in North Viet Nam be maintained; (2) that you continue to press for negotiated peace, and that the National Liberation Front be given direct representation in all discussions; (3) that you vigorously resist all pressure toward further escalation; (4) that economic development for humane purposes at home and abroad be given budgetary priority over military spending."

Among the 40 who signed this statement were the following: Eugene Carson Blake, stated clerk, United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.; Robert McAfee Brown, Stanford Univ.; William Sloane Coffin, (formulator of the statement), chaplain, Yale Univ.; Bishop Daniel Corrigan, director of the Protestant Episcopal's home department; Edwin T. Dahlberg, Crozer Theological Seminary; Rabbi Abraham Heschel, Jewish Theological Seminary of America; John Wesley Lord, Methodist bishop of Washington, D. C.; Father Richard J. McSorley, Georgetown Univ.; Martin E. Marty, Univ. of Chicago Divinity School; Reinhold Niebuhr, Union Theological Seminary.

We urge everyone who agrees with the message of the National Emergency Committee to wire or write President Johnson, Senators Kuchel and Murphy, and Congressman Clausen.

Mill Valley PANS Not National Group

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Is the Mill Valley Parents Assn. for Neighborhood Schools (PANS) part of a statewide organization?

This flattering but false assumption has recently appeared several times in the I-J . . .

Mill Valley PANS is a local, non-partisan group not connected with any other organization whatsoever . . .

If there was a group coincidentally called PANS which functioned in the 1964 school recall attempt in Berkeley, we were not aware of it until now. Mill Valley PANS is not interested in recalls or in picketing schools. Our purpose has been to stimulate two-way communication between our school board and the Mill Valley public regarding the future of our schools . . .

The criticism has been made of PANS that we are "prejudging the issue of what kind of schools are best for Mill Valley children." We plead guilty! We are doing just that.

We are doing it because for some time there has existed in Mill Valley a group, well organized and highly articulate, that had already "prejudged" the issue and concluded that the neghborhood school as such had NO compelling positive educational values.

We were concerned lest, by speaking often and long enough, this very small part of the total community could persuade our board that they speak for the majority.

The kind of schools our youngsters attend should not be determined by one-tenth of one per cent of the people, even though they do attend board meetings with religious dedication. Mill Valley PANS has endeavored to see that this doesn't happen . . .

Newspaper Aids War On Pesky Polecats

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I've come to the recent conclusion that ridding a house of civit cats—or skunks for that matter—is not as awesome task as it might seem. The prerequisites are know-how and a little patient work. It doesn't even take money.

The expulsion of these animals from the James David house in Woodacre posed a seemingly unsurmountable problem to me until you gave heart to the cause and published a story about the varmits, thus drawing the attention and counsel of Marie Joyce of Forest Knolls. Her knowledge of civit cats and skunks, based on plenty of personal experience and research, is basically responsible for clearing the house of the pests. The cost of the sulphur candles she prescribed was less than one dollar, whereas twenty-five dollars paid to a professional exterminator (who, incidentally, no longer will handle skunk problems!) was almost literally "money down the drain."

To the public service attitude of the Independent-Journal and the very good reporting of Mr. Robert Strebeigh and to the humane concern of Mrs. Joyce go my deep thanks and those of the Al Chelinis who tenant the house. To the county health department and the humane society go not onions but the scent that the civit cats fortunately failed to leave behind (only the agricultural commissioner offered any sympathetic and constructive advice).

It is interesting at this point to speculate on the justness of some of the rules and orders of living which we automatically accept and every day follow; were it up to me, I would in clearer conscience pay the exterminator's fee to Mrs. Joyce and my property taxes to the Independent-Journal.

GEORGE M. COHAN, like many other producer-playwrights, deeply resented actors who changed his lines or bits of business after a show had settled down for a long run. One night, Cohan dropped in unexpectedly on one of his hits that had been selling out on Broadway for six months. As the final curtain fell, he charged angrily backstage and pinned this notice on the bulletin board: "Rehearsal for entire cast at eleven tomorrow—to take out the improvements."

UNLESS YOU have a reasonably strong stomach, you had better skip this paragraph from the new Guinness Book of World Records: For eating: George Grogniet, at Brussels in 1962, downed 44 boiled eggs in 30 minutes. Roger McEwan, at Upminster, in 1959, consumed 30 bags of potato chips in 59 minutes—without one drink. Philip Yazdzik, at Chicago in 1955, wolfed 79 hamburgers at a single sitting. And Joe Garcia, in Melbourne, slurped 480 oysters inside of one hour. Bicarbonate, anyone?

Republicans See Big Opportunity To Win Major Cities' Elections

WASHINGTON — Republican leaders are just beginning to cast an eye at a tremendous opportunity to win their way to office in many big cities.

It is a beckoning opportunity. It is not unattainable for these reasons:

1. Last fall's municipal elections proved that many voters are fed up with Democratic city - machine politics. The Democrats have controlled so many cities so long that, whether fairly or not, they are saddled with image of misrule as badly as Herbert Hoover was saddled with the Depression.

2. The big-city Democratic machines are ready to be toppled and the voters—given any attractive alternative — are ready to topple them. This is shown by what Republican candidates did recently in New York, Philadelphia, Louisville, Akron, New Britain, Conn. and other communities.

3. The often unplanned, uncontrolled tangle of urban and suburban growth has got so far out of hand that many city-dwellers tend to give up in helpless dismay. Yet the defaulting politicians still manage to hold onto city hall.

The weary, old-line Democratic city machines are rarely dealing effectively with explosive new problems and the only answer from the national Democratic Administration is more federal dollars, more federal control, and just leave it to Big Brother in Washington.

THIS IS THE opportunity which ought to galvanize the Republican leadership into action. But the Republicans can win their way to office in the big cities only by showing disillusioned voters that they have the will, the constructive ideas, and the activist candidates who can do what is needed.

In the matter of total federal intervention, Prof. Robert Dixon Jr., writing in the George Washington Law Review, sharpens the view of where we are headed. He says:

"We have insufficient appreciation of what technology and the population explosion are doing to us domestically.

"WE ARE TEETERING on the brink of a totally centralized federal system, under which many sub-national problems such as metropolitan transit, stream pollution, water supply, and air pollution may pass by default to the federal government."

With such a development pushed to its logical extreme, Prof. Dixon sees the states reduced to two main purposes, holding national elections and serving as " 'gimme' units to influence and control the shape and flow of federal beneficence."

There is no doubt that the problems of megalopolitis have spilled over city, county, and state lines, and cannot be adequately dealt with through existing local political units.

Obviously the size of the political instrument must be equal to the size of the problem. But does every regional problem have to have a national solution?

PROF. DIXON thinks not and he recommends a mixture of interstate compacts, with the federal government as a party, as has already been done in the Delaware River basin compact.

This is one concrete proposal and what I am suggesting is that, if the Republicans mean to set out to topple the big-city Democratic machines, they will have to do far more than talk about better organization.

They will have to produce better ideas of how to deal with the sprawl of metropolitan areas and workable alternatives to leaving it all to Washington.

If and when they do, the Republicans will find an exciting political re-birth.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—A distinctly new concept of price and wage controls is evolving under which President Johnson would personally attempt to restrain the war-booming national economy through his favorite formula of "consensus."

Instead of restoring the stringent Korean War type controls, the President would use both new legislation and the prestige of his office to pressure business and labor to hold down their demands.

Under White House direction, administration officials and Democratic Congressional leaders are preparing to launch a vigorous campaign to enact a little-noticed bill introduced on the first day of the new session by Representative Emanuel Celler, chairman of the influential House Judiciary Committee, requiring "basic industries" to give notice of price increases.

SIMILAR LEGISLATION requiring unions to notify the government of proposed wage demands is being drafted by the White House and Labor Department for introduction this month by legislators "friendly" to the administration.

Such price and wage increase declarations would be followed by a mandatory 60-day waiting period before they could become effective. During this time a government review board would investigate the avowed reasons for the proposed increase and its probable effect.

Under provisions of Celler's "inflation slow-down bill," the "basic industries" would include steel, petroleum, aluminum, refining, cooperage and automobiles.

The measure also would apply to industries in which the sales of the four largest members constitute 75 per cent of the total of the industry, and to industries in which goods and services are considered "critical or strategic."

THE "TEETH" OF the bill is the power it would give the President to establish such standards as he deems necessary to determine whether an industry is "basic." Under this authority a company that stepped outside the price guideposts as laid down by his Council of Economic Advisers might find itself up before the review board.

The Celler bill, which would amend the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, does not empower the review board to cancel price incerases. However, the President apparently is counting on the combined 60-day waiting period and the board's investigation and public "findings of fact" to give him the needed tools to accomplish the kind of economic control he wants.

UNTIL THE PRESIDENT can obtain this unique "consensus" legislation, efforts to keep the lid on the churning war economy will consist of the following:

1. Instructing all government agencies not to buy from companies that increase prices over suggested guidelines.

2. Waging a campaign to spur public resentment against price and wage increases. This will be done by publishing figures on how price or wage increases will raise the cost of consumer goods.

3. Releasing materials from government stockpiles to force down prices if they are hiked above suggested guidelines.

4. Encouraging imports to reduce prices through competition.

5. Holding a series of meetings with labor leaders to urge them to curb wage demands.

With Winter Rains, Marin Wild Grass Turns Green For Awhile

With spring permeating the air of Marin County, the urge to get out of doors and plant something comes to most people. It is a time of spring flowers and green grass.

As soon as the winter rains freshen the ground, the early flowers come out and brighten the landscape all during the season of snow and ice elsewhere.

All too soon the hills will turn brown and then their real beauty will just be a thing to remember. The same thing holds true for the highways. The wild grasses grow green in the wintertime and early spring. They too turn brown all too soon, leaving the highways an unsightly mess of weeds.

ONLY A FEW AREAS of Highways 101 and 37 in Marin County have been landscaped. The area around Terra Linda was landscaped by the state, and the islands in the heart of Novato were done by the city, which is maintaining them for the state.

They show what can be done to make Marin County freeways more beautiful. Perhaps, instead of each community trying to get the state to beautify their section of the highway, or doing it by itself, they should all band together and form a beautification committee for the whole county.

Perhaps this county-wide committee would have more influence with the State Division of Highways than individual communities.

Congressman Donald Clausen was in Novato the other day, and had a few things to say about a parallel runway for private planes east of the Hamilton Air Force Base runway.

He didn't like the idea.

HE DIDN'T LIKE the idea of anything which might interfere with the operation of the base as a military fighter base.

The bedlam of small, slow private planes cluttering up the fighter plane space did not suit the congressman at all. He could not see any change in the status of Hamilton as a fighter base for 10 or 20 years. He just as much as told Novatans to forget the parallel runway for at least that many years.

Luckily, the supervisors have since decided on building up the airport north of the city.

Congressman Clausen also did not at all like the idea of a $30 million payroll being forced out of his district. The operation of Hamilton Air Force Base is one of the most important federal projects in the First District, he said.

The operation of another airport near Hamilton might bring pressure on the Defense Department to close the base, he said. He did not want anything to endanger the base or its future operations.

SO MUCH FOR politics on a national scale. Now to bring them down to a local level, there was some discussion at the public hearing on the Novato master plan on where the central business district should be.

Councilman William Jack Adams said that the proposed central business district between Grant Avenue and Novato Boulevard would be 40 years in developing because it has newer homes and the streets plan was not suitable.

He wanted to designate the area between Grant and Olive, Highway 101 and Seventh Street as the central business district.

"There's a lot of property there not worth burning down," Adams stated.

Mayor Robert D. Carrow, always the politician, said something to the effect to wait and see how Adams fares in that precinct at the next election.

"I'm not worried about the next election," Adams answered.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Despite near-freezing weather, more than 500 women collected $22,595 in a house-to-house Mothers March against polio throughout Marin.

20 YEARS AGO

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. announced that a $100,000 telephone office building would be constructed at the southwest corner of Second and D streets, San Rafael.

Marin County accounted for more than 30 tons of clothing in a drive to send bundles for the relief of war-torn nations.

Work started on widening of Redwood Highway to four lanes from Ignacio to the Sonoma County line.

MORRIE RYSKIND

This piece is for posterity.

Not, heaven knows, that I offer it as deathless English prose in the tradition of Lincoln and Churchill; but rather that it may, hopefully, prove to be the Rosetta Stone which will decipher for the future Gibbon who chronicles the "Decline and Fall of the American Republic" the mystery of how the Great Society got its name.

If he takes the appellation literally, he may be so utterly baffled the he will never finish his work, and spend his declining years on the psychiatric couch. Or go off on a wrong tangent and write the sort of record in which, as some wit has so well phrased it, history becomes just a lie agreed upon.

I would bid him remember that, ere the Revolution of 1776 was completely overthrown by the Counter-revolution of 1964, Americans still retained the frontier sense of humorous exaggeration that gave any six-footer the nickname of "Shorty" and the 200-pounder the sobriquet of "Skinny."

BUT IF WE delighted in cutting some folk down to size, we occasionally used the same technique—if in reverse—by making huge mountains out of quite ordinary molehills. This sense of hyperbole, in both forms, runs through all our folk-lore.

The hero could be magnified or dwarfed—but as long as the tale was tall, we took it to our hearts. Mark Twain wrote "The Celebrated Jumping Frog of Calaveras County" and overnight both he and the frog leaped to lasting fame.

And there was W. C. Fields' story about Honest John, always sure to bring the house down. John was a poolroom shark who made a dubious living by fleecing strangers and was not above surreptitiously moving the balls to get a better lie.

One night he was playing with a victim whose glass eye dropped to the floor while he was concentrating on a difficult shot. John was under the table in a flash and, to the surprise of the onlookers, courteously returned the optic to its grateful owner. "I would not want to take advantage of you," said John. And became Honest John from that moment on.

"Of course," Fields would conclude, "I don't want to hazard a guess on what would have happened had that been the sucker's good eye."

AND I RECALL another glorious moment in a Fanny Brice show written by Montague Glass. Fanny had bought what seemed an ideally located restaurant, right off the road over which thousands of cars passed daily. She did some refurbishing, put up enticing signs—but the cars continued to pass. "At sixty miles an hour," noted Fanny, bitterly.

Desperate, she sought an attraction and, since at that time colored bands were beginning to come into their own, signed with an agent for the services of the "Ethiopian Dixie Jazz Band."

New posters heralded the advent and some customers actually showed up. But the band was late in arriving on the fatal day, and Fanny used all her alibis to stall the patrons, who were demanding their music as promised.

Finally, however, the band appeared; but the players (portrayed by vaudeville's famous Avon Comedy Four) had complexions and accents clearly those of Manhattan's lower East Side, and were neither from Dixie nor Harlem, let alone Ethiopia.

"You," shrieked Fanny in understandable dismay, "you got the nerve to call yourselves Ethiopians!"

"SO WHAT?" said the leader. "If you buy a suit from the Eagle Clothing Company, do you expect to be fitted by an eagle?"

And that, posterity, is how we happened to call the new social order, which put far heavier chains on us than those we had suffered under George III, the Great Society.

There was something peculiarly engaging in the wildly impossible promises of the Munchausen hucksters who pledged us Utopia without any degrading stoop-labor; and in an administration that preached honestly while issuing a set of misleading figures based on the sort of bookkeeping that would have put any businessman in jail.

And we went along, as the phrase has it, with the gag. But, in the end, the gag choked us to death.

A married couple with two children, earning $7,500 a year and now paying $23, would have to pay $36 in state tax.

But the people wouldn't pay the some $140 million in higher 1966 taxes until April 1967, delaying the effect on pocketbooks until after this year's elections.

Another $115 million, Brown said, would come from revising the state's bookkeeping by counting expected tax dollars before they are in the treasury.

Last year, the administration won approval of $105.8 million in new and increased taxes to pay for 1965-66 expenditures of $4.37 billion.

For "the urgent social problems before us . . . symbolized by the word Watts" — violence in Los Angeles' Negro districts — Brown had this prescription: "I propose to sweep all the way from the lowering of school class size to making it a crime to possess a Molotov cocktail."

He added that his plans are not simply "a program for Watts or for Negroes."

"The program I propose applies equally to other areas of Los Angeles, to Oakland, to San Francisco's Western Addition and Hunter's Point, and to areas of San Diego, Long Beach, Stockton, San Bernardino, Riverside, Bakersfield, Fresno and Vallejo at a minimum," he said.

Brown asked for $12 million to reduce class size to a maximum of 25 in the poorest areas; $20 million in bond funds to pay for portable classrooms; some $8 million in state and federal funds for pre-school training; new job retraining for adults; creation of service centers to find jobs for the unemployed, costing about $17 million in state and federal money.

There would be $150,000 to provide state jobs for retraining graduates who can't immediately find work in private industry.

The bond funds would come from a $260 million issue on the June ballot for school building aid loans and grants to local school districts.

Brown also proposed another bond issue, this one for the November ballot. It would raise $280 million for new buildings at the state colleges and University of California.

Aware that last year's legislature asked for a halt to bond issues and the start of pay-as-you-go financing for construction, Brown said he had trimmed the November bond issue by $100 million.

And beginning in 1968-69, he said, growing tidelands oil revenues can be used for new buildings, reducing future bond issues even more.

He suggested that the chief justice of the State Supreme Court be given power to set up emergency courts to handle heavy calendars caused by mass arrests of demonstrators or rioters.

Brown also asked relief for "the worst situation caused by the high levels of local property taxation . . . the plight of our old people with incomes under $3,350 a year whose ability to hold their homes is in jeopardy." He gave no details of the plan.

And he had another property tax proposal—a series of reforms prompted by current county assessor scandals.

Brown's "state of the state" message outlined both his budget and his agenda for the special session of the legislature, being held at the same time as the lawmakers' budget meeting. He will formally offer his special session agenda Thursday.

Other items he proposed include:

An additional 1,000 California Highway Patrolmen.

Money to finance the state's new medicare plan to provide care for the poor who can't afford private facilities.

More money for educational benefits for veterans of the Cold War, including Viet Nam.

Novato High School May Test Air Force Program

Novato High School may become the only high school in California, Arizona or New Mexico with an Air Force reserve officer training program.

The Air Force ROTC at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala., had asked if the school was interested in such a pilot program. Supt. James G. Bunker told the district board. He said it is one of four high schools in the three states being considered but only one will be selected.

The program would be three-fourths academic, Bunker said.

"There would be three periods of study of astronomy, space and aero-space to every one of drill," he said, and there would not be rifle drills.

The instructor would come from a list furnished by the Air Force and be selected by the district, which would pay about $5,000 to $6,000 per year, Bunker said.

"In addition the Air Force would furnish the uniforms for the 100 boys in the three-year program, which they would wear one day per week," Bunker said. A noncimmissioned officer, paid entirely by the Air Force, would issue and keep track of the uniforms.

Novato was chosen as one of the four schools to be considered for the program because of its proximity to Hamilton Air Force Base, he said.

Men's' Club Fray Injures Judge

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A municipal judge was in the hospital today after coming to the aid of a man being attacked in a usually placid men's club.

Ironically, the man police said bit and kicked Judge Albert A. Axelrod was a defendant dismissed by the jurist last week on a battery charge stemming from a fight with a cab driver.

Marin City Club Will Give Two Scholarshops

The Marin Art and Culture Club of Marin City will award two scholarships to seniors who will graduate from Tamalpais High School in June, one in music and another in painting. The award will be made on recommendation of Robert Greenwood, head of the school's fine arts department.

Persons interested in contributing to the fund may send contributions to the club at 941 Drake Avenue, Marin City, President Beatrice Duke said today.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

Surgery is the only cure for a hernia. Failures may occur in some oldsters because the tissues are too weak and fragile to hold stitches. Large hernias and surgical failures can be patched with tantalum mesh or with fibrous tissue removed from the fascia or the person's leg. Trusses are second choice because they offer temporary relief.

THIS summarizes the treatment for hernia, the "rupture" that that bothers an estimated 10 per cent of our population. Modern surgical technics have made this a safe 45-minute procedure and the patient is out of bed the same evening and home in a few days.

The abdominal cavity is lined with a pearly white tough membrane (peritoneum). The organs are contained within this balloon and at various points tubes penetrate the lining leaving potentially weak spots. These include the esophagus that links the mouth and stomach, vestiges of the umbilical cord thru which we received nourishment prior to birth, the femoral arteries on their way to the legs, and the spermatic cords that transport sperm cells from the testes.

A HERNIA may develop at any of these spots provided the openings were sealed off improperly. The inguinal hernia, the most common type, usually is found in men. The testes of the unborn male are in the abdomen and descend to the outside via the inguinal canal shortly before birth. The canal usually closes tightly but in many men the seal is absent or it is weak.

In some the area bulges on standing or straining due to the pressure of the abdominal organs. The weakened area gives way in others when coughing, straining, or lifting a heavy object. The protrusion is small at first, but may enlarge in time. The sac usually contains loops of the intestine.

THE HERNIA is a potential source of danger. When the opening is small and a loop of intestine gets into the sac but cannot get out, stranguation occurs. The small opening pinches off the blood supply and unless surgery is done the bowel becomes gangrenous.

HEART MURMUR

I. L. writes: My 7-year-old daughter has a functional or innocent heart murmur. Just what is this and is there cause for alarm?

REPLY

No. The innocent murmurs are caused by the heart rubbing against the lungs or chest wall. Similar sounds stem from changes in the hemodynamics of the blood flow through the heart.

PREGNANCY POSSIBILITY

N. F. writes: I am 50 years old and contemplating remarriage. My youngest child is 29 and I have been a widow for four years. Is it still possible for me to become pregnant? At my stage in life, who could be interested? Your answer may be a deciding factor.

REPLY

INFLAMED BURSA

B. E. writes: I have bursitis of the right shoulder. I did not hurt myself in that area and wonder how I could have developed the condition.

REPLY

SPINAL ARTHRITIS

K. G. writes: What is Marie-Strumpell's disease?

REPLY

Nation's Joblessness Hits Nine-Year Low

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The nation's key unemployment rate fell in January to a nine-year low of 4 per cent of the labor force. Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz forecast it would drop below 3.5 per cent by the end of 1966.

The Labor Department said today the seasonally adjusted rate of joblessness edged down by one-tenth of 1 per cent from December to the lowest level since April, 1957.

It reached the "interim goal" for unemployment set by the President's Council of Economic Advisers four years ago.

A Labor Department spokesman said the jobless rate actually figured out to 3.952 but was rounded off to 4 per cent in line with normal statistical procedures.

Wirtz said in testimony prepared for the Joint Economic Committee that the nation's objective should be to lower the jobless rate to between 2 and 3 per cent.

The secretary said a 2 or 3 per cent rate could be achieved since it would allow for workers finding or changing jobs and about 0.5 per cent of unemployables. He also advocated expansion of manpower training programs to remedy any shortage of skilled workmen this year.

The January figure indicates that 40 workers out of every 1,000 were seeking jobs last month and could not find them.

Teen-age jobless rates still were triple the national rate even though they dropped by nearly 1 per cent to 12 per cent in January.

The rate of unemployment among non-whites, at 7 per cent, remained twice as high as the corresponding figure for white workers.

Harold C. Goldstein, assistant commissioner of labor statistics, forecast a continued "upward thrust" in employment because of the buildup in the armed forces' higher defense spending and the boom in civilian goods.

Average hourly earnings of factory workers inched up by one cent to $2.67, a new peak. But weekly earnings of the typical factory hand fell by $1.20 to $109.74 because of shorter working hours last month.

The average factory work week, at 41.1 hours, and average overtime, 3.6 hours a week, both were at their highest levels for this time of year since World War II.

'Tattoed Lady' Fatally Stabbed

OAKLAND (UPI)—Mrs. Frances Bridges, 40, known to her West Oakland neighbors as "The Tattooed Lady," was found yesterday stabbed to death in her apartment.

Officers said she had been stabbed 10 or 12 times with an icepick or knife.

Mrs. Bridges received her nickname from the many tattooed hearts and birds on her arms and ankles.

There were signs of a "terrific struggle" in the living room of her apartment, police said.

Radio Free Europe Claims More Audience

NEW YORK (UPI) — Twenty-two million Poles, Czechs, Hungarians, Rumanians and Bulgarians listen to Radio Free Europe, according to Free Europe Inc., the organization that operates the radio service.

John Richardson Jr., president of Free Europe, said in the corporation's annual report yesterday that two million more persons tuned to the broadcasts last year. Despite Communist efforts to hamper operations, Richardson said, Radio Free Europe received more than 13,000 letters from listeners in Communist European nations.

Driver Is Given Suspended Sentence

Horace G. Carriker, 42, of Sonoma, was given a suspended $250 fine on condition that he pay $110, and was placed on one year's probation yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving.

He was arrested on Highway 101 by California Highway Patrol last Friday.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Hope, Mary Martin Bring War's Impact

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —When all is said and done concerning network television commentary on the Viet Nam war, it may well be that the two most influential programs were hosted by Bob Hope and Mary Martin.

That is not intended to be a flip remark about a very serious subject, but rather a straight and unadorned statement about a real situation. Hope's recent televised Christmas tour of overseas troops, including those in Viet Nam, rather closely underscored his personal views, and predictably got a tremendous rating.

Miss Martin last night appeared in a one-hour documentary about her around-the-world tour in "Hello, Dolly!" — with Viet Nam among the stopoff places—and her natural feelings were likewise underscored, and the program also predictably will get a big rating.

You can put on all the serious Sunday afternoon discussion shows about Viet Nam that you want, and even all the sober prime-time conversations, but there is no doubt that a broadcast such as that hosted by Hope or Miss Martin will have a vastly greater emotional impact, and be seen by a much larger audience.

NBC-TV, which put on both the Hope and Martin specials, undoubtedly is sharply aware of this fact.

The network said it was granted exclusive rights to present last night's program through the joint association of those who cooperated in the tour: The U. S. State Department's Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs, and David Merrick, producer of "Hello, Dolly!"

It is difficult to conceive of a more consummate television audience-grabber than yesterday's combination: Mary Martin, "Hello, Dolly!" and the boys in Viet Nam. To handle this project, NBC-TV assigned the very talented lady named Lucy Jarvis, who had a major hand in some noted video specials, among them "The Kremlin," "The Louvre" and the medical documentary "Who Shall Live?"

Miss Jarvis concentrated on three places in the "Hello Dolly!" tour: Japan, Viet Nam and London, the last getting rather short shrift. Very wisely, Miss Jarvis and Miss Martin do the narration as well.

Except for the emotional tugging of the Viet Nam sequences, the program was pretty much like "Hello, Dolly!" — amiable but not too memorable except for the title song, yet pleasantly unpretentious. Mr. Merrick, a rather remarkable fellow and promoter, and the heir apparent to Herr Ziegfeld, came off very well — a rarity for an on-camera producer. Likewise, Miss Jarvis' Tokyo sequences —chiefly a nightlife scene — were visually imaginative. But you will pardon me if the sentimental narrative about actors struck me as highly culpable fiction.

Tiburon Bus Stop Dropped By Greyhound

A bus stop across from Reed Ranch Road on Tiburon Boulevard will be eliminated from Greyhound Bus Co.'s San Francisco to Tiburon commuter run, a company official said today.

Riders will have to use the Belveron Gardens stop, two-tenths of a mile further down Tiburon Boulevard, according to present plans, said Elmer V. McVerry, superintendent of Greyhound's Marin County operations.

"Due to the highway construction on Tiburon Boulevard we can no longer stop right next to Reed Ranch Road. A narrow shoulder with a guard rail has been installed there, so a bus stopping at that spot protrudes way out into the road, McVerry explained.

Buses from Tiburon to San Francisco will continue to stop at Reed Ranch Road, where McVerry said there is still sufficient room for them to stop.

Guest speaker is Frank M. King, secretary-manager of the San Leandro Chamber of Commerce. He is to tell "The San Leandro Story" of what his chamber is doing to promote business and develop a mutually satisfactory working arrangement with the city of San Leandro.

Charles J. Francis will be installed as president for 1966. Francis has been president since last August when he filled the unexpired term of Ed R. Pedersen, former manager of Pacific Gas and Electric Co. in Mill Valley, who was transferred to Petaluma.

Other officers to be installed are Edward M. Mills, first vice president; Jerry D. Carver, second vice president, and Clyde E. Beasley, treasurer. Directors to be installed are Guido Todaro, Roger M. Murphy, Lawrence A. Mayer, Robert H. Andersen, William A. Eberhart and Peter W. Tibbetts.

Recreation For San Anselmans Offers Variety

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Department is now offering the following program of recreation activities, Andrew J. Snyder, director of parks and recreation announced:

Youth activities—Youth judo, beginning ballet, girls' baton, children's creative dance, youth modern dance, children's water color painting.

Senior teen and adult activities—Cake decorating, women's slimnastics, dog obedience, beginning and intermediate folk guitar, beginning judo, water color painting, folk and square dance, dry land ski class and beginning knitting.

Further information about the activities is available at the park and recreation department office at Memorial Park, Snyder said.

Junior Chamber Sets Novato Wine Tasting

S. F. Confident Of Getting NHL Club

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Hockey League board of governors continued interviewing applicants today for franchises in a proposed 1967-68 expansion division that would double the present six-team circuit.

"We don't expect to make any announcements until Wednesday," NHL President Clarence Campbell said yesterday after groups from five cities appeared before the club owners in the first of a three-day series of presentations.

Representatives from two of the bidding cities — Baltimore and San Francisco-Oakland — came out of the session in a midtown hotel confident their applications will be accepted.

"I can't see how they can resist our bid," said Jake Embry, president of the Baltimore Clippers of the American Hockey League. "Baltimore is big league in other sports and we think it should be in hockey too."

Embry and Zanvyl Krieger, majority stockholder of baseball's Baltimore Orioles, own 90 per cent of the Clippers.

Emby said Baltimore has led the AHL in gate receipts in two of the three years the Clippers have been in the league and promised that the Baltimore Civic center can be expanded to meet seating capacity requirements of the NHL.

George Flaherty, one of the leaders of the San Francisco-Oakland group that includes Bing Crosby, also expressed confidence after meeting with the NHL governors and Campbell.

OAKLAND COLISEUM

Flaherty, part-owner of the Western Hockey League San Francisco Seals admitted that the city's arena, the Cow Palace, doesn't measure up to big league standards but said a San Francisco-Oakland club probably would be able to play in Oakland's spacious Alameda Coliseum, now under construction.

"We've been doing better than the Warriors of the National Basketball Association in the Cow Palace," Flaherty said, "and this is to the credit of San Francisco's hockey fans."

Groups from Los Angeles, Pittsburgh and Buffalo also made 30-minute presentations yesterday before the owners of the existing NHL clubs — Montreal, Toronto, Boston, Chicago, New York and Detroit.

Expected to be among today's bidders were four more groups from Los Angeles, another from Pittsburgh and one each from Vancouver, B.C., Minneapolis-St. Paul, Cleveland, Philadelphia and Louisville.

Four sites — Vancouver, San Francisco-Oakland, Los Angeles and St. Louis — were approved by the NHL last October as having adequate facilities but Campbell indicated yesterday that St. Louis has dropped out of the running.

KIALOA II FIRST TO ARRIVE IN ACAPULCO

ACAPULCO, Mex. (AP)—The 73-foot sloop Kialoa II was the first boat to arrive in the San Diego-Acapulco sailing race as it crossed the finish line at 8:17 a.m. today.

Kialoa's elapsed time for the 1,430 miles was eight days, 20 hours, 17 minutes and 36 seconds. Her corrected time was given as eight days, 11 hours, 8 minutes and 57 seconds.

San Francisco Yacht Club's 74-foot schooner Serena, owned and sailed by Ken DeMeuse, led most of the way but lost the lead late yesterday when the winds fell off. It was expected to reach port sometime today.

A funny thing happened to me on my way to work over the weekend. I stopped at Santa Rosa's 13th annual Sports Celebrity Banquet and, well, that was funny in itself, to wit and too witty:

JOHN BRODIE took some good natured needling about his six-interception performance in the Pro Bowl game in L.A. "I can't see too well down there," he smiled, adding, "Heck, I helped put all those guys in the Pro Bowl."

Shortly after his Pro Bowl nightmare the 49er quarterback, the comeback kid of 1965, played in the Crosby golf tourney, so someone at Santa Rosa couldn't resist giggling: "Brodie was afraid to hit the ball up in the air for fear someone would intercept it and run it in for a birdie."

CURT FLOOD, St. Louis Cardinals: "Yes, I guess you can call us a loose ball club. Playing for Anheuser-Busch it's difficult NOT being loose."

JIM MALONEY, Cincy Reds: "I played golf today with Curt Flood and found out how to pitch to him. I'll just walk up to the plate and tee up the ball and I KNOW he can't hit it out of the infield."

Mays: "Wait a minute, wait a minute! Am I all finished, Lon Baby? Why you always say I HAD a great career? The kids are getting stronger and I'm getting weaker, but I ain't finished yet, Lon Baby."

PAUL WIGGIN, Cleveland Browns: "People ask me about Jimmy Brown and I mention that as big as he is he can run the 100 in 10 flat. They say, 'Heck, a lot of guys can run the 100 in 10 flat,' but I tell them, 'Dragging a piano?' "

DAVE PARKS, the 49ers' great end via Texas: "When I was a rookie Billy Wilson tried to hep me but I didn't know what he was talking about."

Emcee Simmons: "Well, that's because he was talking northern, Dave."

WAYNE HAWKINS, Oakland Raiders: "Coach (Al) Davis is a real worrier. I remember one game when Cotton Davidson injured his shoulder and the trainer put some ice packs on it. So Coach Davis comes running up to him and says, 'Can't you find any colder ice?' "

JACK CHRISTIANSEN, 49er coach: "When the rookies check into camp they don't know a thing. We teach them everything. It's ALL coaching. Seriously, our job is just getting the talent out of the boys. The younger players are the ones who usually make the mistakes. When we view films you ought to see them slink down in their seats. And they can come up with some of the damnedest excuses you've ever heard."

BOB ST. CLAIR, ex-49er: "People wonder why I watch the games from the sidelines instead of up in the stands. It's just that I can't fit into those damned seats at Kezar."

JOHN ARNETT, Chicago Bears: "Gale Sayers clinched the rookie of the year title when we 'eked' out that win against the 49ers. Until that game, however, I thought our middle linebacker, Dick Butkus, was the outstanding rookie in the league."

AL DAVIS, Raiders: "We fight expansion quite a bit because it means we have to give up four or five players to the new team."

BRUCE BOSLEY, 49er center: "I'm convinced 1966 will be our year and the players feel this, too."

WORDS OF advice offered to the youngsters in the audience of the March of Dimes benefit banquet:

Mike Garrett, USC's 5-foot-9 Heisman trophy winner: "Just grow."

Bo Roberson, Miami Dolphins: "Listen to your parents and I would hope they tell you to get an education."

ONLY TWO big name celebs failed to appear as advertised: Olympic champ Billy Mills and ex-world heavyweight king Rocky Marciano.

Warriors Bow Again To Celts

NEW YORK (AP) — Vanquished by the mighty Boston Celtics, the San Francisco Warriors are gunning for a victory over the lowly Detroit Pistons tonight in a National Basketball Assn. game.

The Warriors' foray last night against the Celtics, leaders of the Eastern Division, was crushed by a fourth-quarter Boston rally, 112-107.

That made six times this season that Boston has downed San Francisco without a loss.

By contrast, the Pistons have become almost the Warriors' personal whipping boy. San Francisco is 6-1 over Detroit, and the teams are third and last, respectively, in the Western Division.

The Celtics continued on a 22-9 rampage to wrap up the game in which San Francisco had led by as much as 16 points in the first half.

Willie Naulls scored 25 and Havlicek 18 to lead the Boston scoring. For San Francisco, Rick Barry hit 31, including 17 for 17 from the free throw line, and Nate Thurmond dumped in 25.

In the second period, Boston Coach Red Auerbach was tossed out of the game after he had called a timeout so he could continue an argument with referee Norm Drucker over a technical foul which San Francisco's Barry converted to a Warrior point.

Boston was behind by 15 when Auerbach left the coaching job to center Bill Russell.

'Bama Gave Too Many Grid Grants

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — The University of Alabama national college football champion the past two years, has been penalized by the Southeastern Conference for using to ineligible players in freshman games last fall.

Commissioner Bernie Moore ordered the school — perennial producer of football powerhouses under Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant — to limit its grants to incoming football players next fall to 38, two less than normally allowed.

Alabama President Dr. Frank A. Rose said Monday in Tuscaloosa that the school regrets the violation. He said it stemmed from a misinterpretation of rules, and that he is writing an apology to presidents of SEC schools.

Moore said an investigation showed Alabama permitted 42 new football players on financial aid to participate in freshman football games.

STARTS RHUBARB — When San Francisco Warrior Tom Meschery (14) was fouled on this play by Celtic John Havlicek (17) last night, Boston Coach Red Auerbach stormed off the bench and argued with officials. Auerbach was thrown out of the game for his troubles, but Celtics won anyway. (UPI Telephoto)

VETERAN MARIN COACH TO DIRECT OFFICIALS

Bob Fitzhenry, physical education department chairman at Sir Francis Drake High School, has been named commissioner of the North Bay Officials Assn., replacing 30-year veteran Walter Hemmerling.

Hemmerling retired the post after being appointed executive secretary of the Retired Teachers Assn. of California. He will keep his position as commissioner of the North Bay League.

Fitzhenry has been a member of the North Bay Officials Assn. since starting a coaching career at Drake when the school opened in 1951. Besides being department chairman at Drake, he's the varsity baseball coach and recreation director for the Drake school district.

He was voted commissioner of the officials association by principals of the North Bay League teams, after receiving his recommendaiton from a three-man committee of the group. The committee was made up of chairman Ralph Azevedo, principal of Rohnert Park High School in Petaluma; Ralph Duey, principal of Santa Rosa High School, and Bill Tully, principal of Ukiah High School.

BOB FITZHENRY
Heads officials

The North Bay Officials Assn. handles football and basketball officiating for both North Bay Leagues (I and II), the Marin Athletic League, and the North Central League, and three junior colleges — College of Marin, Santa Rosa Junior College and Napa Junior College. It's a total of 46 schools.

Among Fitzhenry's duties in his new post will be to assign jobs for the officials, head the association's training program, and set up clinics for association members.

"It's a job I have wanted for some time," said Fitzhenry, who just turned 44 last Sunday. Bob and wife Barbara have four children, Jack, 16, Colleen, 13, Patrick, 8, and Michael, 7. The family home is at 115 South Ridgewood Road, Kentfield.

Gunners Get Cage Awards; Gumina 'Most Underrated'

The gunners got the awards at yesterday's session of the Northern California Basketball Writers and Broadcasters Assn. but one coach lauded USF's Russ Gumina as the most underrated player in the league. Everett Goose) Adams of San Francisco State and Jerry West — the one who plays for St. Mary's and not the Los Angeles Lakers — were named players of the week after a lot of head scratching by the selection committee.

"It was a very difficult decision to make," a committee spokesman said.

Adams has averaged 39 points in the last three games while trying to pull the 'Gators of S. F. State out of a skid. One of these contests saw him vainly tally 58 points against Sacramento State.

West was honored for totalling 45 points in two contests while St. Mary's was besting Loyola and Pepperdine last weekend.

Adams couldn't attend the lunch because he was laid up with the flu. But West was on hand and said that the Gaels would battle to improve on their 2-3 mark in the West Coast Athletic Conference race.

Coach Stu Inman of San Jose State praised Gumina after the Spartans had bowed to USF, 81-65, last Saturday.

"He is the most underrated player in the conference," Inman said. "No one seems to do a good job when he is defending against them. Yet he is not fast and not a good jumper."

Stanford's Howie Dallmar said Oregon State looks to be a solid club. The Beavers currently lead the Pacific Athletic Conference with a 5-1 record and meet UCLA in Corvallis on Feb. 18.

In the West Coast Athletic Conference, the Dons of the University of San Francisco invade Stockton Saturday night to play the University of the Pacific. Each team currently is 5-0 in the conference.

Coach Dick Edwards of UOP praised the work of Keith Swaggerty and David Fox last weekend as the Tigers beat Loyola and Pepperdine. Swagerty tallied 38 points against Pepperdien and 22 against Loyola. Fox was 22 and 27 against the two.

Coach Pete Peletta of USF termed center Erwin Mueller outstanding in the 81-65 triumph over San Jose State in the latest outing. He also praised sophomore Dennis Black. Yet the man the Tigers must stop to beat USF must be jumping Joe Ellis, the high scoring forward.

$125,00 Salary For Giant Great

By JACK HANLEY

Willie Mays signed the sweetest contract in baseball history yesterday afternoon when he stopped by Candlestick Park and in 10 minutes approved a $125,000 agreement for his 1966 services.

Horace Stoneham wasn't in when Willie made his surprise visit but the president of the Giants by long distance from his Phoenix winter home quickly approved details of the contract worked out in record time by Mays and Chub Feeney, vice president of the ball club.

Neither Mays nor Feeney, following their swift conference which ended in smiles, made any formal announcement of Willie's new contract which represents a $20,000 increase over his 1965 salary of $105,000.

Stoneham, who is flying to San Francisco tonight, will make the formal announcement later in the week with Willie standing by his side in a reenactment of the contract signing.

Jake Shemano, Willie's banker and financial advisor, didn't accompany Mays in his visit to Feeney's office. Mays spoke for himself just as he said he would last November when Shemano suggested that Mays should seek a $150,000 contract — a suggestion that prompted Stoneham to snap:

NO PROBLEMS

"Let Mr. Shemano run his banking business. I will run the Giants. When the time comes we'll sit down and discuss Willie's contract. We've never had any problems before."

And there was no problem this time because Willie now is in a tax bracket where the bite is quite heavy. Nevertheless, Mays felt he earned a raise even though most of it would go to the tax collector.

"I had a good enough 1965 season to merit a raise," said Mays, "but when a guy is in the $100,000 bracket his tax problems multiply."

Mays, indeed, had a good 1965 season. Perhaps it was his greatest in 14 years as a major leaguer. Among other things, he hit 52 home runs, 17 of them in one month to set a National League record; won his second MVP award; his 12th straight All-Star bid; passed Stan Musial and Lou Gehrig on the all-time homer list and pulled within shooting distance of all homer marks except Babe Ruth's 714.

LEAGUE RECORD

With a total of 505 homers going into the 1966 season, Mays this year routinely should pass Mel Ott's all-time National League record of 511 and move ahead of Ted Williams (521) and Jimmy Fox (534) into second place behind Ruth.

Some devoted Giant fans, such as the club's veteran secretary Eddie Brannick, believe Mays will even pass Ruth's 714 before his career ends.

"If nothing happens to me, I should pass the others," said Willie who will be 35 May 6. "But Ruth's 714? That's impossible. I'd have to hit better than 40 a year."

Willie didn't say "40 a year for the next five years" but the implication was clear. He definitely believes he is good for five more years.

Cal Gives Willsey New Pact

BERKELEY (AP) — Football coach Ray Willsey, who last season guided the California Bears to their best record since 1958, has signed a new three-year contract for a raise in pay.

Pete Newell, Bears' athletic director, disclosed yesterday that Willsey had signed an agreement extending through February 1969. Newell did not announce the amount of Willsey's new salary, but it was thought to be about $20,000 a year.

Willsey last season compiled a 5-5 record. He took over in 1964.

Rumors that pro teams, including the Washington Redskins and the St. Louis Cardinals, had approached Willsey had only a slight bearing on the decision, Newell said.

"The principal reason was that he had done a fine job, and we believed this was the proper time to indicate it," the athletic director said.

"We wanted him to be secure in his own mind, and there is no denying that the reports he might accept another offer would hamper our recruiting efforts. A boy might hesitate to come to a school if he thought the coach might be leaving in six months."

Willsey himself discounted the reports of pro offers, saying, "I wasn't keenly interested and I discouraged any conversations. So I really had no place to go."

Willsey was beginning the third year of his old four-year contract when he signed the new one which supercedes it.

Promoter Is Honored By Ring Society

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Oakland matchmaker and promoter Don Chargin was named yesterday as Northern California's man-of-the-year in boxing by the Society for California Boxing.

He will receive the Russ Newland Memorial Award, honoring the former Associated Press sports writer, at the society's annual banquet on March 6.

Other awards went to heavyweight Henry Clark as best prospect, Pepper Brown as best preliminary fighter, and Jack Downey as most popular referee.

Sorry, Fellas, But Fishing Is Lousy

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

The bearer of ill tidings is unwelcome by most folks. And an outdoor writer who is forced to report an honest summary of piscatorial events over the past week suffers from not being able to pass along some stirring news. So listen to all the ill news first today and be ready to forgive this reporter when some good news is reported.

Here we go: From Caruso's place at Sausalito I was told that no herring have made appearance since the short spurt some time ago. No boat skipper has reported in with news of bass being caught.

Don Smith of Don's Bait House at Clearlake Highlands lamented the fact that all fishing has been in the doldrums the past week: "No black bass, very few crappies and bluegills have come in, and very few mudcats have been caught. Lake water is perfectly clear. Things should pick up." I say "amen" to that last statement.

You all know that steelhead fishing is out—will be for another week, or longer, if more rains happen.

Charlie Schmeltz of Dowrelio's Harbor at Crockett sadly reported a big drop in sturgeon production the past week. "Only about two sturgeon per boat for the entire week," Charlie reported.

Nothing worthwhile to report from Lake Berryessa; like Clear Lake, all fishing slowed down.

So let's lower the curtain on the sad tidings above and regale ourselves with some good news. The Reel Special out of Caruso's place at Sausalito had a party of 40 anglers aboard on Saturday and berthed with 82 ling cod and about 200 assorted rockfish.

Alice Quan of China Camp gleefully reported good striper fishing on Saturday with a probable average of two bass per angler, and five nice sturgeon. On Sunday one boat came in at 11 a.m. with limits of bass. Best results were had between the Pump House and the S.P. Buoy. (Incidentally, that is the area that yielded a record 35 pound bass to the expert fishing of Earl Hastings).

JIM MURRAY

Otto Graham Will Lose In Style . . .

But a little note in the prints the other day caught my eye. It said that a full captain of the U.S. Coast Guard was transferring from Old Lyme, Conn., to Washington.

It wasn't that this would leave the whole coastline of New England unprotected or that there weul be nobody to order corvettes out to the weather stations to read the barometers or be on the lookout for submarines or Sunday yachtsmen who had put their alcohol in wrong tanks. It was just that this might mean the world championship for the Washington Redskins—and it is on calamities of this sort that cabinets fall, Art Buchwald might turn into Walter Lippmann (or vice versa), the Republicans might get back in.

BECAUSE THE full captain (a military term not to be confused with the loaded colonel) is Otto Everett Fraham Jr., one of the all-time trend-buckers in history.

Otto was probably the best thrower of a football who ever lived. He passed for more yardage in 10 years than Sammy Baugh did in 16. He won 10 straight championships in two different pro leagues for the Cleveland Browns where he became known as "Automatic Otto" but his coach, Paul Brown, didn't think that much talent should be trusted to a mere football player; so he sent in the plays. The jury could never figure out whether the coach made Otto a great quarterback or vice versa. They found out when Otto retired. Management sent Paul Brown to join him.

OTTO COULD have had his choice of jobs when he quit playing. The Big Ten was on the phone. So were a half a dozen pro teams. Otto chose to go to the Coast Guard Academy, a little-known service school in New London where money was every object. Otto got the same salary as the skipper of a cutter, i.e., a few thousand a year and all the fish he could catch. "Otto," commented a friend, "is living in the lap of poverty."

THE COAST GUARD was a football power about on a par with the Harvard Frosh. The last time they had a real good football player on the campus the service's main job was trimming wicks in lighthouses and keeping a sharp lookout for Captain Kidd. Using only the forward pass and plays from the bench, Otto had strugled his way all the way to the bottom. He not only didn't have to recruit, he couldn't He had to pick a football team out of weather forecasters, radar scanners. The Academy spent much more time learning to tie bow knots than pass footballs.

AS A MAN with nothing to lose, Otto fell into that common failing of the breed: He always told the truth. Football coaches have great respect for the truth, in fact, too much respect to use it just any old time. But Otto wasn't a football coach; he was a captain in the Coast Guard. They asked him if pro football was getting too "dirty" and Otto said, "I'll say!" They asked him why he didn't use Jim Brown in the All-Star game and Otto said, "Because he can't block." Clearly, Otto was no man to get to make out your income tax for you.

Otto also has noted. "There is no secret to football. Get the best players and you'll win."

This is a theory which Napoleon adhered to, also, but football coaching as a profession depends on a large hunk of myth. The only films Otto studied at night had horses in them.

THEY MADE him a captain to up his salary to $12,000, which wouldn't pay the bar bills for some coaches; but Otto was happy as the only landlocked sea captain on Long Island Sound. "As a captain," a friend noted, "Otto is without a pier."

They made Otto the coach of the College All-Stars in the game against the pro champion, which was a little like putting him in charge of a leaking ship or starring in a hanging. Otto became famous for benching Heisman Trophy winners Otto did manage to beat the pros one year, which was a bigger upset than Cassius Clay saying "No comment" but it was generally overlooked in the chorus of catcalls for his selection of players. "Otto" went the refrain, "picked his teams by holding the pro draft list upside-down."

OTTO BECAME a civilian again last week. The Coast Guard didn't pipe him over the side or order him to turn in his seasick pills. The Washington Redskins, kind of pro football's version of the Coast Guard Academy, hired him on as head coach. "Otto will be right at home," a friend predicted; "htey haven't got any football players either."

The difference is Otto will be able to lose in style. Rumor has it his no-cut contract calls for him to get the first three floors of the State Department, everything west of Pennsylvania Avenue and golfing privileges on the White House lawn. The only thing he won't get any more is saluted by ensigns or free rides out to Ambrose Light and back. The last guy who came to the captial under such a fat contract had to be passed by Congress and swear he wasn't a Communist. Otto not only isn't a Communist; he probably isn't even a Democrat.

HE HASN'T begun to think like a civilian yet. I caught up with him on the 18th fairway at the Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic here the other day and, before you could say "Aye, aye, sir!" Otto had unloaded himself of the opinion that "I'm no miracle man but we will not lose playing conservative football." They will lose, in other words, spectacularly.

OTTO IS aware of his mechanical-man reputation. As he was having a (for him) bad second round in tournament, a wag commented." No wonder. He doesn't have Paul Brown to pick the clubs for him." But the ex-captain is not moved. "I will send in some plays. But my quarterbacks will be on their own—and will always be able to call 'automatics' on the line of scrimmage." He has not retreated on his "dirty play" stand either. "I think anybody caught at foul play should be removed from the game for a period of time like in hockey and the offending team should have to play one man short."

THERE ARE those who think if the Washington Redskins ever have to play one man short, Otto Graham will be back guarding the coast in no time. Or they'll put him in a rowboat and point him toward Tahiti.

SEASON HIGH

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wilt Chamberlain was held to his season low when the Philadelphia 76ers dropped out of second place in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division. Less than 24 hours later, he got his high as they moved back into the No. 2 spot.

Chamberlain, who got only 14 points in Sunday's 100-99 loss to the Boston Celtics, pumped in 65 last night in the 76ers' 132-125 victory over Los Angeles.

Chamberlain passed the current season's high of 57 points by San Francisco's Rick Barry by hitting on 28 field goals and nine of 20 foul shots as the 76ers halted their losing streak at three games.

WSU Downs Troy, Bruins Bounce Back

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Washington State has shown the scuthern members of the Pacific Athletic Conference — UCLA and Southern California —that pin-point shooting is a inning recipe for basketball.

The Cougars defeated UCLA 83-82 on Saturday night and last night they trimmed Southern Cal's Trojans, 75-62. Washington State hit 28 of 50 shots from the floor for 56 per cent in the latter game.

The UCLA Bruins snapped back after Washington State's upset and tumbled Washington University 89-67. The victory left the Uclans with a 4-2 record, tied with Stanford for second in the conference.

Oregon State's Beavers currently are on top of the PAC with a 5-1 record. Washington State and USC have 3-3 records as does Oregon. California and Washington have 1-4 records.

Dennis Klocke led the Cougars to victory over Southern Cal with 22 points. His teammate, Jim McKean hit 17. John Block led all scorers with 30 points for the Trojans.

UCLA's well known zone press bothered Washington in the opening minutes of their encounter. The Bruins built up an early lead over Washington and never trailed. Washington got no closer than 10 points in the second half.

Freddie Goss scored 19 points for the Bruins even though he as cut of the game for eight minutes because of an injury. He was hit over the left eye by an elbow in the first half and needed stitches.

Dave Hovde led Washington with 17 points.

Duke Upset, Loses Top Cage Rating

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

To play or not to play — that was the question. And there just wasn't any answer to Duke's Blue Devils.

Last night, Duke saw its 13-game winning streak halted by West Virginia, 94-90.

Today the Blue Devils find themselves second in The Associated Press weekly poll after occupying the top spot for eight straight weeks.

But it was idleness, not West Virginia, that knocked Duke out of first place. The poll was based on performance through last Saturday, and Duke was idle last week while unbeaten Kentucky, now No. 1, won three times.

Kentucky won its 18th straight Monday night by defeating Florida 85-75. The only other member of the Top Ten to see action was No. 9 Nebraska, an 85-81 winner over Oklahoma.

Halas Names New Aide To Bears' Staff

Halas previously boosted Jim Dooley to defensive coach and shifted backfield coach Chuck Mather to the position of player talent scout. Both of these assignments had been held by George Allen, who recently left the Bears to become head coach of the Los Angeles Rams.

Cody joined the Bears as assistant last April after serving as head coach at San Bernardino Valley College for three seasons. The one-time star Purdue fullback was the No. 1 National Football League draft choice of the Green Bay Packers in 1947 and was traded to the Bears two years later.

He played linebacker and fullback two years for the Bears, then coached St. Rita's High School in Chicago until 1955 before going to the University of California at Santa Barbara as head coach. He as anassistant at Washington State before taking over at San Bernardino.

"Cody has a rare knack for developing backfield talent," said Halas.

Packers Appoint New End Coach

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Bob Schnelker, former New York Giant end, has been appointed end coach with the Green Bay Packers, the Packers announced today.

A nine-year National Football League veteran, Schnelker caught 213 passes for 3,713 yards during his career and was twice named to the Pro Bowl squad. His best season was 1959 when he caught 37 passes for 714 yards and six touchdowns.

The appointment of Schnelker fills the last coaching vacancy at Green Bay. The Packers have already announced the hiring of former Iowa Coach Jerry Burns to replace Norb Hecker, named head coach of the new Atlanta team.

OH, BOY!—Pretty Randi Lee Horn, 16, can't understand why school officials won't let her join her San Diego high school's boys' swimming team. Miss Horn is a three-time springboard diving champion in Junior Olympic competition. See story. (AP Wirephoto)

Girl Wants Position On Boys' Swim Squad

By ROBERT BURNETT

SAN DIEGO (AP) — "Why should the fact that I'm a girl make a difference?" asked 16-year-old Randi Lee Horn.

And San Diego school officials answered her by turning down her request to compete with the boys' swimming team.

Randi is not the first girl to try and crack the world of male athletic competition — some college co-eds already have broken the line — but she may have been the first to make the attempt at the high school level.

And she still might succeed. Although San Diego officials have so far kept her out of the pool, the matter of co-ed competition will be discussed by the California Interscholastic Federation at its next meeting.

A three-time winner at the Junior Olympics in springboard diving, Randi believes she is hampered by the lack of opportunity to compete and so stated in a letter to the San Diego Board of Education, asking for permission to join the boys' team.

"Couldn't it be left up to the coach's discretion to say who shall benefit the team, boy or girl?" asks Randi. "The team, the coach and I feel that I will be of value to the team. Why should the fact that I'm a girl make a difference?"

Besides, said Randi, she hadn't leaped without thought.

"It's been in the back of my mind for a long time," she said. "I talked to my parents and to my coach. They didn't offer any encouragement. But they didn't discourage me, either."

However, Don Clarkson did. The administrator for the city schools, Clarkson explained that the California Interscholastic Federation provides for competition only among boys and the rules of the San Diego section "expressly prohibit girls from competing on boys' teams."

Clarkson, meanwhile, said the organization has been studying the possibility of setting up a separate sports program for girls.

The olive branch, however, won't stop Randi in her battle.

"I'd settle for a separate girls' team," she said, "but by the time the schools got that started, I'd be a granny."

CLASS A PRO

Even Nicklaus Goes To School

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, golf's leading money winner two years in a row, is going to school to learn more about the game — also to become a full-fledged PGA member.

It's mainly the business end that concerns big Jack right now and he's cramming on it while laying off of the big tour where Arnold Palmer, his arch rival, is making a sensational start.

The man who amassed $152,246.88 last year just playing golf is attending the PGA's business school that runs five days in San Antonio.

It's an intensive instruction course on being an independent business man in operating a golf shop.

The former king of the amateurs was winning gobs of money on the tour for four years but he's still not a class A member of the PGA, something that would entitle him to play on the Ryder Cup team. A pro has to go through a five-year probationary period before getting the top classification.

The school here will count a full year and that will finish up his period of waiting.

Nicklaus checked in yesterday and when the students adjourned he sped out to San Antonio Country Club to spend his lunch hour on the practice tee.

"My schedule for the year is pretty well set and right now I am starting to get my game in shape for the Masters April 7-10," said Nicklaus.

He won't return to the tour until March 10 when he enters the Doral Open at Miami. First he will play a series of six exhibitions in South Africa with Gary Player. He figures this all will get him on his game to defend his Masters Championship.

The schedule worked out by Nicklaus calls for him to be on a fishing vacation of two to three weeks after the Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas. This means he will miss the Dallas Open, the Texas Open here and possibly the Houston Classic in late April and early May.

When it was suggested that he might want to review his playing schedule in the light of Palmer's great start toward the money winning crown with about $30,000 bagged since the first of the year, Nicklaus said "I want to be the top money-winner; certainly it means a lot to a player to be the top man in that, but I don't believe it is important enough to change all my plans."

Nicklaus and some 70 other professionals from 15 states, Mexico and Canada are learning more about the business than the playing side of golf with today's session including such topics as golf shop advertising, planning the future, turf management, running club tournaments, golf cart operations and golf club repair service.

Everything from accounting procedures to tax problems and from investments to first aid are on the Wednesday program.

Thursday' session deals with teaching fundamental golf.

Instructors at these sessions will include Byron Nelson, Earl Stewart Jr. and Harvey Penick. Harry Eckhoff, executive director of the National Golf Foundation, and Joseph C. Dey, executive director of the USGA, are leading speakers later in the week.

Another Baseball 'Raid' On College Stirs Row

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The anger of colleges at major league raids of collegiate baseball talent flared again yesterday after University of Missouri outfielder Dan Rudanovich signed with the Boston Red Sox.

Missouri Coach John C. (Hi) Simmons, who has lost five players with remaining eligibility in the last six years, called the signing "unfair and unethical."

"The commissioner of baseball should enact some legislation to prevent promiscuous signing of boys out of college," he said. "If we don't put a stop to mid-year drafting of college players, the colleges will lose the nucleus of their clubs each spring."

However, Simmons received a return blast from Red Sox scout Don Lenhardt, who signed Rudanovich, 21, of St. Louis, who was fourth in the nation last year with a .463 batting average in 22 games.

Lenhardt called Simmons "way off base."

"How could I sign him if he didn't want to sign?" Lenhardt asked. "He (Rudanovich) named a figure — and we gave it to him."

Rudanovich is believed to have signed for about $25,000.

"They're not any more interested in Dan's earning a degree than we are," Lenhardt added. "I don't see what they're shouting about — colleges recruit kids too, don't they?

"This happens all the time. And I can't see that it's unethical. As long as it's legal, I'm home free. I do what the club tells me to do. If Dan had waited until he'd graduated, though, he'd have lost his bargaining value."

According to baseball protocol, clubs can't sign collegians in their freshman or sophomore year, but anything goes in the third and fourth years.

Simmons said baseball should follow the policies of football and basketball, waiting until collegians finished their eligibility before an offer is made.

Brannum In Line For Celtic Post

BOSTON (AP) — Bob Brannum, the Boston Celtics' former "policeman" on the court, reportedly is in line to become coach of the National Basketball Assn. club.

Brannum, whose rugged play helped the Celtics en route to seven straight NBA titles, is listed as the No. 1 candidate when Red Auerbach steps down as coach to devote full time to front office duties.

St. Raphael's Quint Wins Sixth Straight

St. Raphael's Parish basketball team rolled to its sixth straight win Saturday when it downed St. Anselm's A team 67-56 on the winners' court.

High scorers in the Catholic Youth Organization game were St. Raphael's Ben Burch and Tom Gagen with 22 and 19 points respectively and St. Anselm's John Komo with 22.

Golf Tourney Set At G.G. Racetrack

Bay Area golfers are invited to play in the Golden Gate Fields Course championship tournament which will be held Saturday, Feb. 28 on the 1,675-yard nine hole infield course.

Entries for the one-day medal play tournament are being accepted at the course pro shop by golf club manager Steve Bogart and home professionals Warren Downing and Don Quintal.

Federal Savings Plans Expansion; Bank Executives Swap Locations

Spring expansion plans of San Rafael Federal Savings and Loan Assn., 874 Fourth Street, San Rafael will give this firm another 1,200-1,500 square feet of floor space along the arcade, absorbing the Mon Treche dress shop, which will relocate. This should be sometime in April.

Meanwhile San Rafael Federal has used up all its safety deposit boxes for customers and is already in the process of picking up some extra room here for another 3,000 boxes. Contractor Louis A. Yuvan should have them ready in a few days.

TWO ASSISTANT VICE PRESIDENTS of Crocker - Citizens National Bank have swapped locations: John G. Oldfin, at the San Rafael main office for the past two years, has been given the managership of the Kings Beach office at North Shore, Tahoe—replacing Charles F. Boothby, who has been brought to the San Rafael office as assistant manager.

Oldfin joined Crocker-Citizens

Oldfin

Boothby

in 1960 after seven years of commercial and investment banking in Canada. He served as assistant vice president and manager of offices in Sunnyvale and San Jose before coming to San Rafael.

Boothby joined the bank at Sacramento in 1947 and completed its administrative training program at San Francisco in 1960. He was assistant manager at two other offices before his assignment to Kings Beach.

RICHARD D. OSLUND of Greenbrae has been promoted to credit officer at Wells Fargo Bank's San Rafael office, replacing Laurance D. Cox, who has been made assistant manager at the new Geary-Spruce office in San Francisco. Oslund joined the bank as a management trainee less than a year ago.

DONALD SEDERBERG, Mill Valley sheet metal contractor, has been named president of the Associated Sheet Metal Contractors, Inc. for Marin, Sonoma, Lake, Napa and Solano Counties. Other officers for 1966 include Kenneth Malm of Santa Rosa, vice president, and Stanley Knoles of San Rafael, secretary-treasurer. Directors are Charles Allen, Vallejo; Paul Cloutier, Santa Rosa; Eddie Oliver, San Rafael and John Carnohan, Santa Rosa.

ROBERT D. COLBURN, executive manager of the Redwood Empire chapter of the National Electrical Contractors Assn. for the past 10 years, has been appointed to the council on industrial relations for the electrical contracting industry. Karl Stolting of Santa Rosa, governor of the local chapter for 10 years, has been appointed to the national research committee.

Koppers Buys Alkyd Plant In Richmond

The Richmond production plant of American Alkyd Indutries of California has been purchased by Koppers Co., Inc.

The American Alkyd plant, built in 1961, produces polyester, alkyd and amine resins, and has been headed by Paul J. Skvaril, a resident of Tiburon. Skvaril will remain as general manager of the 4.5-acre facility and no personnel changes are planned.

This will be Koppers' fifth West Coast plant. The company currently operates a tar processing plant at Fontana and is constructing another similar facility in Portland. Wood treating plants are located at Oroville and Wilmington.

Koppers is headquartered in Pittsburgh, Pa. and has a total of 85 plants across the country operating in six divisions: Tars and chemicals, metal products, engineering and construction, forest products, associated operations and international operations.

Airline Agrees To Expansion

ORLANDO, Fla.—National Airlines board of directors has approved a $161 million jet fleet expansion program.

Included are new orders for 25 Boeing 727-235, long body trijets, a Dougles DC-8-61 stretchout jet and three Boeing 727-100 series which the airline ordered last May.

Directors also declared a cash dividend of 15 cents per share on the common stock of the company payable April 8 to stockholders of record on March 18.

Stocks Recover From Peace Feeler Rumor

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed lower today but had greatly reduced its losses taken in a selling squall prompted by a report of a peace feeler from North Viet Nam.

Defense stocks and others were dumped in heavy selling. Prices improved in the final hour.

Losses of 5 or 6 points by many of the aerospace defense stocks were sliced to a point or so.

Here was the picture near the close:

Volume was estimated at 10.5 million shares compared with 7.95 million yesterday.

Brokers attributed the turnabout to a news report that President Ho Chi Minh of North Viet Nam had asked the Indian government to initiate peace moves in Viet Nam.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which had been ahead 2.40 at 992.09 at 1 p.m. fell 6.06 to 983.63 at 2 p.m.

Aircrafts and airlines, which had been leaders during the market's morning advance, were hard hit.

Douglas Aircraft and Boeing dropped 5 points and United Aircraft and General Dynamics fell 4.

Losses of 2 points were taken by Pan American World Airways and Eastern Air Lines. American Airlines and United Air Lines were off around a point.

The slump spread to the steels and the motors with U.S. Steel and Jones & Laughlin down a point or more and General Motors, Ford and Studebaker off about 2 points.

Corporate bonds were mostly unchanged and Treasuries were unchanged to slightly lower.

Hawaii Earnings Show Increase

HONOLULU — Consolidated revenues of the Hawaii Corp. for the nine months period ended Dec. 31 were $36,682,000, compared to $35,403,600 for the same period a year ago.

Consolidated net earnings were $1,243,180, or 66 cents per share, an earnings increase of $450,162 over the same period last year.

Arden-Mayfair Gains

LOS ANGELES — Arden-Mayfair, Inc., 1965 fourth quarter earnings rose 27.9 per cent over the same period in the prior year. Profits totaled $2,015,539 for the quarter compared with $1,576,101 for the same period in 1964. Sales for the quarter were up 8.3 per cent to $131,117,824 from $121,030,593 in the previous year.

ICC Due To Rule Any Day On Pennsy, Central Merger

By RICHARD F. NEWCOMB
AP Newsfeature Writer

Back in the bad old days, merging a coupie of railroads was as easy as falling off a trestle.

The tycoons did it every day, and often in the dark of the night, when the stockholders and public weren't looking. Sometimes it was done with black bags full of money, including enough to buy a whole state legislature.

Business isn't done that way anymore (if the regulating agencies can prevent it), but mergers still take place. In fact, one merger expected to get government approval any day will produce the largest private rail network in the world.

It is the merger of the Pennsylvania Railroad and the New York Central Railroad, nearly five years in the making. The process began Nov. 8, 1961, with joint announcement by the two roads of their intention to merge. Two months later directors of both systems approved the plan, and formal application to the Interstate Commerce Commission followed on Mar. 9, 1962. (The ICC got in the act in 1887 with passage of the Interstate Commerce Act, designed to curb the riotous railroad shennanigans of those days.)

Stockholders of both lines approved the merger in May, 1962. Pennsy holders by 98.7 per cent and Central shareholders by 99.3 per cent. Then followed 128 days of public ICC hearings, the longest hearing in a rail merger case. Anybody with something to contribute got a chance to be heard, in 102 days of hearings in Washington, and in 17 cities, from Boston to Chicago.

Altogether, 461 witnesses were heard, and their testimony came to 40,000 pages, enough to fill 40 volumes. This included the views of railroad users, labor unions, the public, and municipal, state and federal governments. The railroads managements testified separately with unions representing 98 per cent of their organized labor that no workers on either road would lose his employment because of the merger.

Last March the two ICC examiners who had heard the case recommended approval of the merger, with a few extra recommendations. The most important of these was that the new company also take over the freight service of the New Haven Railroad, some 1,652 miles of line between Boston and New York. (The New Haven's passenger service, mostly commuter service to New York, would presumably be preserved by some state agencies.)

Now, formal approval by the full 11-member ICC is expected, and awaited. The result will be a new company, the Pennsylvania New York Central Transportation Company, or Penn-Central for short. It will be a 19,600-mile system, covering 14 states from Boston to St. Louis-Chicago, from Montreal to Washington-Norfolk, and from Louisville to Mackinaw City. It's a $5 billion deal, putting together a road with nearly 5,000 locomotives.
